Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, March 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] My original Democratic white hope came through great in a speech up in Berkeley, where a university conferred on him the degrees "Doctor of Dividends" and "Purveyor Extraordinary to Financial Conferences Where Hopes Are High But Funds Are Low." He said "economics had no business in politics." Now some might think that was bad foresight to knock politicians, but it was on my advice that he did it. Everybody knew Mr. Hoover was not a politician, and that fact alone gave him a majority of 9,000,000. Now if my man can even go further and show that he knows politicians, but has no use for their methods, why he can win by 29,000,000. The old Democrats are perking up every day.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

CANADA RUM CURB WINS

Commons Passes Export Bill

Senate Now Must Act on Measure to Prevent Liquor Running

Ministry of Premier King Challenged to Resign in Hot Debate

OTTAWA, March 25. (AP)—Premier King's bill to amend the Export Act was passed on the third reading by the House of Commons today by a vote of 173 to 11. The bill, which grants the government authority to refuse clearance to liquor shipments destined for the United States, now goes to the Senate.

Reading of the bill followed spirited debate. Representatives of several parties united to furnish the 11 votes which opposed the measure. Eight Conservatives were joined by a single Liberal, Maj. C. G. Power, member for Quebec, south; Henry Bourassa, Independent member of Labelle, and A. A. Heaps, Labor member for Winnipeg, north.

CHALLENGED TO RESIGN

During the debate, R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, challenged the government to resign, declaring that "self-respecting ministers would resign in a case of this nature."

This demand followed a charge that the government had changed front since, in the last session, W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, had declared that such a measure was impossible of realization. Mr. Bennett quoted Mr. Euler as having said that the United States should enforce its own law.

In response to a question by Mr. Bennett, Premier King said that the phraseology of the bill, in reference to the word "destined" for the United States, had been reconsidered and was found adequate.

During the course of yesterday's debate, Mr. King announced that Canada is negotiating with the United States for a treaty to suppress smuggling. The object of the treaty, he said, is not only to stop liquor traffic but to prevent smuggling of all kinds of merchandise both ways across the border.

DRYS WILL RESUME TESTIMONY TODAY

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—A picture of the operation of the government liquor store system in Canada is expected tomorrow from E. C. Drury of the Province of Ontario, who is to take the stand at the resumption of the House Judiciary Committee's hearings on measures to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

He will appear as a witness for the prohibition forces, which are nearing the end of their presentation in opposition to the several wet bills before the committee.

Prohibition engaged House attention late today in a speech by Representative O'Connell, Republican, New York. He said "Volsteadism becomes the nation's most colossal burden and blunder."

The New Yorker said alcoholic deaths, crime conditions, penitentiary and court congestion, were evidence "of the impossibility of enforcing an unpopular and un-American law."

Talkies Prove to Be Surprise to Admiral Byrd

DUNEDIN, March 25. (AP)—Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, just back from the Antarctic, is enjoying himself in New Zealand, he said today, and is in no hurry to leave.

The explorer has a number of loose ends to clear up here before taking steamer passage to Panama, where he will rejoin the City of New York, which already has left here for America.

Since he has been here Rear-Admiral Byrd has seen two talking pictures. He said he is surprised at the strides made in the cinema since he left civilization more than a year ago.

Byrd Memorial Coin Proposed

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—Coinage of an issue of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his Antarctic expedition will be proposed shortly in a bill by Representative Cable, Republican, Ohio.

The original plan for the bill, the Ohioan's office said today, contemplated the sale of the coins to pay off any possible deficit the expedition might face. A radiogram has been received from the admiral expressing the "deep appreciation" of himself and his companions for the proposed honor but explaining there will be no deficit.

GEORGE M. SUNDAY NABBED

Evangelist's Son Picked Up on Chicago Street Drunk and Bedecked With Unique Garb

CHICAGO, March 25. (Exclusive)—Patrolman Albert Skulka had no idea how far wrong he was when he fancied he was arresting a typical Madison-street bum as he seized a man who wavered unsteadily down Wells street today in the condition known in the vernacular as "three sheets in the wind." The prisoner said the name was Smith. Papers and cards in his pockets identified him as George M. Sunday of Los Angeles, son of Billy Sunday, the evangelist.

"Drunk and disorderly" was the charge cited by Skulka. A soft hat of uncertain age, but probably of irreproachable origin, was jammed far down over the ears of the prisoner. Despite the chilling blasts he wore no overcoat and some sportive instinct had led him to don his suit coat, contrary to custom, with the silk lining outside. His feet were patent leather shod.

The prisoner informed police he had been residing at 1028 North Mango avenue. Three telegrams from Seattle, one signed "Elsie" and two "Florence," were directed to him at that address under the name of Irving Ellipsen. They told of a dreary Christmas and the expectancy of a happier new year, and referred to mutual friends.

Sunday was accused of adultery by his wife in 1929 and a few days later was charged with larceny of an automobile he had rented in Oakland.

EXTRADITION FOR SUNDAY TO BE ASKED

Immediate efforts to extradite George M. Sunday, son of the noted evangelist, from Chicago, will be made, according to Capt. Fox of the Sheriff's fugitive squad, who last night declared that a warrant charging Sunday with adultery is still in effect.

The felony warrant charging adultery was sworn to by Mrs. Harriett Sunday November 21, of last year. The complaint also named Mauryne La Salle, Hollywood Mannikin, who it said to have accompanied Sunday on his flight from Los Angeles.

Investigation of Sunday's relations with Miss La Salle was started by the office of the District Attorney following the filing of a divorce complaint by Mrs. Sunday against her husband, last November. Shortly afterward, Sunday was arrested in Santa Cruz on the complaint of an Oakland auto-rental firm who charged that he had failed to return a rented car. He was released after an attorney there

DELEGATES GO TO PARTY BY ROYALTY

Americans and Wives Among 200 Guests of King and Queen at Palace

LONDON, March 25. (AP)—American delegates to the naval conference and their wives, with the leaders of other delegations, were among the 200 guests who attended the royal afternoon party at Buckingham Palace today.

The party was the first of its type given by the King and Queen since 1928, King George in morning clothes and Queen Mary wearing an afternoon gown stood at the entrance to the picture gallery, shaking hands with the guests as they reached the top of the crimson carpeted grand staircase after their names had been announced by the Lord Chamberlain.

This was the only ceremonial and the party afterward took on an informal nature, the King and Queen strolling among the guests and chatting.

Pathfinders in Mexico Get President's Letter; Party Reaches Guaymas

GUAYMAS (Mex.) March 25. (Exclusive)—This pathfinding trip of the Automobile Club is becoming a charming international incident with a significance far beyond roads. At the banquet in Hermosillo, Phil Townsend Hanna read the following letter from President Hoover:

"My dear Mr. Hanna:

"I learn with pleasure that you are about to start on an automobile tour through Mexico in furtherance of the movement for a Pan-American highway. This movement holds large promise of providing a practical bond of an enlarged friendly relationship with our southern neighbors through facilitating communications with them, and I, therefore, especially wish you success in your journey.

"Yours faithfully,
[Signed]
"HERBERT HOOVER."

When we left Hermosillo this morning Gov. Elias gave us a return message from President Ortiz Rubio stating that every recourse of the Mexican government will be called upon to make our stay happy and successful. Our cars were escorted to Guaymas by Sonora's Secretary of State, the Governor's secretary, and a Senator of Sonora.

Ten miles out of Guaymas we were met by a flotilla of cars headed by Mayor Samaniego.

In the morning we go out through the heart of the Yaqui Indian country.

ATTACKS IN PARIS PRESS HURT REDS

Soviet Envoy Protests Storm Over Kidnaping of White Russian General

[Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, March 25. (Exclusive)—Acting on the orders of Vice-Commissar of Foreign Affairs Litvinoff, Valerian Dovgalevsky, Russian Ambassador to Paris, called on Aristide Briand tonight to protest the savage attacks in the French press against the soviet government, which last night's revelation concerning the disappearance of Gen. Alexander Koutiepoff, White Russian leader, brought forth.

Although a rupture in relations between the Moscow and Paris governments has become a threatening possibility as a result of the police announcement that the respected chief of the White Russian exiles was actually captured in Paris and placed aboard a ship on the coast of Normandy, Ambassador Dovgalevsky went ahead and registered what is understood to have been a vigorous objection to the charges of his government's complicity in this affair.

What Foreign Minister Briand told him, nobody knows, but it is recalled that shortly after Gen. Koutiepoff's disappearance, when everybody believed that the general was kidnaped by the Cheka but there was no evidence to prove that he was kidnaped at all, Premier Tardieu declared that if the Russian government didn't like the tone of the French press it could always sue the offending papers in the French courts.

Ravenous Tuna Bite Each Other to Get at Hook

SAN DIEGO, March 25. (AP)—A fish story of ravenous tuna which bit at tin cans, bare hooks and bits of cloth to such an extent that the fishermen at last threw over their bait of 150,000 sardines as superfluous, came to port today with the San Diego clipper Navigator, in from Cocos Island, 2400 miles south of San Diego and the farthest point ever reached by a local fishing boat. The story was backed not by mere affidavits, but by 130 tons of giant yellowfin tuna in the refrigerating space of the clipper.

Capt. M. K. Freitas of the Navigator said that the fishing ground was apparently new to fishing boats. Fish were caught faster than they could be put in refrigeration and men collapsed from the heat if they worked more than three hours at a stretch, he said.

Coast Woman Robbed in France

PARIS, March 25. (Exclusive)—Miss Myrna N. Hanson of San Francisco was the victim of a daring robbery on a hill above Nice this afternoon. She was walking with Miss Lenoir Dula, Los Angeles, in the vicinity of an old chateau which overlooks the port when a well-dressed young man, who had been following them for some distance, suddenly seized Miss Hanson's hand bag and ran.

A dozen or more passersby gave chase, but without result. Miss Hanson is reported to have lost her passport and a considerable sum of francs, a check for $700 and valuable papers.

BLIZZARD DRIVEN BY GALE BLANKETS MIDDLE WEST

Five Die in Chicago as Record March Storm Blocks Traffic and Does Heavy Damage

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, March 25. (Exclusive)—Driven by winds that varied from thirty-five to fifty miles an hour, a furious blizzard enveloped the Middle West today bringing death, paralysis of traffic and heavy financial loss. At midnight tonight the sustained fury of the storm had piled up twelve inches of snow, breaking the previous all-time record for a twenty-four-hour snowfall in March.

The blinding snow began shortly after midnight. A freakish low-pressure area over Indiana accounted for the protracted violence of the wind and heavy snow, according to the Weather Bureau. The forecaster, C. A. Donnel predicted tonight that unless the low pressure was relieved by morning the storm would rage all day tomorrow.

CHICAGO STORM CENTER

While the blizzard extended from Iowa to Michigan and from Minnesota to the southern portions of Illinois and Indiana, it centered over the Chicago area, where the high winds swept the snow into huge drifts along the streets and highways, almost completely tying up traffic.

When the toll was taken of the storm damage tonight as the blizzard still raged, the Chicago area found itself confronted with this situation:

Five deaths attributed to the blinding snow and icy walks and streets.

Six persons injured and 200 shaken up in an elevated train collision at the Fullerton-avenue station during the morning rush hour due to poor visibility.

At least a dozen injured autoists in hospitals and hundreds of machines stranded in snowdrifts in many sections of the city, suburbs and adjacent country.

Surface and bus transportation practically was at a standstill, with scores of snow plows feverishly trying to keep pace with the ever increasing snow, in an attempt to open the street-car lines or dig out street cars that were stalled in the snow.

Homeless men filling police stations, especially in the poorer sections of the city, and hundreds clamoring for shelter.

TRAFFIC PARALYZED

The terrific wind, which blew in gusts, whipped an unidentified man about 55 years of age from the curb in front of the Drake Hotel, under the wheels of a crowded motor coach. He was crushed to death.

Edgar Tomkins, 42, was found dead on the sidewalk in front of 4327 Forrestville avenue with his neck broken. According to police Tomkins evidently had slipped on the ice-coated sidewalk and fell, breaking his neck. Joseph Thompson, 52, fell dead of heart disease superinduced by his struggle against the storm.

Martin Beirne, 40, was struck by an automobile while crossing a street in the storm. John Murbach slipped on an icy pavement and fell beneath the wheels of a truck.

Daybreak found the drifts heaped up to such an extent that interstate trains crept cautiously through congested yards to begin their runs while street cars and busses lumbered with difficulty through the streets carrying the thousands of Loop workers to their jobs.

By noon the motor and street-car traffic was at a standstill in outlying districts while the Rapid Transit reported trouble on suburban divisions where the tracks run on the surface. How to get home became an acute problem for an estimated 20,000 downtown employees.

Busses, lacking chains to get traction on the hard snow, skidded and stalled on Michigan avenue, choking the movement of taxis and private cars. Suburban trains on the Illinois Central were running at half-speed while on the steam lines the roads were so congested by drifts and frozen switches that scheduled movement of trains was impossible.

LAKE LEVEL RISES

Anticipating a tremendous overload of traffic at evening, officials of the Rapid Transit requested downtown firms to dismiss blocks of their employees early in the afternoon.

As is usual with a strong northeast wind the lake level rose and

HARBOR AID INDICATED

Army Engineers Favor Plans

Los Angeles and Long Beach Ask Total of $2,725,000 from Federal Funds

Quick Action Advocated So Projects Can be Started After July 1, Next

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 25. (Exclusive)—Early action favorable to the major projects in the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor-improvement program was indicated today by the army rivers and harbors engineers following a hearing at which the plan was set before them.

Immediate action by the army board would allow the appropriations it approves in the $3,000,000 harbor program to be incorporated in the pending rivers and harbors bill, making the money available at the beginning of the next fiscal year July 1, next, and obviating at least a year's delay.

OFFICIALS HEARD

G. F. Nicholson, harbor engineer for Los Angeles, told the board that the city is asking Federal financial aid in dredging operations involving the removal of 6,000,000 cubic yards of shoals at a cost of more than $1,725,000.

Long Beach Harbor needs deeper channels, R. G. McGlone, chief engineer of that city said, entailing the removal of close to 6,000,000 cubic yards at a cost of nearly $1,000,000.

Following the engineers, who explained their proposals in detail, Ivan Goodner, Washington representative of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and James H. McLafferty, representing Pacific Coast ship owners, asked the board to consider the proposed program in the light of the future growth of Southern California.

Representative Evans of Glendale introduced the witnesses and closed the case of the Californians.

PROPOSALS LISTED

Mr. Nicholson set the following proposals before the board:

(1.) Dredge the east basin channel to thirty-five feet, removing shoals on the southerly side, with a total removable cubic yardage of 783,000 at cost of $162,800. This project has been approved by the regional and district War Department engineers.

(2.) Deepening Fish Harbor channel to twenty-five feet to accommodate the new type large fishing boats, by removing 444,000 cubic yards at a cost of $88,000.

This proposal also has received the approval of the Army district and State engineers.

(3.) Removing 1,600,000 cubic yards of shoal obstructing the fairway in the outer harbor, by cutting a thirty-five-foot channel through it at a cost of $533,600.

Although this project is one of the most important improvements proposed for the harbor since it would open up the main channel, it was not approved by United States Pacific Coast Division Engineer

STOCK MARKET HAS FLURRY

Most Impressive Bull Movement of Year Develops, But Bears Turn Tide Before Close

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—The most impressive bull movement of the year developed on the New York Stock Exchange in the early hours of trading today, only to be lost in a wave of selling in the late afternoon. The ticker fell nearly an hour in arrears around mid-day as trading progressed at a pace that promised the market its first 5,000,000 share day for 1930, but under cover of the late ticker, professional bears were able to turn the tide and traders rushed to take their profits before the close. The pace of trading slackened considerably during the afternoon and sales totaled 4,526,050 shares.

Final price changes disclosed that net gains and losses were fairly evenly balanced. There were several strong spots, even during the late trading. Standard of New Jersey, Air Reduction, A. M. Byers, Bethlehem Steel, Colorado Fuel, Utilities Power and Light and People's Gas were among issues closing $2 to $8 a share higher, having reached new record prices for the year.

An outstanding weak spot was Western Union, which dropped $12 to a new low for the year at $177. This, however, was $22 above the bottom touched in November. Publication of the annual report, which indicated that earnings will recede somewhat this year, caused heavy selling of the shares.

United States Steel, after moving up about $1 to a new 1930 peak at $193.25, dropped to $190. Shares losing $2 to $3 included Pacific Lighting, Pacific Gas, Standard Gas, Auburn Auto, J. I. Case and Goodyear. Vanadium Steel sold up $5 then fell back $10 from the top.

The early advance was generally attributed to the passage of the tariff bill by the Senate, and more cheerful reports from the steel trade, indicating that the recent decline in production had been checked. Call money was a little easier, sagging to 3½ per cent after renewal at 4 but this was balanced as a market influence by increases of 1-4 to 3-8 of 1 per cent in bankers' acceptance rates.

SPEED CROWN TO NEW LINER

Europa Beats Bremen Trip by Eighteen Minutes

Crack German Craft Wrests Laurels From Sister

Mark Made Under Handicap of Head Winds All Way

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—A new speed queen of the seas was enthroned today when the North German Lloyd liner Europa on her maiden voyage wrested the crown from her sister ship the Bremen.

The 51,000-ton racing greyhound passed Ambrose lightship, the crossing tape, at 5:54 a.m. today, making the 3100-mile crossing from Cherbourg, France, in four days, seventeen hours and six minutes, averaging 27.9 knots per hour.

She bettered by eighteen minutes the record established last October by the Bremen, which on that occasion bettered by eighteen minutes the time of her maiden voyage last July when she dethroned the long-reigning Cunard liner Mauretania.

HANDICAPPED, TOO

The voyage of the Europa was made under more difficult weather conditions than those faced by the Bremen on her record-breaking run. Throughout the voyage she buffeted strong head winds and heavy seas.

The Europa closely resembles the Bremen in construction and appearance, the two ships being built under the same broad specifications for size and speed. However, they are the products of different designers and different shipbuilders.

Both are built low to eliminate wind resistance, but the Europa, the construction of which was delayed by two fires, contains a number of changes over the Bremen designed to make her speedier and more comfortable.

SHIP'S POWER PLANT

The generation of steam is by oil-fired water-tube boilers. The electric power is created by four large Diesel-driven dynamos supplying current to 420 electric motors and an equal number of auxiliary machines. On the sun deck are two large Diesel-driven dynamos to supplement the electric-driven machinery should the main station cease to function.

To reduce the vibration caused by her great engines two of her four propellers revolve inward, while all four on the Bremen revolve outward. The speed of the Europa's turbines also is greater than those of the Bremen.

Another change is a device on the two squat funnels designed to force the smoke upward, thus eliminating the danger of it being blown upon the decks to the inconvenience of the passengers.

To the layman, however, the chief difference between the two liners will be observed in their interior decoration. The extreme modernistic note of the Bremen has not been followed in the Europa. The main decoration scheme of the Europa is representative of the mythological princess of Asia after which the continent of Europe and the Europa were named. In some places the figure of Europa and the bull are treated pictorially and in others the figures are in sculpture.

The ship has an over-all of 936 feet and a breadth of 101 feet. She has accommodations for 2200 passengers and a crew of 975 men. On her maiden voyage, however, she carried only 1940 passengers. Her lifeboats are all motorized and equipped with radio apparatus.

SWIMMING POOL

Among the features is the swimming pool, twenty by thirty-five feet, which is strikingly decorated with bright-colored mosaics along the walls of the room. Other features are the restaurants, a separate library for each class and a shooting gallery that presents the effect of a forest with moving game.

An unusual feature is that the name of the ship can be shown in electric lights on both sides over the sun deck. The letters are of glass, six feet high.

Cabin boy at 16 years of age, the captain of the Helgoland, one of Germany's big prewar liners at 44, and now at 61 captain of the mistress of the seas and commodore of the North German Lloyd fleet—that, in brief, is the naval history of Commodore Nicholas Johnsen, commander of the Europa, fastest liner afloat.

CAPTAIN'S RISE RAPID

Born at Gross-Steinrade near Lubeck in 1869, Commodore Johnsen went to sea at 16, progressing steadily through the unranked grades of seamen until in 1895 he secured mate's papers and joined the North German Lloyd staff. His progress there was rapid. Even before attaining a captain's rank he was entrusted with the temporary command of the prewar crack liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie. In 1913 he was given his own ship, the Helgoland.

During the war Commodore Johnsen was called to the colors. He served in various capacities in the German navy ashore and afloat.

In 1923, with Germany's merchant fleet partly rebuilt, he took command of the Columbus, then the biggest passenger ship of the North German Lloyd.

He held that command until plans for the Europa were completed, when he was put in charge of her building. He followed her through from keel-laying. Now he has brought her across the Atlantic on the fastest run ever made by a ship.

Dixie Gun Duel Fatal for One

CLARKSDALE (Miss.) March 25. (AP)—J. L. Doggett, 57 years of age, was shot to death and L. B. Carter, 50, a bystander, wounded in a gun duel, late today in the downtown section, between Doggett and E. S. Chapman, deputy prohibition administrator for Northern Mississippi.

Chapman was arrested on a charge of murder.

"Bad feeling," had existed between Chapman and Doggett for several months, police said. When they met on the street today angry words were heard, then a fight ensued.

Under the measure, California will receive $4,168,617 a year for the three fiscal years starting July 1, next—this Federal money to be matched by State appropriations.

UNIONS REPORT EMPLOYMENT GAIN

WASHINGTON, March 25. (Exclusive)—Reports made to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and made public by him today, showed that unemployment decreased slightly in the first two weeks of March for the first time since August, 1929.

Reports from trade unions in twenty-four cities for the first half of the month indicated that 21 per cent of their membership was unemployed as compared with 22 per cent in February. Based on these statistics Mr. Green declared definitely that "the rise in unemployment has been checked."

EFFORTS TO RESTRICT RUBBER OUTPUT FAIL

BATAVIA (Java) March 25. (AP)—A conference of all governors and residents of the outer possessions today agreed that no results can be expected from efforts to induce native rubber producers and traders to make voluntary restrictions of production and export. It was pointed out also that export of rubber during the past five months already has largely decreased due to low prices.

APPEALS MADE FOR HARBOR AID

OTHER PROJECTS

(4.) Removal of all obstacles to shipping in the West Basin, where the city is planning a new terminal system, by dredging the basin to thirty-five feet, removing 2,868,000 cubic yards of earth. This proposition was passed by Lanagan, and vetoed by Robins, who did not state the reasons for his action. The cost of this work is estimated at $533,600.

(5.) Deepening Cerritos Channel which gives an inland water link between Los Angeles and Long Beach Harbor, to thirty-five feet, removing 650,000 cubic yards at the Los Angeles end, at a cost of $130,000. This work would be carried on with the co-operation of Long Beach, which would dredge its end to thirty-five feet also, removing 1,600,000 cubic yards at a cost of $240,000, under the plan approved by district and regional engineers which calls for a 400-foot channel.

WIDER CHANNEL ASKED

However, Long Beach has asked for a channel 600 feet wide. This would require the removal of 2,900,040 cubic yards at a cost of $449,356. This request was not looked on with favor by the Army engineers in the State and apparently did not impress the board today.

The last proposal of Los Angeles which Mr. Nicholson asked be held in abeyance as the least necessary of all the proposals, was deepening the upper northeast channel at a probable cost of $140,600.

Including the last item money required to finish up harbor work for the Los Angeles projects runs to $1,855,000.

Long Beach, through Mr. McGlone, asked for deeper channels, averaging forty feet, with the exception of Cerritos Channel for its ocean fairway channel, Channels 2 and 3 in the inner harbor and an outer harbor channel and turning basin.

Mr. McGlone explained that the southwest ground swell, sometimes averaging three to four feet, sweeps through the entrance and outer harbor channel and necessitates a deeper channel than those in Los Angeles Harbor which are protected by the breakwater.

The Long Beach entrance channel, proposed as forty feet deep and 500 feet wide, was approved by the district engineer, but not by Engineer Robins, who advocated a thirty-five-foot channel.

The forty-foot dredging in the outer harbor channel and inner harbor Channels No. 2 and No. 3 have not been approved by either District Engineer Lanagan or Regional Director Robins.

The total expenditure asked for in the Long Beach program is $983,612 for the removal of 5,909,065 cubic yards of material. The last figure is based on the forty-foot channel proposal.

GROWTH POINTED OUT

Asking that the board consider the phenomenal growth of Southern California and view the harbor plans with the future in mind as well as the present, Mr. Goodner of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, told the board members that Los Angeles exceeded all American ports, including New York, by 500,000 tons in the volume of intercoastal trade during the past year. While it was far behind New York in foreign trade he said that the enormous increase in the sardine pack in Los Angeles, mainly due to consumption of the fish in oriental markets, is indicative of huge near western markets yet untapped which will vastly increase foreign trade from the port of Los Angeles.

The oriental and South American markets will increase the west coast shipping materially in the next few years, Mr. Goodner continued. Within the next five years oil shipments will increase over their present static rate, he predicted.

For these and other reasons Mr. Goodner asked the board to consider the future needs of a greater Southern California port.

SPEED URGED

Mr. McLafferty, former Representative from Alameda district, stated that a greater Los Angeles Harbor is of vital interest to the Pacific Coast ship owners as within the next ten years this country will have a "real, modern, great merchant marine" and will need ports capable of handling increased cargoes.

Representative Evans said that to the lay mind the proposals submitted to the board appear to be the "cleaning up of the odds and ends" of the harbor development. He emphasized the need of this cleaning-up process and urged the board to file an early report, so that money for the work may be included in the rivers and harbors bill soon to be introduced in the House.

LOST BRIDE DISCOVERED IN SPOKANE

El Monte Man's Spouse, Missing in Oregon, Found With Men in Apartment

SPOKANE, March 25. (AP)—Mrs. Neva Paull Carlyle, 23 years of age, assistant secretary of the El Monte (Cal.) Chamber of Commerce, and two men with whom she disappeared at Hood River, Or., on the 19th inst., were found by police in an apartment here today. The two men are Louis Bowman and Harold Nelson of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Carlyle, daughter of George N. Paull, El Monte insurance man, said she left her husband at Hood River while the latter was cashing a check and that she and the two men drove to Spokane. They had been living in an apartment-house here.

Bowman in the meantime had married and Nelson, the manager of the apartment-house said, posed as Mrs. Carlyle's husband when the apartment was rented. Both men were held on an open charge, but Mrs. Carlyle was not held, nor was Mrs. Bowman, who lived with them.

Bowman, Mrs. Carlyle said, had posed as Louis Paull, her brother. Mrs. Carlyle's father, in whose automobile they came to Spokane, learned of his daughter's whereabouts and came here today.

Mrs. Carlyle said she was married on an elopement to Yuma, Ariz., two weeks ago, after her father had objected to Carlyle's attentions. Bowman, she said, was a mutual friend. He financed the elopement and accepted an invitation to go on the honeymoon. At San Francisco they met Nelson, a friend of both Bowman and Carlyle, and the four started north.

At Portland, Mrs. Carlyle said, she learned that her husband had not obtained a divorce from another wife, and that there was a daughter by this marriage. At Hood River, she added, she, Nelson and Bowman decided to "ditch" Carlyle, and ran away while he was cashing a check.

MIDWEST HIT BY BLIZZARD

tonight was over two feet above normal, with the waves crashing the shore line and inflicting serious damage. Air traffic was at a standstill tonight. No planes have left the municipal airport in thirty-six hours, the wind there having attained a sustained dangerous velocity.

While the blizzard was at its peak early today an eighteen-apartment building in Gary was razed by fire which sent one man to his death and another to the hospital as a hero and drove out 100 men and women, clad in their nightclothes. A third man was reported missing.

A landmark in Desplaines, at Pearson and Ellenwood streets, also was destroyed by fire. It was one of the oldest buildings in the town and the loss was fixed at $50,000. E. I. Tibbets and his wife escaped from the second floor uninjured.

SPRING ENTERS DENVER BEARING SNOW

DENVER, March 25. (AP)—Five days of spring have given Denver nearly twice as much snow as was deposited during February.

Figures of the Weather Bureau showed today that the precipitation during the last five days amounted to .3 of an inch, while during all February the total was .16 of an inch.

Today Dame Spring displayed her eccentricities in intermittent snow flurries, which at first merely wetted the pavement. By tonight, however, there was a light blanket of wet snow on the ground.

The spring disturbance was general over the southern half of the Rocky Mountain section, where temperature remained moderate.

The storm became more severe in some parts of Montana tonight. At Bozeman snow flurries developed into a downfall that left two inches of snow on the ground. Temperatures were below freezing.

Plenary Session Scheduled for Next Week

Briand Tells Senate That Pact Seems Possible

delegates as one of hope instead of despair, this indicating an entire change of the conference picture since this morning.

There is no talk of adjournment, and the reports of a six-month interval, which today became tangled in a skein of confirmations and denials, the proposal for adjournment being credited both to the Italians and British, gave way to more constructive news of plans for proceeding with the conference full speed.

Today's decision resulted from realization that the scattered forces of the conference needed pulling together. Instead of leaving negotiations in the hands of individual experts and to a variety of small committees as has been done for a month, the heads of the delegations felt they must swing into action again on fundamental disarmament problems.

HEADED FOR GOAL

It was authoritatively stated that today's events were largely inspired by Secretary Stimson's frank talk with Prime Minister MacDonald at No. 10 Downing street this morning, the British and American chiefs agreeing that the conference must be lifted out of an atmosphere of apathy and again be headed toward its goal.

It also was stated that Mr. Stimson never has given up his enthusiasm for a five-power treaty, even during the gloomiest hours through which the conference has passed.

Mr. Stimson said tonight that "the whole spirit of today's meeting was on the basis that a five-power agreement will be evolved in London. The tone of the session was hopeful throughout."

CO-OPERATION PLEDGED

Mr. MacDonald strongly stressed the intention to arrive at a five-power treaty "if humanly and politically possible" and he urged the redoubled efforts of the delegations. Spokesman of each country pledged full co-operation.

The subcommittee of experts which has been considering methods for scrapping or disposing of warships presented its report today, indicating five ways for disposal: by scrapping, by conversion into hulks, into target vessels, into experimental ships or into training ships.

AMERICA STILL HOPES FOR ACCOMPLISHMENTS

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—The American government still hopes for real accomplishments at the London naval conference.

In contrast to the pessimism of most observers, officials here see a possibility, at least, that favorable results will come out of private conversations now in progress at the British capital.

There is no expectation that this result will be accomplished by a relinquishment of the well-understood American opposition to any security pact which would pledge American military or naval force to maintain the peace of Europe.

REFUSAL STANDS

The American refusal to participate in such a treaty has been stated repeatedly in London, and it stands.

Except in this one particular, however, the administration is not willing to disclose what direction it expects the London negotiations to take. Both the White House and the State Department maintained today an absolute refusal to comment publicly on developments at the conference.

Some of those who have not agreed with President Hoover were not silent. Chairman Britten of the House Naval Committee, said in a public statement that it is time for the American delegates to pack up and come home. They already have leaned backward, he declared, "in an attempt to preserve the conference.

SHOULD ADJOURN

"The conference should not recess," said Britten. "It should adjourn so that the United States may proceed with the naval construction program that is necessary to protect American commerce throughout the world."

There were evidences during the day that Mr. Hoover was busy with the troubles of the conference. He talked with Acting Secretary Cotton of the State Department. He also received a visit from Frank B. Kellogg, the former Secretary, who expressed the opinion afterward that "something in the nature of a naval limitation pact will be forthcoming from London."

BRIAND SAYS WAY OPEN FOR AGREEMENT

PARIS, March 25. (AP)—Foreign Minister Briand told the Senate today that the way is still open for a naval reduction agreement.

"I have not been able so far to obtain what I wish for France," he said during discussion of the foreign affairs budget, "but the conversations have not closed. I have not given up hope of seeing the problem again taken up with the possibility of a solution."

The Foreign Minister touched briefly on the Franco-Italian dispute over parity.

"At the moment I am preparing to return to the conference," he said, "we would like to be able to give satisfaction to a neighborly and friendly country. We would not mark any difference between us. But it is necessary to be on guard against certain words which do not correspond to reality.

"One must not create a theory of equality which in reality translates itself into a dangerous inequality. Such is our attitude and we will persevere in it."

Reverting to his idea of a pact of mutual security that would permit France to make real reduction in armaments, M. Briand said:

"The pact of Paris is one means for halting war but it is insufficient to denounce crime; it is necessary to prevent it."

He declared that France is ready immediately "to establish a general security from which all will profit."

SHIFT IN NAVAL STAND DENIED

Americans Kill Rumor of Security-Pact Deal

Delegates Issue Statement Reiterating Stand

So-called Consultative Pact Opposed

LONDON, March 26 (Wednesday) (AP)—The American delegation to the five-power naval conference shortly after midnight issued a statement reiterating its former position of opposition to a so-called consultative pact, by which America, as the price of big reductions in the French naval program, would agree to consult with other nations in the event of threat of war.

The statement, however, closed with the assertion that where only consultation is involved, and no military guarantees obligated, the American delegation will consider a proposed arrangement with an entirely open mind.

In conference circles the statement is considered in the light of explaining just how far the Washington government will be willing to go in meeting the demands of France for guarantees of security in exchange for reduction of her navy. The general construction placed upon it is that the Americans have laid themselves open to enter into a pact to confer with other nations should war ever threaten, so long as there is no guarantee of military assistance implied.

PRESS HAILS STATEMENT

Some of the London morning press hailed the statement as indicating a change in the course of the naval conference, and accepted as significant announcement of Aristide Briand's return to London after he had stated expressly that he would not go back to the parley until there was something definite there to be offered him. The Daily Herald, Laborite organ, said the delegation has been in consultation with President Hoover, who decided to reconsider his decision that in no case would the United States be a party to any "security" treaty.

The American delegation's statement follows:

"A rumor was current last evening to the effect that the American delegation had made a change in their attitude toward consultative pacts, and were willing to enter into such a pact for the purpose of saving the conference. Authentically denied at the headquarters of the American delegation that any change has taken place in the attitude of the delegation and its attitude remains as its spokesmen gave it out several weeks ago.

STAND REITERATED

"At that time it was made clear that America had no objection to entering a consultative pact as such. On the contrary the United States already is a party to a number of treaties involving the obligation of consulting with other powers.

"It will not, however, enter any treaty, whether consultative or otherwise, where there is danger of its obligation being misunderstood as involving a promise to render military assistance, or to guarantee protection by military force, to another nation."

SOME OTHER WAY

"Such misunderstanding," the statement continued, "might arise if the United States entered into such a treaty as a quid-pro-quo for the reduction of naval forces of another power.

"That danger has hitherto inhered in the present situation, where France has been demanding mutual military security as a condition of naval reduction, as appears from the original statement of her case last December.

"If, however, this demand for security could be satisfied in some other way, then the danger of misunderstanding consultative pact would be eliminated, and the question would be approached from an entirely different standpoint.

"In such a case, the American delegation would consider the matter with an entirely open mind."

Fee Urged for Faulty Mailing

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—The sender of insufficiently addressed mail should be charged a fee of 5 cents, in addition to regular postage, for directory service by the Postoffice Department under a measure introduced today by Representative Kelley, Republican of Pennsylvania, a member of the Postoffice Committee.

The measure provided, however, that delivery of the mail should not be delayed pending collection of the charge.

Imperial District Calls on Californians in Congress

Conference With Mexico on Stored Waters Asked

EL CENTRO, March 25. (AP)—Directors of the Imperial Irrigation district today adopted resolutions requesting California Representatives and Senators to support an immediate appropriation for the construction of Boulder Canyon Dam, and requesting Senator Johnson and Representative Swing to confer with the State Department regarding the use by Mexico of stored waters.

In the resolution addressed to Senator Johnson and Representative Swing, authors of the dam bill, the directors requested that their stand against the use of stored waters in the Mexican half of Imperial Valley be explained to the State Department.

POSITION OUTLINED

The directors outlined their position as one of opposing recognition of Mexican claims above an amount of water that can be supplied by overflow. They said Mexico has neither a moral nor a legal claim to waters impounded in the Boulder Ras reservoir.

Mexican water users, the directors admitted, have a moral claim to water sufficient to provide irrigation of acreages under cultivation in Imperial Valley now, and this moral claim has been provided for by agreement to furnish overflow waters to Mexico.

It was pointed out at the meeting that large acreages of hitherto uncultivated desert lands are being placed under irrigation in Mexico in anticipation of enlarging Mexico's claim to Colorado River water.

REQUEST PROPOSED

The directors asked Senator Johnson and Representative Swing to request the State Department to inform Mexico that the United States will not recognize Mexican claims to Colorado River waters based on acreages placed under cultivation in anticipation of the Boulder Dam's beneficial effect on irrigation in Imperial Valley.

New acreages being placed under cultivation in Mexico, district engineers pointed out, can and apparently will increase the total there to a point that the prior claim by the time the Boulder Dam has been constructed will exceed overflow waters in the river channel and run into allotments of stored water made to users on the United States side of the line.

PRESS TIPS OFF TRAPS IN INCOME TAX

Fewer Errors in Returns Credited to Publicity; Month's Receipts Short

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—The far-famed complexities of the income tax blank tripped fewer citizens than usual this year.

Commissioner Lucas of the Internal Revenue Bureau said so today in complimenting newspapers and broadcasters for informing taxpayers how to make returns.

He credited the wide publishing of the tax blank pitfalls with materially decreasing the auditing work of his bureau and saving both the citizen and his government money.

Income tax receipts continued to drop below last year's total for the twenty-two days of March, according to a Treasury statement issued today showing collections from income tax on the 22nd inst. On that day the collections for the month aggregated $517,803,027, as compared with $547,189,703 for the same number of days in March, 1929.

Income tax receipts for the 22nd inst. were a few million dollars more than received on March 22, last year. Last Saturday the payments totaled $26,102,031, as compared with $21,100,876 a year ago.

While Treasury officials will not say definitely what the present collections indicate it is believed that the total from the first quarter's payment in 1929 incomes will approximate $540,000,000, or about $60,000,000 less than last year.

The Treasury balance for the 22nd inst. was $376,489,925.65, while last year on the same day the balance was $410,571,409.

He made his opera debut in Tiflis in 1892, and since has made a name for himself as one of the greatest bassos the musical world has ever known.

He has frequently appeared in concert and opera in the United States.

Move Holds Up Proceedings While Jurist Studies

Missive to Stockholders Cited by Complainant

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—Another legal entanglement appeared today in the complicated litigation which involves William Fox and his motion-picture corporation. It took the form of an affidavit of prejudice calling upon Federal Judge Coleman to withdraw from the three equity receivership proceedings pending against the corporation and others.

The affidavit was filed by counsel for Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., on behalf of H. L. Stuart, president of the corporation, and one of the Fox trustees named in the trusteeship agreement on December 3, 1929.

JUDGE TO READ UP

Judge Coleman adjourned the proceedings until Thursday afternoon in order to find time to look up the law on the matter.

"I assume," the judge said to the assembled attorneys, "that the filing of this affidavit divests me of the power to hear motions."

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Fox, contended that since Halsey, Stuart & Co. were not parties defendant they could not legally file an affidavit of prejudice. In reply to this Judge Coleman pointed out that Untermyer himself had recently filed a motion to make the financial house a party defendant. Untermyer said he would consider withdrawal of that motion.

BIAS HELD SHOWN

The affidavit charged that Judge Coleman by his conduct had shown prejudice against Stuart in receivership proceedings before him. It asked him to file a certificate of disqualification with the Court of Appeals and asked that the Court of Appeals thereupon designate some other judge to hear the case.

Among several exhibits attached to the affidavits was a letter to Fox Film stockholders which contained the sentence: "Several million dollars in judgments have been obtained by various creditors and only the indulgence of these creditors at the earnest solicitation of Hon. Frank J. Coleman, United States district judge, has prevented the complete break-up of the corporation's properties."

MAN POSES UNMOVED AT CRIME SPOT

Officer's Slayer Suspect Struts Before Cameras at Scene of Murder

NEWCASTLE (Pa.) March 25. (AP) Taking of testimony started today in the trial of W. Glenn Dague, former Wheeling (W. Va.) automobile salesman, indicted with Mrs. Irene Schroeder for slaying Highway Patrolman Brady Paul after a hold-up. The court ordered another night session to speed proceedings.

Developments of the second day of the trial included completion of a jury of four women and eight men, a visit to the scene of the slaying by the court, jury and defendant and the appearance of Mrs. Schroeder in the courtroom for identification purposes.

Dague appeared indifferent while at the spot of the Newcastle-Butler highway, near here, where Paul was fatally shot and Patrolman Ernest Moore was wounded last December 27. He consented to have his picture taken, however, and obligingly removed his cap.

Mrs. Schroeder, who was convicted of first-degree murder with a death penalty recommendation last Friday, smiled at Dague as she was led into the courtroom. During and since her trial she has shown the greatest unconcern.

The first witnesses called were physicians who testified as to the wounds that killed the highway officer.

Federal Power Challenged in Liquor Actions

SACRAMENTO, March 25. (AP)—Disagreement between prosecution and defense attorneys as to power of prohibition authorities to force accused physicians and druggists or witnesses to appear at license revocation hearings marked proceedings here today. Defense attorneys contended administration officials had no power to compel attendance at the hearings.

In a series of hearings which opened yesterday a number of Sacramento physicians and druggists face possible revocation of liquor prescription permits.

Newspaper men were barred from the hearings and A. Huggard, associate government attorney, said names of druggists and doctors under investigation will not be made public.

Ten Ice-Bound Men Rescued

LELAND (Mich.) March 25. (AP)—Two small boats containing ten men, caught in the ice between South Manitou Island and the mainland since yesterday, were liberated by the car ferry Wabash of the Ann Arbor Railroad today.

OAKLAND, March 25. (AP)—City Commissioner William H. Parker, his secretary, Ray Lamberson, and John G. Garbutt, former patent paving representative, indicted by the Alameda county grand jury on charges of conspiracy and bribery in connection with asserted graft in street paving, pleaded not guilty today in Superior Court. Their trial was set for April 21.

WAVE LENGTH ROW REVIVING

Fight Soon to be Renewed on Cleared Channels

Power Limitation Favored for Radio Plants

Chairman of Federal Board Opposed to System

WASHINGTON, March 25. (NANA)—With Maj.-Gen. Charles McK. Saltzman, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission definitely announcing his opposition to the present range of high power used in broadcasting, the fight against the cleared channels and high power is about to be renewed with vigor.

Gen. Saltzman joins with former Chairman Robinson and Commissioner Sykes in maintaining that the use of high power, almost invariably requiring the exclusive use of a wave length, is a waste of the scarce radio facilities. With a majority of the commission thus favoring limitation of power, the result may be a breakdown of the cleared channel system of broadcasting for which forty of the ninety channels are now reserved.

Cleared channel stations in the extreme eastern and western parts of the country will probably soon find other stations of low and medium powers operating on their present cleared waves.

CONTRACT PROVISIONS

As things look now, the ultimate limitation of power may be a compromise between the 5000-watt maximum recommended by Gen. Saltzman, the 10,000-watt maximum suggested by Judge Robinson and the 25,000-watt maximum fixed in the radio licenses.

The 25,000-watt maximum is simply a legal device, for all of the stations that have been licensed to use that amount of power have also been issued experimental licenses to step up their power to 50,000 watts. Seven stations now have that power and as many more have been issued permits to build new transmitters to that capacity.

STATIONS AFFECTED

If power is to be reduced, it means that the following 50,000-watt broadcasters now in operation stand to have their present service ranges cut down: WGY, Schenectady; KDKA, Pittsburgh; WEAF, New York; WENR, Chicago; WLW, Cincinnati; WTIC, Hartford, WTAM, Cleveland.

It means also that the following stations, which have been authorized to build to a capacity of 50,000 watts, will never be licensed for that amount: WABC, New York; KWY and KLS, Chicago; KMOX, St. Louis; KNX, Hollywood; WFAA, Dallas; WBAP, Fort Worth; WOAL, San Antonio.

In addition, the following have applications pending for construction permits for 50,000-watt stations: WHAM, Rochester; WCFL, Chicago; KGO, Oakland, Cal.; WAPI, Birmingham, Ala.; WOWO Fort Wayne, Ind.; WWJ, Detroit.

CONFLICTING VIEWS

Such high-powered broadcasters—in fact all with power of 5000 watts or more, with a few exceptions—have required cleared or exclusive channels; that is, waves upon which no other stations were operating during the evening hours. To place more than one station on such a wave, it was maintained, would mean restricting the service areas of each and producing heterodyne interference.

Against the argument that high power furnishes the only means of giving service from the higher class radio stations to rural and remote listeners, it is contended by the opponents of high power and cleared channels that such exclusive use represents a waste of the all-too-scarce wave lengths.

A few exceptions may be made in the case of Middle Western stations serving widespread areas, even Judge Robinson favoring the retention of twenty cleared channels for them.

MITCHELL ASSAILED ON TRUSTS

House Democrat Accuses Attorney-General of Abetting Monopolies

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—Accusing Atty.-Gen. Mitchell of "following in the footsteps of Harry Daugherty" in his policy toward "monopolies and trusts," Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, today urged the House to pass his resolution to investigate the Federal Trade Commission's trade practice conference work.

Patman asserted the commission is organizing "trusts and monopolies."

Although, he said, the Trade Commission repeatedly had been refused Congressional sanction for its trade practice conferences, it now is "holding and, if not prevented, will continue to hold trade practice conferences."

The Attorney-General, Patman said, is "working harmoniously with the commission" and "is likewise abusing the power intrusted to him and acting in disregard of the will of Congress by doing what Congress has repeatedly refused to approve."

Plane Crashes as Pilot Jumps

HAGERSTOWN (Md.) March 25. (AP)—Lost in a dense fog, a mail plane bound from Washington to Richmond, Va., crashed near Antietam station, at the edge of Antietam Battle Field, this morning. The pilot, Verne Treat, jumped in his parachute after cutting off the ignition and landed unhurt about three miles from where the plane was wrecked.

Treat, who was about seventy-five miles off his course, said he ran out of gasoline. He telephoned to Richmond that he is unhurt and is taking care of the mail.

Noted Athlete Doomed to Die

BERLIN (N. H.) March 25. (AP) A young man waiting death in a Canadian prison for murder today was identified by police as one of the greatest ski jumpers the East has ever known. He is Ingvald Anderson, better known as "Bing" or Carl Anderson, whose 190-foot jump at Brattleboro, Vt., in 1925, has never been equaled in the East.

Anderson is under sentence of death in Cape Breton for the murder of a hotel clerk. He was sentenced under the name of Everett Sloane.

LOS ANGELES CONVICT ESCAPES PRISON CAMP

GREEN AFFIRMS RADIO DEFIANCE

Michigan to Ignore Federal Action, Says Governor

LANSING (Mich.) March 25. (AP) Gov. Green issued a statement today reiterating his announcement that Michigan will erect and operate a State police radio station regardless of the Federal Radio Commission

"If the Radio Commission believes it is more important that the ether be filled with jazz music and advertisements than that criminals be apprehended and punished, that is the commission's business," the Governor said. He made it plain that the State of Michigan does not see matters in that light and proposes to exercise its sovereign right of police power "without limitation."

The Governor said the State set about getting a license for its station in the regular manner but the commission offered no assurance of any immediate action.

The Governor announced yesterday that anyone who attempts to interfere with the State's police powers will go to jail.

PORTLAND (Or.) March 25. (AP) E. D. Hardison, 50 years of age, wood-saw operator, died in a hospital here today from a self-inflicted head wound, and his wife, Mrs. Catherine Hardison, 41, is near death in the same hospital from bullet wounds asserted to have been inflicted by her husband, during an early morning domestic quarrel.

Gordon Norcott, 16, Hardison's stepson, witnessed his stepfather fire the second shot in Mrs. Hardison's body and then turn the revolver upon himself, he told authorities.

CENSUS URGED OF ITINERANTS

Gov. Young Proposes Count of Seasonal Labor

SACRAMENTO, March 25. (AP)—A census of itinerant labor in California to ascertain how much of it comes from outside the State was suggested by Gov. Young during a discussion of unemployment by members of his council here today.

Winter unemployment in the State is aggravated by an influx of workers from neighboring States, declared Bert B. Meek, director of the Public Works Department, although as much State building work as possible is done during the winter to take up unemployment slack.

Asserting there is a definite relation between unemployment and crime, James A. Johnston, director of the penology department, urged action to relieve unemployment as an aid to police departments in combating crime.

WITCH HARRIES INDIAN CRONE

Squaw, Fearing Own Death, Tells of Killing Woman

Artist's Wife Murdered to Kill Evil Spirit, She Says

Death of Own Husband Laid to Supernatural Power

BUFFALO (N. Y.) March 25. (Exclusive)—An ancient Indian crone, steeped in sorcery and quivering with fright, stumbled to the witness stand here today on the arm of a sturdy matron and muttered a weird story of witchcraft and murder.

She is Nancy Bowen, 66-year-old squaw of the Seneca tribe. She was called to tell how she killed Clothilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, sculptor, and why.

As she talked, guided by Dist.-Atty. Moore, Lila Jimerson, the "Red Lilac" of the Senecas—who is charged with inciting the murder—sat smiling and twisting a handkerchief.

A bitter fight was waged between Moore and U. S. Dist.-Atty. Templeton for this district, who, as representative of the "Great White Father," is sworn to protect the interests of the Indians, before the squaw was allowed by Judge Thorn to mount the stand.

ADJOURNMENT REFUSED

Templeton, rushed into the case this morning on the telegraphed orders of his chief, Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, made a request for adjournment until tomorrow, which was refused.

After preliminary questions, Nancy Bowen was asked what caused the death of her husband, Chief Sassafras Charlie, last year. "A witch," she replied through the Indian interpreter, and she stirred uneasily in her chair. She is afraid now that the same witch who killed Sassafras Charlie, the witch she thought she was killing when she murdered Clothilde Marchand with a hammer, still is rampant and waiting for a chance to kill her.

"Now, on the 6th of March, Nancy Bowen," Moore said, as quietly as though he were making a remark about the weather, "did you strike Clothilde Marchand over the head with a hammer, and put a wad of paper in her mouth and pour chloroform over the paper and in that way kill her?"

NANCY HESITATES

The interpreter started to translate the question, but John V. Maloney, the chief defense counsel, objected. The objection was overruled, the interpreter formed the question and old Nancy Bowen hesitated, looked at Red Lilac beseechingly for a moment, then turned back and replied.

"She say 'Yes,'" the translator droned.

With this admission in the record, Moore then started to attempt to establish that Lila wrote four letters, signed them "Mrs. Dooley," told Nancy that "Mrs. Dooley" was a medium who said Clothilde Marchand was a witch who killed Sassafras Charlie and would kill Nancy if she did not first get in the lethal blow.

HE BELIEVED IN WITCHES

The wizened squaw said she had believed in witchcraft "all the time Charlie was sick," and that he had believed in it, too, and that there are witch doctors on the Cattaraugus Reservation.

The prosecutor produced the first of the "Mrs. Dooley" letters and read the parts of it that referred to the evil witch who had killed Sassafras Charlie and how she could be done away with.

Old Nancy explained she was told the evil spirits killed her husband because he sold sassafras and other Indian herbs and that the herbs detracted from the powers of the witch.

During the hour Nancy was on the stand, Henri Marchand was in the County Jail, where he is held as a material witness, making a clay model of the warden's dog. Nancy will return to the stand tomorrow to face the fire of the defense—when Moore has drawn out her full story—and then Marchand will go into the witness box.

LOST FLYER FOUND SAFE IN WYOMING

Walnut Creek (Cal.,) Man Lands at Ranch When His Plane Gives Trouble

LANDER (Wyo.) March 25. (AP)—Winfield Hale, Walnut Creek (Cal.) flyer, missing since Friday when he left Cheyenne by airplane, has been at the Fascimelle ranch, ten miles northeast of here, since Friday night.

Buffeted by a strong headwind after leaving Cheyenne at 9:35 a.m., last Friday, Hale said he got off the air route and confused the Burlington Railroad tracks north with the Union Pacific tracks west.

Early Friday, Hale said, he passed over Casper, but did not know what town it was. He followed the Northwestern Railroad tracks, which took him into Central Wyoming. Eighty miles north of Casper, at Moneta, he was forced to land because of magneto trouble.

After temporarily adjusting the trouble, Hale again took off but engine trouble necessitated another landing, this time late Friday on the Fascimelle ranch.

Since Friday Hale said he has been working on his plane, but finding he needed parts for the motor, he drove here late yesterday to make arrangements to obtain them. While here he notified his attorney, M. C. McDonough in Oakland, of his whereabouts.

Hale said he probably will not have his plane in condition to resume his trip to Oakland before the end of the week.

'QUEER' FLOODS MONTE CARLO

Counterfeit Chips Causing Loss of $2000 Daily at Famous Casino

MONTE CARLO (Monaco) March 25. (AP)—Counterfeit chips that are causing the Casino to lose an average of $2000 a day have brought the latest calamity to this little principality, which already is stirred by political undercurrents and the separation of its Prince and Princess.

The chips are said to be so perfect that they cannot be told from the genuine. The Casino chips are changed frequently and the counterfeiters apparently have a confederate within the Casino who is able to duplicate them quickly.

Both French and Italian police are working on the case.

Bandits Kill Owner of Cafe

NEWARK (N. J.) March 25. (AP) Resisting two bandits in the hold-up of his cafe in the basement of the Lincoln Park Hotel early today, William Curry, 48 years of age, was shot to death.

The bandits escaped with $25 they scooped from the cash register and $5 which they took from Curry's son Joseph, 24 years of age, witness to the murder.

LIQUEFIED GAS FILLS OLD NEED

Natural Product Compressed for Rural Use

Many Concerns Seek Permits of Rail Commission

Angelenos Propose to Cover Imperial Country

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25. (Exclusive)—Development of liquefied natural gas, known also as butane and propane, is moving so rapidly every farm and home in California can be supplied with it in the near future, it was predicted today by Claude C. Brown, State Gas Administrator and chief gas and electrical engineer for the Railroad Commission. Natural gas now is going to 90 per cent of gas users throughout the State, he said and the liquefied variety will fill in the isolated gaps.

One of the foremost features of liquefied gas, he pointed out, is that it can be transported to isolated districts in steel containers, under heavy pressure, and used in the homes directly from the cylinders by means of automatic mixing equipment. In this way a month's supply of gas may be kept on hand by the consumer at all times.

Various companies, he said, are applying to the commission for certificates of public convenience and necessity to serve liquefied gas, transported in tank cars or trucks to central distributing points where it can be vaporized, reduced to the proper British thermal unit proportion for economic use and thus distributed to the consumer.

The Inland Empire Gas Company, with headquarters at Los Angeles, today asked the commissioner for a certificate to supply Calipatria and Niland in Imperial county. That is intends to supply Holtville, El Centro, Imperial, Brawley, Heber, Calexico and adjacent territory is stated. The company, according to the application, has applied for the necessary community franchises, which it has not yet received but which are expected.

The application follows others from various companies by which it is proposed to serve liquefied gas to more than 100 towns or communities from the Oregon line to Mexico.

FAKED SUICIDE RENDS HOME

Wife Asks for Divorce From Husband Who Said He Had Taken Poison

CHICAGO, March 25. (AP)—Mrs. Adel G. Carlson wants a divorce from the husband who fooled her about attempting suicide.

Last November, she relates in her bill filed yesterday, Carlson came out of the bathroom, announced he had swallowed poison and lay down on the floor with the obvious intent of dying.

After Mrs. Carlson forced him to drink antidotes and made a great fuss over him, she discovered he hadn't taken poison after all. It was just a fake.

UNIONS TO FIGHT PARKER SEATING

Supreme Court Appointee Opposition Forming

Decision on Mine Contract Basis of Protest

American Federation of Labor Heads Move

WASHINGTON, March 25. (Exclusive)—Opposition to the appointment of Federal Circuit Judge John H. Parker, of Charlotte, N. C., to the United States Supreme Court took definite form today when the American Federation of Labor indicated it will protest confirmation on the ground of Parker's participation in the so-called "yellow dog" contract decision.

The decision enjoined members of the United Mine Workers of America from seeking to induce nonunion miners in Logan and Mingo counties, West Virginia, to violate contracts under which they were bound not to join a union while employed in an open-shop mine.

Adoption of the contract by 316 open-shop mine operators to fight unionization of their workmen in 1922 precipitated virtual civil war in Logan and Mingo counties. Many lives were lost on both sides in the war which culminated in a hurried call for Federal troops when 7000 heavily-armed union miners marched across the mountains from Mingo county to drive the non-union miners out of Logan.

RESOURCES OVER 50 MILLIONS

Why Practical People PREFER this Practical Transportation

OVER 300,000 passengers ride the Big Red Cars each day.

Most of these busy men and women are regular passengers because they enjoy the following six decided advantages of Big Red Car servic:

They find relief from the nerve strain created by traffic and parking worries.

Many now leave their automobiles at home, for the use and pleasure of their families instead of standing idle in a parking station at a cost of fifteen to fifty cents a day.

A third advantage is the extra leisure gained on the way to work...extra time in which to relax in comfort, read the paper, or plan the day's activities. And at the end of the day's work... relaxation again instead of added effort.

They know that a carefully trained man drives them safely and swiftly to their destination.

And fifth, they know that speedy, dependable Big Red Car transportation costs very little. In fact the Monthly Pass and Commutation fares are but a fraction over one cent per mile.

Sixth, they enjoy convenient schedules ... planned especially to meet their needs.

These thousands upon thousands of practical people have convinced themselves of these advantages...and the numbers are increasing every day.

Why not learn for yourself what these thousands have learned? Why not give the Big Red Cars a TEN DAY TRIAL? Start tomorrow morning.

AIR CONFERENCE ASKS STATE AID

Western Lines Progress Meeting Keynote

Bills Now Before Congress Given Indorsement

Session at Salt Lake City Completes Labors

SALT LAKE CITY, March 25. (Exclusive)—Extension and development of western national airways was the keynote of the conference here today of the Western States Aeronautical Association. State aid, combined with Federal aid, in the maintenance and extension of airways was indorsed in principle and after a long session the conference adjourned tonight. California and nine other States were represented. The delegates indorsed the principles of the Bingham, Watres and McNary bills, now before Congress.

The Bingham bill asks for investigation of accidents in civil air navigation. The Watres bill, in the House, and the McNary bill, in the Senate, seek to stabilize the entire aviation industry, and to put aviation on the same basis as rail and sea commerce, through a revision of the basis of air-mail rates and contracts.

STATE AID AIRWAYS

A brisk discussion followed the address of Edward H. Sharpe, New York, director of public relations for the Aviation Corporation. He declared that the crying need of aviation is State aid airways, so that plane travel may be sure and without hazard. There are 14,500 miles of Federal airways now, he said, but he believes this should be greatly increased.

Allen J. Furlow, former Congressman of Minnesota, asserted many bills have been introduced in Congress, but said the Bingham and Watres bills are the only ones likely to be acted on at the present session.

URGE PRESENT NEEDS

Mr. Furlow warned the delegates not to take definite steps for or against parts of this legislation, rather to indorse or reject in a general way the underlying principles of the bills, and urged the delegates to confine their activities to legislation needed at present, not to bills which are popular in aspect, but not desirable at this stage of the industry.

Property rights, both on the ground and in the air; enforcement of laws; delegation of powers in local government, intra-State and interstate commerce, its application to the granting of the certificates of convenience and necessity, and the co-operation of local, State and Federal agencies in the promotion of the air industry, were other problems brought before the conference.

Jeffersonians Get Grand Slam in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, March 25. (AP)—A party grand slam, with the Democrats taking the office of Mayor, the eight Councilmanic positions and the two municipal judgeships at stake, became a certainty tonight with tabulations of complete unofficial returns from all but fifty-five of the 458 precincts in the city election here today.

The Republicans, who had held a threatening minority in the City Council, failed to take a trick, and lost the office of Mayor, which Albert I. Beach, Republican incumbent, will relinquish to Bryce B. Smith, millionaire baker, April 10, when the City Hall and municipal courts will be occupied solely by those of the Democratic stripe.

Child Carries Rescued Baby Back in Blaze

TULSA, March 25. (AP)—Because his 3-year-old sister thought he was "too cold" outdoors and carried him back to his bed in their blazing home after he had been rescued from the flames by a 5-year-old brother, John William Page, 11 months of age, was burned to death here late today. The girl dashed to safety after tucking the baby in his bed.

The mother, Mrs. W. H. Page, was at the home of an ill neighbor at the time and the father was at work. The fire is said to have started when one of the children thrust a scrap of paper into a box of wood.

Broker's Wife Accuses Him of Marriage Fraud

NEWARK (N. J.) March 25. (AP)—Mrs. Margery D. Cooper, daughter of William C. Durant, financier and industrialist, today appeared before Justice of the Peace Scotland and swore out a warrant for her husband, John Hampton Cooper, charging perjury.

Mrs. Cooper, accompanied by her counsel, W. Howard Demarest, asserted that at the time of her marriage to Cooper, a New York broker, he represented himself as single, whereas, she stated, he had been married before. The couple were married here April 16, last.

The marriage was Mrs. Cooper's third.

DEATH TAKES OLDEST SISTER OF CHARITY

BALTIMORE, March 25. (AP)—Sister Veronica, who entered the Sister of Charity Novitiate at Emitsburg, Md., in 1854, and who is said to have been a member of the order longer than any other sister in the world, died here today. She was 91 years of age. While nursing during the Civil War she found her brother among the wounded on the Gettysburg battlefield.

OH, THE BOWERY, THE BOWERY!

They Have Such Men on the Bowery the Army'll Never Go There Any More

NEW YORK, March 25. (Exclusive) — Army recruiting sergeants will fold up their signboards on the Bowery and haul down their "Army Builds Men" flags and quit the Bowery "forever," Maj. C. A. Pivirotte, New York City chief of army recruiting, announced.

"Park avenue is more suited for recruiting than the Bowery nowadays," said the major. "Unskilled laborers do not make the kind of soldiers the Army wants. The Bowery is through as a feeder for the present-day Regular Army."

ATROCITIES ATTRIBUTED TO BELGIANS

Charge Made at Brussels That Officials in Congo Practice Cruelties

BRUSSELS, March 25. (AP)—Serious charges against officials in the Belgian Congo, Africa, were brought today in the Chamber of Deputies by Emile Vandervelde, Socialist leader and former Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Interpellating the government, M. Vandervelde quoted assertions by President Orts, of the Congo Red Cross, that negroes were forcibly recruited for public labor even when in a dying condition. According to M. Orts, the Socialist leader said, the mortality figures among the natives reached 128 to 144 per 1000, which almost equals the casualty rate in Belgium during the World War.

Premier Jaspar, who also is Colonial Minister, admitted the existence of individual abuses, but declared that much reform work had been accomplished. He refused to order a Parliamentary investigation, promising instead a gradual suppression of the forced labor system among the natives.

Joseph R. Nutt Resigns Post as Bank President

CLEVELAND, March 25. (AP)—Recent reports that Joseph R. Nutt, banker, is to be named national chairman of the Republican party, were followed today by his resignation as president of the Union Trust Company, one of the largest banks in the Middle West.

Nutt has denied the reports that he will become Republican chairman. He is treasurer of the Republican National Committee.

Announcement of the resignation as president of the bank was made following a special meeting and was accompanied by announcement that S. W. M. Baldwin has been elected to succeed him.

American Army of Occupation Bill Approved

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—In line with the Young plan settlement, the House Ways and Means Committee today approved a bill under which the United States will receive $273,000,000 from Germany to cover the cost of the American Army of Occupation.

Payment of the amount has been approved by the German Reichstag, Chairman Hawley of the committee said. Notes relating to it have been exchanged between the two countries.

PHILADELPHIA, March 25. (AP) Princess Irini Wladimirovna Skariatina of Russia gave up her titles and renounced all allegiance to her mother country today and was naturalized an American citizen in the Federal District Court. She is the wife of Victor Franklin Blakeslee, retired naval officer, whom she married in 1926.

According to the naturalization records she was born in St. Petersburg, now Leningrad. Seven years ago she came to this country from London. She met her husband in Chicago, where she was an interior decorator. Her mother is Princess Mary Lobanov of Rostov, Russia.

Davis Cup Tennis Player Marries

AUSTIN (Tex.) March 22. (AP)—Wilmer Allison, member of the 1930 Davis Cup tennis team, was married tonight to Miss Anne Caswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Caswell, one of Austin's most attractive and popular society girls at St. David's Episcopal Church.

John Van Ryn of Orange, N. J., Allison's team-mate, was best man, and Miss Claire Caswell, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. The couple left for a trip abroad.

THREE BOY HUNTERS DIE IN EXPLOSION

TULSA (Okla.) March 25. (AP)—Three boy hunters were blown into bits by an explosion today near Turkey Mountain, southwest of here, which was attributed to nitroglycerin believed to have been found by the trio on a near-by oil lease. The dead were Luther McClough, 16 years of age, and Unionis Butler McClough, 13, brothers, and Harold Edward Komma, 13.

AUTHOR BACKS WAR ON CHURCH

Society at Princeton Hears Russian Drive Lauded

Supernatural Religion Held Influence for Misery

Soviets Have Full Liberty to Worship, Says Barnes

PRINCETON (N. J.) March 25. (Exclusive)—Soviet Russia's war on religion found a strong advocate here tonight in Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes, author and sociologist, who told members of the Whig-Clio Society that Russia's crusade is one against orthodox religion, which he termed the greatest scourge to humanity. The Whig-Clio Society is an undergraduate literary organization at Princeton University.

Prof. Barnes asserted that the present drive against religion by the soviets is no different from the efforts of the Christians centuries ago to curb heresy. He declared that Russians now enjoy more liberty to worship as they please than they did under the Czarist regime. They are now free from the old burdens of the Greek church, he added.

The soviets were warmly praised for their attack upon supernatural religion.

"Such religion," continued Prof. Barnes, "is directly and indirectly responsible for more misery and suffering than any other influence operating in human society.

"The Godless Union in Russia does not alarm me. I do not support atheism, but there is no reason why atheists should not organize and carry on propaganda as freely as those who believe in God. Those who are praying against Russia today believe in a God who interferes in human affairs. Why not rest content to pass on to this God the responsibility of suppressing the Godless Union?"

Prof. Barnes, until recently, was head of the sociology department at Smith College.

In an address before the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New York in January, 1929, Prof. Barnes aroused a controversy by declaring the concept of God would have to be defined in the light of discoveries in astrophysical science.

Arizona Wants Larger Fund for Boll Worm Fight

PHOENIX, March 25. (AP)—A revised schedule calling for an expenditure of $38,450 during 1930 to control the pink boll worm infestation and prevent its spread was presented to Gov. Phillips today by the State Commission of Agriculture and Horticulture.

The commission also informed the Governor that the appropriation of $3500 he made recently for control work was not sufficient.

Gov. Phillips said he would study the schedule and then "decide on its merits."

POPE WILL PICK CARDINALS SOON

College Reduced by Deaths to Only Sixty

Italy Expects to Receive Several Seats

Selections Now Looked For Some Time in May

VATICAN CITY, March 25. (AP)—Creation of several new cardinals, now that the Sacred College has been reduced by deaths to only sixty out of its possible seventy members, is now looked for some time in the late spring or early summer, possibly in May.

Pope Pius has given no indication of his plans, but the uncertainty of the time has not in any way diminished prognostications as to the probable choices of his holiness. In Vatican spheres it is taken for granted that at least two Italian cardinals will be named, one to succeed the late Cardinal Gamba as Archbishop of Turin, and another to take the place of the late Cardinal Perosi as a member of the "curia," or body of cardinals more directly engaged with the central administration of the Catholic church.

ITALIAN CHOICE VAGUE

As to the non-Italian cardinals, if any are to be created, speculation is more vague as the range of possibilities is wider. By the death of Cardinal Merry Del Val, Spain's representation among the wearers of the purple has been cut from five to four. Catholics of the Western Hemisphere are hoping that one of their outstanding prelates may fill the vacancy.

For the see of Turin, capital of Piedmont and residence of Crown Prince Humbert, the name of Mgr. Barlassina, now serving as patriarch of Jerusalem, has been proposed. Other prelates likely to be considered are Mgrs. Arborio Mella Di Sant'elia, scion of a noble Sardinian family and related to some of the leading Piedmont families; Caccia Dominioni, a Milanese, and Monantelli, now Archbishop of Vercelli.

SPAIN MAY GET ONE

The Pontiff's choice for a successor to Perosi will, it is commonly supposed, fall upon one of the papal nuncios abroad, as it is the custom to elevate the more distinguished ecclesiastical diplomats to the purple after long terms of service. The dignitary most in view in this category is Mgr. Tedeschini, nuncio to Madrid, long resident in Spain and fully cognizant of her problems.

The most recent precedents for summoning nuncios back to become cardinals are found in the cases of Cerretti, former Vatican envoy to France, and Pacelli, nuncio to Germany, who only last winter was made a cardinal and shortly afterward became papal secretary of state.

Another distinguished prelate whose name often comes up in forecasts is Mgr. Marchetti-Selvaggiani, secretary of the congregation for propagation of faith, the great Catholic missionary organization. He is at present one of the consultators of the congregation of the holy office, of which the late Cardinal Merry Del Val was secretary.

POPE GIVEN TO SURPRISES

In all consideration of names, though, it must be borne in mind that Pope Pius is given to surprise decisions. Thus last summer he upset all calculations by bestowing the red hat and the mitre of Archbishop of Milan on a comparatively unknown Benedictine abbott, now Cardinal Schuster, of Swiss parentage but Roman birth.

And at the last consistory, held in December, he picked an equally little known clergyman, Mgr. Verdier of the Sulpicians, instead of others more in view, for the all-important see of Paris, notwithstanding the fact that it was generally believed that Mgr. Baudrillart, rector of the Catholic Institute and member of the French Academy, was to become the cardinal-archbishop of the capital on the Seine.

SAILOR DIES OF INJURIES ON FLAGSHIP

Seaman Ward Succumbs After Fall from Turret During Maneuvers

BY LIEUT. C. E. CHAPEL, U.S.M.C.

U.S.S. CALIFORNIA (Guantanamo, Cuba) March 25. (Exclusive) The first casualty of the United States battle fleet maneuvers occurred today on the flagship California when Vincent Frank Ward, seaman second class, died of injuries he received yesterday when he fell from a gun turret to the deck. He sustained a fractured skull and a broken arm.

Seaman Ward was 18 years of age. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Frank Ward, who lives in Sacramento. The body of Ward was taken aboard the hospital ship Relief and preparations were made to send it to Sacramento during the week.

The "black fleet" and the "blue fleet" engaged in tactical maneuvers, consisting mainly of torpedo and mine-laying practice. Fleet heads aboard the California maintained that neither side had an advantage, and expressed the opinion that the "battle" revealed a need for the strengthening of the torpedo, destroyer and mine-laying fleets.

Officer's Wife Seeks Divorce

STOCKTON, March 25. (AP)—George C. Eaton, chief criminal deputy sheriff of San Joaquin county, was named defendant today in a divorce complaint filed here. His wife, Edna, asserts that the officer has been frequenting roadhouses and other places of ill repute and has been using intoxicating liquors to excess for several years. She declares that his salary is $225 a month, but that the couple has accumulated more than $40,000 since their marriage. Mrs. Eaton asks all the community property and custody of the couple's minor son.

WOMEN'S VOTES CRY TO RE-ECHO

Ten Years of Suffrage Will Be Celebrated Today

Button and Banners Taken From Resting Places

Mrs. Catt and Others Will Speak Over Radio

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—Old trunks were being rummaged for "votes for women" buttons and banners throughout the United States today as members of the National League of Women Voters prepared for tomorrow's country-wide celebration of ten years of suffrage.

From forty-two States have come telegrams describing candle-lighting ceremonies, suffrage fashion parades, and old photo and souvenir shows to brighten the Nineteenth Amendment's tenth birthday party.

The yellow umbrellas of St. Louis, the yellow straw hats of Chicago, flaunted at conventions long past, were reported out from a decade of storage, ready to gleam again with the blue and yellow badges once worn by women campaigners as emblems of consecration to the cause. The banners long-furled will be waved when Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt speaks.

FIRST OF SERIES

No special suffrage significance attaches to tomorrow. It merely starts a series of tenth-year celebrations, to include initial announcements of a women's national roll of honor next Monday; a final announcement of the complete honor roll at the League of Women Voters' national convention at Louisville, Ky., May 1, and ratification celebration August 18.

Mrs. Catt, who actively campaigned for suffrage for forty years, will speak by radio tomorrow on "The Hopes of the Founders." On the same program, Miss Belle Sherwin, for six years president of the league, will discuss "Discoveries in Ten Years of Suffrage."

MRS. KAHN TO ATTEND

Two Congresswomen, Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, and Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California, will attend the celebration of the District of Columbia's "Voteless League."

An old photo of Gen. Rosalie Jones's suffrage parade from New York to Washington in 1913, when the women leaders walked every step of the way, will be displayed at the capital city celebration to many women campaigners who, living in unenfranchised Washington, have never been able to cast the ballots for which they campaigned. Gen Jones still resides in Washington, but now she is Mrs. Clarence C. Dill, wife of the United States Senator from Washington.

A call has gone out from the League of Women Voters' headquarters here for a general mobilization of all suffrage souvenirs unearthed for tomorrow at the national convention in Louisville next month.

PROFESSORS WIN GRANTS IN RESEARCH

BERKELEY, March 25. (Exclusive)—Members of the faculty of the University of California and of the University of California at Los Angeles have been awarded four of the twenty-eight grants in aid of research announced by the National Research Council this month.

Three of the grants have been made to scholars on the Berkeley campus and one to Los Angeles. The recipients at Berkeley and the studies they propose to make are:

Prof. Leonard Loeb of the department of physics, for a study of the mechanism of the spark discharge; Asst. Prof. L. R. Cerecedo of the department of biochemistry, for investigations on the purine fraction of the nucleic acid molecule, and Prof. E. B. Babcock of the department of genetics, toward the expenses of a collecting expedition for the study of toxionomy, cytology and genetics of the plant genus "crespi."

The Los Angeles scholar represented on the list of awards is Arthur H. Warner, instructor in physics, for studies of the photoelectric effect from clean tungsten surfaces.

Parting Escaped by Dual Suicide

BALTIMORE (Md.) March 25. (AP) Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Applewhaite, 70-year-old couple, were found dead in bed at their home today with their throats slashed and two old razors in the bed with them. Police also found a note, signed by the couple, indicating death was near for one and they could not bear separation and had agreed to die together.

The note complained of ill health of the woman.

SLAIN YOUNG WOMAN BELIEVED IDENTIFIED

EUREKA, March 25. (AP)—Asst. Dist.-Atty. Mitchell said today he believed he knows the name of the expensively dressed young woman found slain yesterday in a forest adjoining the Redwood Highway, sixty miles north of here. Mitchell refused to divulge the name pending further investigation.

The clew, Mitchell said, came from a city in the Northern Sacramento Valley, where a man and young woman disappeared a short time before the slaying was supposed to have occurred, about February 21, last. County Detective Jack Lennon was expected to leave Eureka tonight for the valley city to make a further check.

AFTERNOON FATIGUE AVOIDED

Energy Can Be Quickly Restored By This Simple Method

Eating between meals is often prescribed by doctors especially for those working at high speed in offices and stores.

Energy food, in compact and inexpensive form, is easy to get for such "snacks," at news and cigar stands. The popular candy bar and the little packets of sweet cookies are outstanding examples of what is offered. Then there are the soda fountains where milk drinks and carbonated beverages can be enjoyed.

Doctors and food chemists who have given candy or flavored drinks to workers have discovered that these foods restore energy quickly. The fact that the tests have been made in the late afternoon when vitality is low, makes the results more significant.

Sugar, in addition to supplying energy, can help in promoting a more satisfying diet. Those foods rich in vitamins, roughage and minerals can be much improved in flavor by adding a dash of sugar in cooking or when serving them. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

American Held for Ransom by Kidnapers

Release Negotiations Take Considerable Time

SAN ANGELO (Tex.) March 25. (AP)—J. E. Bristow, kidnaped by Mexican bandits several days ago, is unharmed, according to a message received here by his wife from their son, Gordon Bristow, at Mazatlan, Mex., where he is negotiating for his father's release.

The message read:

"Dad unharmed but still captive. It will take some time to work this thing out, so don't expect results too soon."

Bristow was reported kidnaped while on a mining exploration trip with two companions in the rugged country around Tepic, Mex., on the west coast. The bandits are said to have sought a ransom of from 3000 to 30,000 pesos. His family is seeking his release on the smaller sum.

RIVALRY GROWS IN CITRUS TRADE

Keener Competition Offered by Foreign Nations

Production of Oranges and Grapefruit Increases

South Africa and Brazil Get Into World Markets

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 25. (Exclusive)—The American citrus fruit industry is confronted with increasing competition in foreign markets from foreign countries in which production is being stimulated by the steadily growing world demand for oranges and grapefruit, according to a statement today by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, following a world survey of the situation.

"Outstanding points in the world citrus-fruit situation," the bureau says, "are increasing production of oranges and grapefruit, with recent new plantings, and large non-bearing acreages in a number of countries pointing to continued future expansion; an upward trend in consumption of both oranges and grapefruit, particularly grapefruit, in the United States and the principal importing countries, and an apparently fairly stable lemon production situation, at a level, however, that necessitates the use of a considerable proportion in the manufacture of by-products."

Increased production and export of oranges in the Southern Hemisphere, especially the Union of South Africa and Brazil, are regarded by the bureau as of special significance to California Valencia producers with whose fruit the Southern Hemisphere products competes on European markets. Also, continued large Spanish crops, together with expanding production in Palestine, is considered to "leave little prospect for volume exports of American oranges to Europe during the winter and early spring."

Production of oranges in the United States for the present season is estimated by the bureau at 33,739,000 boxes, compared with 54,130,000 boxes last season, and an average for the years 1923-1927 of 34,356,000 boxes. Of this year's crop 70 per cent is in California and about 26 per cent in Florida. About 19 per cent of the present total United States orange acreage is reported as "nonbearing."

United States first place in world industry. No less than thirty-nine American engineering and technical concerns now are operating in soviet Russia, between them supervising nearly $3,000,000,000 worth of construction.

Since withdrawal of W. A. Harriman & Co. from the large Georgian manganese concession, no American financial interests have invested capital in soviet enterprises, but the number of American engineering concerns obtaining profitable contracts is increasing.

NEW KIND OF CONTRACT

The latest contract was signed today with the New York engineering concern of Stewart, James & Cooke, a group which already has three contracts with the government for furnishing technical aid and supervision in the mines of the Donetz coal basin.

This contract, which covers a two-year period, and involves expenditure of several million dollars, departs from previous contracts awarded by the soviet government in that it calls for groups of so-called technical "key-men" from the United States to undertake active management and direction of existing soviet industrial plants so they will yield the maximum production.

LINCOLN'S LETTERS SOLD BY CLAY TO COLLECTOR

RICHMOND (Ky.) March 25. (AP) A number of letters from Lincoln to Cassius M. Clay, noted Kentucky Abolitionist leader and afterward Minister to Russia, are among the mass of Clay correspondence sold yesterday by his son, Brutus Clay, of Richmond, to John B. Kidd, Cincinnati collector.

"I see by the papers," was Lincoln's introduction to nearly all his letters to Cassius Clay. Writing from Springfield, Ill., in July, 1860, a few months before his election to the Presidency, Lincoln said he "saw by the papers" that the electorate in Indiana was reading Clay's Abolitionist speeches eagerly.

Brutus Clay, the son, was Minister to Switzerland under Roosevelt.

FATHER VIEWS WATZL'S BODY

Identification of Inventor and Woman Positive

Note Tells of Pair's Flight from United States

Assumed Names Adopted in Obtaining Passports

VIENNA, March 25. (AP)—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Dr. Hermann (Ernst) Watzl, Cleveland chemist and inventor of Austrian birth, was cleared today after an inquiry in three continents for four months.

The body of a man found shot dead in a dingy hotel room yesterday was definitely identified as that of the chemist by his father, H. Watzl. A woman lying near Watzl's body and also shot dead was said to be Mrs. Mary MacGranahan of Cleveland.

A rapid medical examination resulted in a statement that Watzl had killed the woman and then shot himself through the heart. Vienna police said the shooting had followed the receipt of a mysterious letter by Watzl, but they searched everywhere for it unavailingly. They surmise he had destroyed it.

DIED PENNILESS

In any case the man and woman died penniless, leaving an unpaid bill at the Hotel Sacher. The exact time of the deaths could only be guessed, no one having apparently heard the shots.

A farewell letter from Watzl to an intimate friend in Vienna, which was communicated to the press this afternoon, said that Watzl had decided to commit suicide in order to secure for his wife his insurance policy of $35,000. He had no money left for the next payment, due on the morrow.

"Thus my wife will be robbed unless I die today," the letter said.

After stating that he had arranged the "accident" at Pottstown, Pa., November 6, last, Watzl explained, "I first went to New York, where I bought a false passport in the name of Flassak and secretly married Mary MacGranahan. Fearing recognition, we determined to quit New York, which we did, and went to Canada."

This passport in a false name made identification difficult. Three passports were found on the bodies, the man's bearing the names "Ernst Watzl" on one and "Johann Flassak" on the other. The woman gave her name as "Josefa Kropej," but it was learned that she was really a mannequin named Mary MacGranahan. Her mother, Julia Horvath, is a resident of Cleveland.

DOCUMENTS SEALED

Watzl's father, a watchmaker, owns a toy shop in Vienna. He said he had not heard of his son's return to Austria and had not seen him since his departure some years ago for the United States.

The elder Watzl called his son "Hermann," instead of Ernst, the name under which he was known in the United States. He said that he had gone to America to sell patents, marrying there and becoming the father of three children.

According to information here the chemist had been sued for $50,000 by the husband of his companion.

Dr. Dryak, Chief of the Viennese Criminal Police, who has taken charge of the Watzl investigation, told the Associated Press that all the documents connected with the case had been sealed and that nobody had examined them yet.

A detailed description of the woman was not available, but the people of the Hotel Sacher said she was tall, slim, and blond, good looking, and about 25 years of age.

WANDERED FAR

Watzl's letter to his Viennese friend gave an account of extraordinary wanderings around the world after the sudden disappearance at Pottstown.

"In Canada we were nearly caught, so we decided to go to the Coast and take a steamer across the Pacific. We did so, sailing to Tokio, where I hoped to find a job, but quickly realized there was no chance, so we went to India. Leaving India we went to London, but stopped there only a short time, pushing on to Vienna.

"But the $5000 I took from my bank at Philadelphia after my automobile escapade was soon eaten up. We were faced with two alternatives: Either to go to my parents and relatives and ask for assistance and confess my misdemeanors, or to commit suicide. I preferred the latter.

THOUGHT OF FAMILY

"I was also influenced by the thought of my wife and children in trouble in Cleveland. Knowing the customs of insurance companies, I realized that my wife would be unable to cash my policy of $35,000 unless she could officially establish my death. But I also knew that the claim would fail if my premiums were not paid regularly to my death.

"Then I remembered the insurance installment falling due tomorrow, which I am unable to meet. Thus my wife will be robbed unless I die today.

"I am, therefore, going today, before the premium is due."

In another note left in the hotel, Watzl and Mary MacGranahan asked that they be cremated together.

Chief of Police Slain in Row

ORANGE (Tex.) March 25. (AP)—Will White, 49 years of age, night Chief of Police here, was shot to death today in a difficulty with N. E. Perkins, former Texas Ranger and ex-prohibition agent. Perkins and his wife were charged with murder.

According to reports to police, White was shot when he, in company with Leonard Carr, policeman, went to Perkins's store to investigate some "loud talking" there.

NEW TEETH AND ALIMONY GIVEN HENPECKED HUBBY

DETROIT, March 25. (AP)—Wolf B. Lakritz is going to have a new $100 set of teeth, his wife paying the bill, and what's more he is going to have $3 a week alimony.

All this shower of good fortune came upon Mr. Lakritz yesterday when he appeared in court seeking a divorce, charging his wife Lena with cruelty. Mrs. Lakritz, he said, took over all his property as fast as he acquired it, and when he became ill she refused to give him any money.

Judge McMahon, in granting the divorce, reversed the usual order of things and gave Mr. Lakritz $3 a week alimony, ordering Mrs. Lakritz to buy him a new set of teeth, the cost not to exceed $100.

AMERICAN WILL BE ADVISER TO CHINESE

CHICAGO, March 25. (AP)—Paul Linebarger, former legal adviser to Sun Yat Sen in overthrowing the 4000-year dynasty in China, said today he had been offered the legal advisership of the present Chinese Council of State and intended to accept. Linebarger, who formerly was United States District Judge of the Philippines before going with Sun Yat Sen, said he had been offered the post again by Chiang Kai Shek, head of the Council of State. The former judge said he would accept if the soviet or Left Wing of Chinese politics would assure him the price on his head would be withdrawn.

SENATOR NYE PAYS TRIBUTE TO EIELSON

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—Brief tribute to Carl Ben Eielson, Arctic explorer who lost his life recently in the frozen north in an attempt to rescue passengers on an ice-bound ship, was paid in the Senate today by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota. Describing Eielson, who was from North Dakota, as having had "a splendid life and a splendid character," Nye placed in the Congressional Record a history of the explorer's life published in a North Dakota newspaper. He also read a letter he had received from Sir Hubert Wilkins, another explorer, who described Eielson as one of the great pioneers of Arctic flying. Nye urged that the Senate adopt as soon as possible his resolution calling for the naming of a mountain peak in Alaska after the explorer.

Mohammedans Urge Him to Visit Their Villages

BROACH (India) March 25. (AP) This district is so busy making marriages to forestall the new Sarda act raising the age for consent, which comes into force April 1, that attendance at a meeting addressed by Mahatma Gandhi at Tresela today was comparatively sparse.

Commenting on his small audience, Gandhi said: "Without knowing what is proposed in the Sarda act, you are afraid of it and are busy marrying off little children. All this ignorance is the cause of your slavery."

He said that some Mohammedans had asked him why he did not march through their villages, and declared that he will if invited.

INVITATIONAL WEEK

CORD

FRONT DRIVE

Many have taken advantage of our invitation to drive the Cord car and they tell us that it spoils them for other cars, and obsoletes other cars in their minds.

Until now we have not published strong statements about the new Cord, and the exclusive advantages of having a car pulled instead of pushed, for fear they might be construed as over-enthusiastic.

But now with the unanimous opinions of more than 2500 owners as testimony, we do not hesitate to say the Cord front-drive has riding and driving appeal never before made available in any other car.

This "Invitational Week" is set aside as a special opportunity for you to become informed and enjoy actual demonstrations.

This invitation includes all owners of cars in this price class; all engineers and students of engineering; and the entire motoring public. The significance of the Cord car encompasses much more than an achievement by Auburn. The complete success of the Cord car proves it is the kind of car that other high price car builders must imitate.

We do not want you to depend upon what some one else may or may not know about this car. Above all else we want the car to show you how you feel when driving it; the restfulness; the ease; the absence of effort and strain; the feeling of safety; the sureness of control and the thrill! It will revitalize your interest in car driving.

SINGER WINS IN GEM WAR

Court Refuses to Enjoin Mme. Hempel in Jewelry Sale as Asked by Sister, Mrs. Schaper

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Dike today denied Mrs. Helene Schaper an injunction to restrain her sister, Mme. Frieda Hempel, singer, from disposing of jewelry pending determination of proceedings for its recovery.

Justice Dike rebuked Mrs. Schaper for "rash statements against her sister," saying "one is tempted to believe the charge of Mme. Hempel that she is being blackmailed."

Mrs. Schaper alleged that four years ago she gave Mme. Hempel pawn tickets for the jewelry. Mrs. Schaper was without funds, she said, and the understanding was the singer was to protect the jewelry, on which Mrs. Schaper placed a value of $10,000, until her finances were in better condition.

Mrs. Schaper said her sister redeemed the jewelry and offered it for sale to satisfy her lien. Mrs. Schaper added she was informed her sister had changed certain stones in a diamond cross and chain. She also said she had paid for her sister's musical education.

Denying these allegations, Mme. Hempel said the jewelry, worth only $3000, was given as security for a loan of $2000. In order to save the jewelry from pawn, Mme. Hempel said, she was compelled to pay $2800 additional. She said she always was willing to return the jewelry if she were reimbursed for the $4800.

Famed Journalists on List of Sweets Peddler

Woman Immortalized Often by Chicago Writers

CHICAGO, March 25. (AP)—"Apple Mary," the newspaper man's friend, is dead.

The passing of a figure familiar to Chicago newspaperdom for fifty years almost went unnoticed. It was an old printer on one of Chicago's dailies who recognized in the obituary column he was setting up the name, Mrs. Mary L. Cuneo.

There were not many who knew that name but all of the earlier day journalists knew "Apple Mary." Carrying a basket of fruit and candy she visited the newspaper offices every day and every night. When one of her "boys" was sick or broke, "Apple Mary" helped him out.

The subject of many feature stories and mentioned in several short stories and novels, "Apple Mary" became almost a legendary character. Among the men she knew who achieved fame later were Eugene Field, Victor F. Lawson, Carter Harrison, George Ade and Finley Peter Dunne.

Once, years ago, Mary had the grip and did not appear for two days. She was surprised to find reporters flocking to her home and writing of her illness as she had seen them write of the ailments of society leaders.

Agriculture Chief Acts Under Eight-Year-Old Law

Trio Charged With Violating Federal Statute

CHICAGO, March 25. (Exclusive) For the first time since the passage of the Federal Grain Futures Administration Act nearly eight years ago, Chicago Board of Trade members are being called upon by the Secretary of Agriculture to explain their asserted attempts to manipulate grain prices.

The Secretary's complaints involve William B. Massey, John S. Reddy and Philip J. Reddy as respondents, and in substance accuse them of having "attempted and are attempting" to manipulate the price of grain on the Board of Trade, beginning with an asserted bogus sale of grain July 11, 1929. In the period following this sale and up to August 1, these men "through ruses, schemes and devices," caused to be sold not less than 345,000 bushels of December wheat at prices both lower and higher than the real prices existing when these sales were executed, the government charges.

The three grain men are further accused of having violated Federal law by knowingly and carelessly delivering "for transmission through the mails and in interstate commerce by telegraph, telephone, wireless and other means of communication, false and misleading and knowingly inaccurate reports concerning market information and conditions that affect and tend to affect the price of grain in interstate commerce."

The initial sale of grain upon which the Federal authorities base their complaint is said to have been made by Massey as agent for Lamson Brothers & Co., on an order for M. M. Darling at Enid, Okla. Massey is charged with having sold 3000 bushels of wheat to himself at 1 to 1½ cents a bushel under the prevailing quotations at the firm, but reporting the sale as having been made to the Reddy firm. Similar reporting of sales totaling the 345,000 bushels are asserted to have followed.

NUPTIAL WIZARD SPEAKS

Illinois Justice Who "Tied" More Than 900 Couples Sounds Bit of Homey Homily

EVANSTON (Ill.) March 25. (AP)—From the pinnacle of seventy-seven years, Justice of the Peace Harrison looked back today over more than 900 marriages he has celebrated in twenty-six years.

Some of those couples might have made a botch of it, he reflected, but after all, "a bad marriage is better than none."

Here are some of his words of counsel:

"Marry early, but not too often.

"Tell your wife every day, 'I love you.'

"Tell your husband every day, 'How strong you are,' or 'how clever.'

"Do not open each other's letters. You may not like the contents.

"If you must be frank with one another, let it be in private.

"If sometimes it seems hard to be married to him, remember that he has to be married to you.

"Forgive your partner seventy times seven, and then throw away the account book."

And a last word to those still thinking about the plunge:

"The foundation of marriage should be respect for each other's intelligence instead of admiration for each other's face."

DRY AGENTS CAN FOLLOW NOSES

Evidence of Senses Enough for Search, Judge Rules

Warrants Unnecessary When Illicit Brew is Smelled

Decision Upsets Restrictions on Raiding of Homes

MILWAUKEE, March 25. (AP)—Dry agents with visual and olfactory evidence that the liquor laws are being violated may enter a private home without a search warrant, United States Judge Geiger held today. His decision was on a motion to suppress evidence in the case of Joseph Larien of Milwaukee.

The agents came in through a basement door, which Larien slammed in their faces. But they saw a home brewery outfit operating and smelled alcohol or cooking mash before the door was closed, they testified.

Heretofore agents have only been able to enter a home without a search warrant if the owner invited them in for a search or on the owner's admission of violating the law.

YOU ARE PAYING FOR A PACKARD

Why not own one?

The First Cost of Ownership. Just because the first cost of one automobile is lower than another, it does not follow that depreciation is less. Depreciation—one of the major costs of motoring—depends upon the length of time the owner keeps his car. Suppose you are driving a car of similar size to a Packard Standard Eight—but lower in price by half—and trading it in every two years or so. You are paying as much depreciation as you would on the Packard, providing you keep the Packard twice as long.

The After Costs of Ownership. Lower first cost does not mean lower operating and maintenance rates, either. Gasoline, oil and tires cost as much for a half-price car of like size as they do for the Packard Standard Eight. So do license, insurance, garaging and repairs, in the aggregate. It costs you as much, therefore, to operate a half-price car as it would a Packard—and you do not enjoy the beauty, comfort and distinction, the luxury of Packard Eight transportation.

The Natural Conclusion. Why not get what you are paying for? Let us appraise your present car. If it is of average value it will make or exceed the down payment on your new Standard Eight—and the remainder may be arranged on convenient monthly payments. It costs no more to own a Packard. Why not buy one now?

The price of the most popular model of the Packard Standard Eight—the five-passenger Sedan—is but $2485 at the factory. Ten other body styles are available on the 127½ and 134½-inch wheelbases at from $2425 to $2885.

PARALYSIS STUDY AIDED BY VICTIMS

Six Men Admit Drinking Jamaica Ginger Before Losing Control of Legs

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) March 25. (AP) Belief of physicians and State Board of Health officers that the drinking of adulterated Jamaica ginger is the cause of the outbreak of partial paralysis in Kentucky that has resulted in more than 300 reported cases has been substantiated by the case histories of six men brought here for observation and tests.

The six, taken to the Louisville City Hospital from Eastern Kentucky, admitted readily, Dr. C. H. Harris, City Director of Health, said that they had used from two to six ounces of the so-called "jake" daily, drinking it from three to six weeks before they lost control of their legs.

The health officers are awaiting results of blood tests and examinations of the spinal fluid of the patients in the hope light may be shed on the baffling malady.

Numerous samples of the ginger have been collected by the State board, and Mrs. F. C. Dugan, chemist, said one brand bears the label "Made with nonbeverage alcohol."

FILIPINO INFLUX CALLED MENACE

House Urged to Pass Laws Barring Entrance

Welch Says Grave Problem Faces West Coast

Also Declares Californians Want Mexican Curb

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 25. (Exclusive)—Enactment of legislation barring Filipinos from the United States was urged by Representative Welch of San Francisco in a speech in the House today.

He told the House that the influx of Filipinos is the third invasion of this country by "non-assimilable Asiatics" the others being the Chinese and Japanese and that it constitutes "one of the gravest problems that has ever faced the people of the Pacific Coast."

Pointing to the recent race riots in the Pajara Valley, Welch declared the outbreaks "revealed the intense jealousy and racial hatred which the Asiatic immigrants have aroused, but were only what we on the Pacific Coast long have feared as inevitable."

Unless Filipino immigration is checked, Welch said, "the problem is bound to become so acute that it will test every power of our State governments on the West Coast."

AS TO MEXICAN BARS

Asked by Representative Schafer of Wisconsin how his State stands on Mexican immigration, Representative Welch said "in my opinion the majority of Californians are in favor of keeping the Mexicans out."

A little earlier Representative Box of Texas, champion of Mexican exclusion, took the floor to urge action on the pending Johnson bill raising the bars against Mexican immigrants. He declared that Mexicans coming to this country are adding to the agricultural crop surplus and taking jobs away from American citizens.

"It would be hard to imagine anything more absurd," Box said, "than the plight of the Agricultural Department and the Farm Board in pointing out the ruinous overproduction of crops, particularly cotton, while at least some of the officials have urged the public and the Immigration Committee to continue to facilitate and increase the overproduction by the admission of alien Mexican laborers to do this work. Every Mexican laborer who helps do any of this work is in direct competition with native white and colored farm workers, farm tenants and farm-home owners."

REPLIES TO FIGURES

Attempting to answer the official figures showing that the State Department has reduced Mexican immigration by 74.7 per cent in the last eight months by tightening visa requirements, Box declared that this falling off in entries might have been due partly to other causes.

"The volume of Mexican immigration," he said, "fluctuates under many influences, one of which is revolutionary disturbances. There has not been a revolution in Mexico within the last six or eight months, which would at least partially account for a decrease in immigration. The rising and falling of Mexican immigration is not entirely controlled by the discretion of departments of the government as to whether it will enforce the law.

"For instance, during 1924, immigration from Mexico amounted to 87,648. During 1925, the next year, the number of immigrants coming through the stations droped to 32,378, a decrease of 63 per cent. Nobody pretends that our State Department was then in an aroused condition, engaged in an effort to enforce the parts of the immigration law for the administration of which it is responsible.

INVITES INVESTIGATION

"Unless the law is changed as proposed in the bill reported out by the committee, you will have hereafter the same law and the same enforcement organization you have had while these immigrants were pouring into this country creating present conditions. If as is claimed that the State Department has been aroused to enforce the law better during recent months some of us rejoice over the awakening, though it was much belated, and would like to see a statute enacted which will require that the enforcement agencies of the government hold the figure down to the rate proposed in the pending bill.

"We want to nail the proposition down. If any of the departments have slept several years of the past decade we would like to make sure if possible, that they will be awake hereafter. This legislation is necessary. Your committee believes it as shown by the report of eighteen of its twenty-two members. The country believes it. If you doubt this last statement get in touch with the people whose support has backed all the restrictive legislation heretofore written."

GAS MARKETERS SANGUINE

New High in Gasoline Prices Predicted After Current Unsettlement Adjusted; Stocks Act Well

BY EARLE E. CROWE

If experience in the past is any guide to the future, the gasoline war in Southern California should run not less than thirty days and not more than sixty days. Just what the experience will be in this instance is not yet clearly discernible, but it is noticeable that the major marketers are not greatly concerned.

Duration of this price cutting affair will depend on the amount of time required to liquidate excess stocks of gasoline to normal requirements. Stocks now are abnormally high in California and the Pacific Coast. The 18,000,000 barrels in storage compares with approximately 12,000,000 barrels at the same time a year ago.

FULL CORRECTION SLOW

To reduce stocks at least to the same level existing a year ago obviously will take several months' time. The pressing of distress gasoline on the market should be eliminated, however, in a much shorter space of time. When this correction is made, the price cutting war should cease, probably sometime within the next two months.

Major marketers are not worried over the current condition because it is unquestionably a healthy readjustment. Distress gasoline must be moved in some manner, and price cutting seems to be the best remedy available. But the chief reason for the relative unconcern of the marketers is the fact that the economic equation in the oil industry is slowly working into a balance, regardless of temporary price troubles in gasoline.

So sure are some marketing authorities of the early balance of production and consumption in gasoline that predictions are made of a higher level of prices immediately after distress gasoline stocks are absorbed. In two quick rises, it is prophesied, the retail price will be carried above the recent high point to a new level that will permit a larger margin of profit than has been harvested in several years.

CRUDE OIL HIGHER

Two reasons support this prophecy. Crude oil, since the last advance, is 15 cents a barrel higher on the average than the schedule prevailing before the drastic cut late last fall. This increase in the cost of the raw material to gasoline manufacturers is the direct result of progress made in the balancing of production and consumption of crude.

Besides the increased cost of crude, the curtailment of crude oil runs to refineries, now in general force among the major refineries throughout the country, will gradually restore an equilibrium between the production and consumption of gasoline. By reducing gasoline output by one-seventh, according to the curtailment program, refiners are drawing upon storage and will slowly reduce the weight of this burden.

Assuming the refinery curtailment continues, the ultimate correction of excess stocks will take place even without the help of price cutting in the commodity. Price-cutting, however, accelerates the removal of the excess and should bring restoration of economic balance sooner than otherwise.

With gasoline up around 20½ cents or higher and crude oil prices stable at current levels, the oil shares would rest in a comfortable position. From the manner in which oil shares act now, this prospect is well understood by the stock market.

Net income during 1929 was $197,531,000, which is a high record for a peace-time year. This compared with $114,174,000 in 1928.

SHIP LINES IN WORKING PACT

Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd Join in Co-operative Agreement

BERLIN, March 25. (AP)—Almost at the very moment the German liner Europa had seized the blue ribbon of the ocean, the Hamburg-American and the North German Lloyd steamship lines announced today they had completed a fifty-year co-operative agreement to end competition.

The announcement was made in a joint communique issued in two cities by directors of the organizations—in Hamburg by Dr. Cuno of the Hamburg-America Line and in Bremen by Herr Seineken of the North German Lloyd.

In these venerable Hanseatic cities it was indicated that the argeement was a union of convenience only.

Both concerns had to swallow much pride, it is conceded, and overcome their deep-seated rival feeling. Necessity caused the shipping agreement which Emperor William II vainly suggested in 1913.

The new combine places the German group third in the world from the viewpoint of tonnage. The Royal Mail Line has 2,700,000 tons, the Peninsula and Oriental 2,500,000, the Hamburg-America-North German Lloyd combination, 2,000,000, and Cunard 1,200,000.

These figures, however, do not include third companies in which Hamburg-America and North German Lloyd have large interests—namely, Hamburg-South America, Woermann Line, German-East Africa Line and Bremen-Hansa.

As it is generally regarded that these must inevitably join the combination, Germany probably will soon have in one pool tonnage exceeding 3,000,000.

In trans-Atlantic passenger traffic, the agreement placed the combination second only to the Cunard Line, which in 1929 carried 25.2 per cent of the entire passenger traffic westward and 24.8 per cent eastward, while Hamburg-America and North German Lloyd together carried 17.4 per cent westward and 16.8 eastward.

WHO'S WHO IN CHASE BANK

Brief Sketches Given of Men Directing Policies of Largest Institution in World

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, March 25.—Wiggin—McHugh—McCain—Aldrich are the "big four" in the $2,800,000,000 Chase National Bank.

Before the recent merger, the Chase National Bank was the sixth and the Equitable Trust and twelfth among the $1,000,000,000 money organizations in existence. When the sixth and the twelfth merged, it made the Chase the biggest bank in the world, with another New York bank, the National City, second. Two London banks, the Midland and Llodys, are third and fourth, with fifth place held by the Guaranty Trust of New York.

The new Chase National Bank will have $368,000,000 of capital funds, compared to $292,000,000 for the Guaranty Trust, and $239,650,000 for the National City Bank.

But what about the men who direct its banking policy? Albert H. Wiggin, 62 years of age, chairman of the governing board and a preacher's son, was born at Medfield, Mass., went to work early and has been a banker all his life. When he joined the Chase National Bank its resources were but $56,000,000. To this aggressive, ambitious man must go much of the credit for the Chase's leadership. A member of sixteen clubs, a hard worker when he works, Mr. Wiggin is widely known and well liked.

John McHugh, 64 years of age, born in Bellville, Can., immigrated at 26 years of age to the United States. He gained his early banking experience in Iowa as president of the First National Bank, Sioux City.

Fifteen years ago, he left Iowa to become president of the Old Metals and Mechanics' Bank in New York. When it merged with the Chase, he became president. Now, one of the solid bankers of the street, he continues as chairman of the executive committee.

Charles S. McCain, 46 years of age, born at Pine Bluff, Ark., received his early schooling at Little Rock, graduated from Yale in 1904, and was a Phi Beta Kappa man. He returned to Little Rock and advanced to the presidency of the Bankers' Trust Company there. Later he entered New York as vice-president of the National Park Bank, and ten years later became its president.

Some one has said that when the Chase merged with the National Park "it gained two important assets—money and McCain." This southern banker moves into the chairmanship of the board of directors of the new Chase bank.

Winthrop W. Aldrich, 44 years of age, son of the late Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is a Harvard graduate in both arts and law. He came to New York in 1912 and, except for a year in the Army, he has practiced law ever since. He is a director of many corporations, particularly of railroads. Among these railroads may be mentioned the Western Maryland, Western Pacific and Denver and Rio Grande. But more intimately, Mr. Aldrich, who becomes the new president, represents the vast Rockefeller interests.

This record aggregation of nearly $3,000,000,000 of banking resources—what does it portend? How big can banks grow? Francis H. Sisson of the Guaranty Trust Company, probably answered it as well as anybody when he said:

"A bank can be as big as it is useful. Growth in size is accomplished only through growth in the work to be done."

From the talk one hears, there

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—Prices of numerous pivotal domestic bonds eased in an active market today. Several of the important rails lost as much as a point, while investment utilities, which ran a close race with the carriers in the bustling days of last week, also encountered selling. United States governments closed from 2 to 8-32 below the Monday final quotations.

The tendency to seek lower ground was attributed largely to liquidation by banks. When money dropped to 2 per cent last week these institutions, which had been uninterested in bonds during the eighteen months prior to about February 1, bought with a rush, apparently in the belief, it was pointed out today, that a period of phenomenally cheap money had come for an indefinite sojourn. Subsequent developments indicated, however, that the low interest rates of last Thursday were only coincident with an unusual situation attendant upon the Treasury financing and the income tax payments, and with money back to 4 and 3½ per cent some of the securities purchased last week are finding their way back to the market.

Among the investment issues declining at least a point on fairly large turnovers were American Telephone 5½s, Rock Island 4½s, Great Northern 4½s, New York Central 6s and 3½s, the New Pere Marquette 4½s, and Union Pacific 4½s. Losses of nearly a point appeared in International Telephone 5s, United States Rubber 5s, North American Edison 5s and Chicago Great Western 4s. The last named closed nearly 3 points under its top.

Chicago and Eastern Illinois 5s continued to show strength on reports of Van Sweringen purchases into the road. Keystone Telephone 5s rose and Marion Steam Shovel 6s improved 6 points.

Convertibles turned heavy in the late trading as stocks lost their gains. American Telephone 4½s made a new high since the market break by touching 169, but the closing price of 166⅜ was ⅝ below the previous final.

There were fractional declines in Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, International Telephone 4½s, Texas Corporation 5s and Southern Pacific 4½s, with warrants.

Foreign bonds were well supported. Belgium 7s made a new high of 109½.

Two railroads revealed plans for new financing. The Virginian Railway, which has a $5,000,000 issue of 5s in its treasury, asked authority to replace it with a 4½ per cent loan. The Nickel Plate requested permission to sell a $12,000,000 issue of 4½s. Both are fifty-year bonds and both will be offered at 94½.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stocks Close Generally Firm After Early Advance; Standard Oil Features

Reactionary movements swept through the last hour of trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday to halt the extended advance of Monday's session. Trading activity held near the high level of the preceding day as through the morning part of the session the list continued in an upward direction in response to a strong New York market which was attributed partly to the progress made toward an early settlement of tariff problems.

The late reaction, however, was of minor proportions and, while the main body of stocks closed in an irregular fashion, a majority either ended firm or marked a fractional improvement.

Standard Oil of California featured the market with an advance of more than 1 1-2 points to a new top for the year at 66. The issue traded rapidly and ended at 65 3-4, up 1 3-8 net. All the other oil stocks moved up in sympathy with Standard during the early trading and, after receding fractionally toward the close ended generally firm or slightly higher.

Southern California Edison, which held the spotlight Monday, continued to lead the activity and opened up at 64, a new high for the year, after discounting the rights. The stock sold down to a close at 63, off 1-2 net. The rights, after opening at 3.75, reacted to 3.65, off 15 cents net. Pacific Lighting rights held to 5. Pacific Public Service was a popular trader, but also reacted near the close to end at 35 3-4, off 3-4 net. Pacific Gas dropped back a point to 69 1-2.

Western Air Express, another recent feature, slipped back 1-4 to 42 3-4, and Douglas Aircraft dipped a similar amount to 20 1-4.

Transamerica traded briskly to yield 1-4 to 44 1-2, while California Bank advanced a point to 116 and Security-First National held firm at the same price. Pacific Mutual continued upward with an advance of 1 1-2 points to a new top at 88 1-2 and closed at 88. The rights advanced 15 cents to a new high at 3.90.

Sales totaled 54,602 shares, valued at $1,209,791; previous day, 74,893 shares, valued at $1,484,792.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25. (AP)—Cross-currents carried western stocks up or down in a highly selective market on the stock exchange today. Oils predominated in the bull section, and industrials took the brunt of a selling attack. Five record 1930 lows more than matched the four highs for the first time in many sessions. Volume was large at 59,713 shares bringing $2,233,094.

Tide Water Oil's preferred stock jumped 7½ points to a new high at 89, while a rumor of eastern investment interest, possibly on merger potentialities, was circulated, little news was available that "the street" was willing to accept as the reason for the rise. North American closed up a point after hitting a new high at 19⅞, and Standard was up 1⅜ after setting a new top at 66⅛. All three settled fractionally at the close. The trading element was inclined to attach more importance to prospects of the oil industry to overcome production floods than to price wars, with gasoline reported selling as low as 10 cents. So the group recorded numerous fractional gains, and closed strong.

Utilities "consolidated" yesterday's sharp gains. San Joaquin 7s rose 1¼, and the 6s went fractionally higher to a 1930 top at 102½. A few other gains failed to match declines of 3 points by Pacific Lighting, and 1½ by Pacific Gas, both influenced by profit-taking.

West Coast Bancorporation continued its drop after recent merger news, losing 1½. Transamerica held steady.

Industrials were hard hit, with California Cotton declining more than 4 points to a new low at 31½, recovering slightly later, and with Byron Jackson at 17, Hawaiian Sugar at 49, Paraffine at 73½ and Schlesinger A at 7 all at new lows. Hawaiian Sugar and Atlas Diesel lost a point each.

AMERICAN WOOLEN COMPANY REPORTS

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) March 25. All officers were re-elected in the annual meeting of the American Woolen Company stockholders here today. The report of President Andrew G. Pierce showed a net loss for the year of $4,228,190, which he blamed to a drastic decline in raw material prices and a heavy annual charge for depreciation. He said, however, the company was never so strong financially and needed only normal goods buying and stabilized raw-material markets to demonstrate the earning possibilities.

CUNEO PRESS NET IN SHARP DECLINE

CHICAGO, March 25. (Exclusive) Cuneo Press, Inc., in its 1929 report, which was issued today, showed consolidated net income of $1,311,834, equal to $6.71 a share on 171,250 shares of common stock after preferred dividends, as against $4.34 a common share on 171,500 common shares in 1928. Directors authorized the first cash disbursement on the present no-par common shares through the declaration of an initial quarterly dividend of 62½ cents, payable May 1 to stock of record April 15.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Fokker Aircraft with a turnover of 8000 shares continued to feature operations yesterday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. The market as a whole followed the trend on the senior board, reacting slightly after early strength. The group of lower-priced issues, however, generally sustained the advance on particularly active trading.

Fokker scored another new top for the year at 29½ and reacted to end at 28 5-8, off 1-8 net. Claude Neon traded briskly with a turnover of more than 2000 shares and firmed up 1-4 to 18 3-4. The Neon Company of China receded another point to 18. Pacific Associates moved up 1-4 to a new high at 30 1-4.

Sales totaled 78,347 shares valued at $425,236; previous day, 52,418 shares valued at $374,452.

RUMORS OF KINNER FINANCING SPIKED

Robert Porter, chairman of the Kinner Airplane and Motor Corporation, stated yesterday that the company has ample working capital and that no plans are being made to issue rights to stockholders at this time. Current assets as of the 1st inst., he said, totaled $825,000, or more than ten times current liabilities of $79,000. Cash on hand amounted to $160,000, in addition to C.O.D. in transit of about $60,000. The company has more orders on hand than at any time in its history, Mr. Porter said, and that future financing plans are dependent entirely on the volume of business.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—Trading on the curb exchange set a new high record for the year today with a turnover of 1,363,500 shares, but the bull movement, which sent scores of issues to new high levels for the year early, was checked in the last hour by a heavy volume of profit taking and short selling. In only a sprinkling of volatile issues were the day's gains entirely wiped out, although most of the leaders closed below their peak prices of the day. The previous record turnover was 1,346,200 shares on the 18th inst.

Buying orders embraced a fairly broad list, with the oils and utilities again giving the best demonstration of group strength. The early demand for stocks received its chief impetus from a lowering of the call money rate and the passage of the Senate tariff bill.

United Gas issues were the leaders in activity, total transactions in the old and new stocks and warrants comprising about one-fifth of the day's entire business. The old and new stocks closed with net gains of about a point each at 44¾ and 27¾, respectively, after having set new high records about a point above those levels. Lone Star Gas touched a new high at 43½. Dixie Gas Utilities at 23 and American Natural Gas at 15½, with merger and expansion rumors again the chief background for the rise.

Electric Bond and Share was again a laggard, showing a net loss of 1¾ points at 100⅞.

Oils made a further response to the reported reduction in crude oil production last week. Humble ran up more than 7 points to a new high at 114¾, but lost nearly half its gain. Indian Territorial, Ohio Oil and Standard Oils of Indiana and Ohio also reached new high ground, while Gulf closed a point higher at 151 after having hit 154.

Revival of speculative activity in American Cyanamid "B," based on predictions of record-breaking earnings for the year ended June 30, next, sent that stock to a new high at 37, but it dropped back to 35⅝, up 1 point net. Anglo Chilean Nitrate, Consolidated Laundries, Deere & Co. issues, Merchants and Manufacturers "A," Pacific Coast Biscuit issues, and Zonite sold at new peaks.

Investment Trust and Trading Corporation issues were irregular. General Realty and Utilities issues broke into new high ground, the annual report published after the close showing earnings of $1.62 a share last year, with a profit of $565,209 reported on stocks sold since the first of the year. Tri-Continental common also attained a new top.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

NATURAL GAS

SUPERIOR — a fuel, particularly in industry .... low in price .... here we have two of the reasons for the impetus which its use received in 1929 .... and which is gaining momentum with every month.

In the opinion of leading authorities the Natural Gas Industry occupies a position similar to that of electric light and power a decade ago .... the same rapid growth is directly ahead of it and the securities of ably managed natural gas companies present opportunities for liberal income and profit.

Our survey "A New Era in Natural Gas," setting forth the position of the leading companies in the industry, will interest investors. A copy will be sent upon request. Clip coupon and mail.

What the
offers the prudent investor!

Coming months may lay foundation for another great advance in security prices

WHETHER the upswing will start in the near future or a year from now, does not greatly matter. The essential fact to consider is that during the months that followed every panic in the present century—1907, 1914, 1920-21—foresighted investors were able to buy sound stocks at levels below those reached in any subsequent break. There is every reason to believe that similar opportunities are ahead.

Now that the panic is behind us, the task of investing surplus funds has returned to a basis where sober, intelligent judgment again prevails. The crash has dynamited us out of a "new era" of seemingly "easy profits" into a period in which actual values really count.

What significance do these changes hold for the investor of today?

Greater opportunities—greater problems

First of all, they mean greater opportunities. As long as security price movements were governed by enthusiasm and hysteria rather than by balanced judgment, the prudent investor had good reason to stand aside. Today it is time to prepare for definite, constructive action. It is time to formulate a definite investment program "tailored to fit" your individual requirements and to make the most of the opportunities that lie ahead.

Second, the "return to reason" has created greater problems for the investor. If balanced judgment is to prevail, the investor must use greater care in selecting and watching his investments.

It will not be sound policy to buy securities indiscriminately in the expectation that all stocks, in a wave of buying enthusiasm, will be carried upward with the good issues when the upturn finally starts. Nor will it be sound policy to eliminate all stocks from consideration because of a market collapse a few months ago. Certainly if true values really count, adequate information and sound counsel were never more necessary to determine which of the thousands of securities available really offer the highest degree of safety and the greatest promise of growth in value as well.

Greater need for facts

Third, your investment decisions can be no better than your sources of information and counsel. Facts alone can answer such vital questions as: What is the trend of fundamental forces underlying security prices? When is a reversal in trend likely to take place? What industries will be the most prosperous? Which companies in these industries offer the best investment opportunities? What proportion of your total investment should be in bonds? What proportion in common stocks? Preferred stocks? What changes in ratio between these classes of securities should you make from time to time to meet new conditions?

To answer these questions wisely, would require facilities to gather essential information from thousands of sources, time to analyze and interpret this information correctly and to apply the conclusions to your personal investment policy and holdings. The work, properly done, would require more hours than there are in the day and more knowledge and experience than could be accumulated by one man in a lifetime.

Through the Services published by the Standard Statistics Company, you also may secure the exact type of information and advice you need to meet your specific problems.

Solving the problem for you

(3) A force of field investigators, analysts and economists in leading centers of the United States continually watching for new developments. Picture the benefits of the practical counsel such an organization could give you if their combined efforts were focused on your personal problems—if their advice were presented to you, on their initiative, in the form of definite recommendations telling just what and when to buy and sell, and why.

This is exactly what Standard Supervisory Service can give you.

Standard Supervisory Service

If you have an investment in securities large enough to warrant the payment of a fee ranging from $1500 a year upward for sound guidance, the Standard Supervisory Service is meant for you. Supervisory Service is not a printed service. It is a strictly personal service built around the individual requirements of each client. Because of the personal nature of Supervisory Service, we can accept only a relatively few large accounts.

The particular type of service we would render to you would depend, in large part, upon the manner in which your investment and speculative funds are employed. As long as your investment policy is sound and your objectives capable of fulfillment, we are prepared to render a service built to order around your particular needs. It follows that there is no fixed fee for Supervisory Service. Its price can only be determined after personal confidential consultation.

If you feel that such a Service meets your needs, please fill out the coupon below. It will be a pleasure to give you additional information about the Supervisory Service and its adaptability to your problems in the current market.

STOCKS TUMBLE IN BEAR ATTACK

little too drastic. Bankers felt that conditions promised a plentiful supply of call money at reasonable rates for some time to come, but the firmer tone in bankers acceptances, together with continued strength in sterling exchange, made it seem less likely the Federal Reserve Bank will again follow the action of the Bank of England in reducing its rate.

F. W. Dodge's weekly building contract statistics were the most cheerful in a long time, showing a total volume of construction contracted during the week ended last Friday 29 per cent above the total of the previous week, and nearly as much above the like week of last year. Steel trade reports indicated United States Steel was maintaining operations at 80 per cent of capacity this week, the first week in three that operations have not been curtailed. Estimates of crude-oil production for last week indicate continued success in curtailment.

The early bull movement carried about 100 issues to new high levels for the year, including United States Steel, American Can, Eastman Kodak and American Telepone. Several issues presented isolated points of strength during the late selling, including Standard of New Jersey, Bethlehem Steel, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Air Reduction, and A. M. Byers, which closed 2 to 6 points higher, and close to their best levels of the day.

Vanadium shot up 5 points, then dropped 10 from the top. Western Union dropped 12 points to a new low at 177, in response to the annual report, indicating a reduction of earnings this year. United States Steel closed off 2 points, and Pacific Lighting, Pacific Gas, J. I. Case, Underwood-Elliott, Auburn, Goodyear, Standard Gas and Macy lost 2 to 3 points.

Commodities turned downward. Wheat futures lost about 1 to 2 points, reflecting bearish foreign and domestic crop reports, and corn lost about half as much. Cotton was somewhat unsettled, futures prices closing irregular.

Sterling Cables touched $4.87, up 1-8 cent, and the highest since early January.

Decentralized Branch Banking

Testifying before the House Banking and Currency Committee on branch banking extension, J. W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, drew a deplorable picture of the experience of rural banking over the last decade, which has been a record of failure for both national and state banks. More than four-fifths of all the banks in the United States are situated in small towns. For the eight years ended with 1927, 71% of the banks that failed were capitalized below $50,000, and 88% under $100,000. About 92% of the failures occurred in communities having less than 10,000 population. In nine years 5,640 banks failed with aggregate deposits of $1,721,000,000. It is estimated that 7,264,900 depositors were affected and no less than 114,000 shareholders suffered losses.

The unfortunate part of this unstable situation is that it was not identified with any particular post-war period. It still continues. In 1929 there were 640 bank failures, tying up $234,000,000 of deposits, the greatest of any year in the decade except 1926. In the first six weeks of this year there have been 131 additional failures.

This is a high price to pay to prove that the unit bank method has outlived its usefulness. The fact that there are many prosperous and thriving banks in small towns is no reason for adhering to a system that has proved archaic. Few of the so-called country banks have been able to meet the conditions which have developed since the war. Customers look for the banking facilities of the big cities with which they are now closely linked by modern conveniences. There have been no failures in ten years among metropolitan banks having a capital of more than $2,000,000. The argument that a branch of a city bank has not the same interest in a rural community as a local bank overlooks the greater facilities of the former. Besides having an investment at stake in its branch, competition of other branches would naturally insure maximum service.

As a remedy the comptroller puts forward the suggestion of decentralizing banking capital through a system of regional branch banking; that is, by permitting branches to emanate from and develop around metropolitan areas other than New York City. This would give the rural communities the benefit of the strong city banks, while it would help to build up these cities into strong financial centers.

"Instead of nearly all the largest banks being situated in New York City," he says, "there would be .

Wheat Futures Turn Lower on Bearish News

CHICAGO, March 25. (AP)—Wheat prices suffered material setbacks today, as a result of free selling and general slackening of demand. Snowfalls throughout a large part of domestic winter wheat territory were taken as presaging an increased crop and much attention was given to announcement that world shipments of wheat have been reduced to the smallest total of any week since 1925. Forecasts that spring wheat acreage in the United States and Canada would be curtailed respectively 10 and 6 per cent were current, but as an offset to bearish factors had little or no success.

Chicago closing prices were weak, ⅛@2¾ cents a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛@1½c down, oats ⅜@⅝c off and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal advance.

Persistent selling pressure that was manifest in wheat from the beginning widened out into something akin to a stop-loss flurry before trading was at an end. Relatively slow response which European quotations today made to advances yesterday on this side of the Atlantic did much to stimulate bearish sentiment here, and it was generally considered that the widespread heavy snows would be likely to benefit winter wheat by affording needed moisture, as well as protection against cold. Meanwhile, export purchases of North American wheat amounted to only about 450,000 bushels, and this total was presumed to be altogether Canadian-grown.

Active buying support from Farm Board allies came into play in the wheat pit after price downturns apparently threatened to become acute.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

COPRA, HEMP

Condition of the copra and hemp markets of the Philippine Islands is summarized in the following radiogram from George Howard, American Trade Commissioner at Manila, issued yesterday by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the United States Department of Commerce, Los Angeles:

Copra price declined throughout February and declining continues into March. Copra production about 50 per cent compared same period last year, and arrivals continue very low. March receipts at Manila to 18th inst. were 88,083 bags; Cebu to 14th inst., 93,634 bags. Three mills continue to operate. Leaf-miner situation still critical in affected districts, as winds have carried pest into new territory, despite efforts to establish dead line. Prices today: Manila, 10; Cebu, 10.25; Hondagua and Legaspi, 9.875.

Hemp market dull during February, with continued downward prices and small buying by all markets. At this date, hemp market continues in most depressed condition, with small inquiry from United States, except for a little in binder twine grades, which London manufacturers not buying and small interest confined to speculators. Receipts from February 3 to the 3rd inst. were 125,368 bales; exports same period, 118,398, of which United States took 37,157. Production expected to continue normal, despite low prices. Prices today nominal: E, 23; F, 20½; I, 17½; JUS, 14½; JUK, 13½; L, 11½.

NEW SHIPYARD CHIEF AT PORT

Says Program of Operation Practically Ready

Expects to Take Charge of Plant on April 1

Prospects Held Bright for Building Contracts

BY WALDO DRAKE

Except for minor details, the plans for operation of the yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation by George A. Armes, San Francisco shipbuilder, are practically complete. Mr. Armes made that announcement at the port yesterday and said that unless unforeseen difficulties arise he will assume charge on April 1, next.

He denied, however, that he is in possession of any contracts for new ship construction; explaining that he is taking over the local plant on the assumption that he will be able to secure a percentage of construction contracts for some twenty new vessels now projected for immediate building. He added that the plans of the four $5,000,000 intercoastal liners to be built by the Panama Mail Line, on which Gibbs Brothers of New York, are now engaged, will not be ready for submission to shipbuilders until April 25. That means, said Mr. Armes, that bids cannot be tendered by competing shipyards until about June 15.

"I feel optimistic though, about taking over the plant here and our chances in the fight for new building contracts," he declared. "These negotiations have been going on for the past three and a half years and they are nearer fruition than at any time. It has been a three-cornered deal, myself, the bondholders and the stockholders. I now have the backing of the bondholders and I think we have the confidence of the stockholders. I think I will take over the plant next Tuesday. If I don't there will be no further negotiations."

Mr. Armes said he plans to divide his time between the local yards and the General Engineering and Drydock Company, of which he is president, but that the Los Angeles plant will be operated on an entirely independent basis.

The negotiations between Mr. Armes and stockholders of the Los Angeles Lumber Products Company, of which the shipyard is a subsidiary, took a turn for the better last week, when local and San Francisco financial houses, holding $3,500,000 in bonds against the parent company, gave the plan a vote of confidence by agreeing against withdrawal of the bonds.

DOLLAR ADMITS EXPANSION PLANS

The Dollar Steamship Lines not only is negotiating with the Federal government for a service between the Pacific Coast and North Europe, but is hopeful of getting it, it was admitted over the telephone yesterday by R. Stanley Dollar, general manager, following his arrival in San Francisco. He could not understand why another officer denied such negotiations. "They have been under way eighteen months," he said.

Mr. Dollar also said details of the proposal to merge with the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company would be released in a day or two; that they were held up pending the return of Roger D. Lapham, head of American-Hawaiian. Lapham reached the Bay City Monday.

The Dollar executive also admitted having financial interest in the Goodyear-Zeppelin project for a lighter-than-air service between California and Hawaii, and that plans are progressing. Likewise he made the first formal statement that the two lines being built in Newport News Shipbuilding Company's yards are for the Dollar company.

Manufacturer of the parachute worn by the Prince of Wales on his recent English flights, is H. R. McClintock, president of the Russell Parachute Company of San Diego, due with several score passengers tomorrow on the Panama Mail liner Venezuela from New York. McClintock was with the Prince on these flights and later organized a branch of his company in London. Other travelers to disembark here include Frank Elliott, leading man for Billy Burke in "Family Affairs," who will be cast here in talking pictures. Continuing on the line's motorship City of San Francisco yesterday, to the Bay City, was Miss Marian Nahl, daughter of the pearl king of Lower California. She is bound for Paris.

Northbound coastwise traffic is picking up rapidly, according to the Pacific Shipper, with increased shipments of citrus products an outstanding item. New carload commodity rates are effective April 21 between Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego. Between Los Angeles and San Francisco the rates on rubber tires will be cut to 28 cents, steel sash 32 cents per 100 pounds, carload rates on autos reduced to 50 cents per 100 pounds and rough-rolled glass cut to 20 cents.

The Navy Hydrographic Office at San Pedro will enter an exhibit at the Boat Show at the Ambassador Auditorium the 29th inst. to April 5, next. Exhibits include charts of ocean currents, weather, aviation charts, books on navigation and meteorological charts. Commander R. J. Weeks and Maurice J. Kelly, engineer aide, will have charge.

A momentous two years have lapsed for the British tank steamer Vimeira, now in port, since she was here last. She hit an iceberg in the North Atlantic and was towed 650 miles. Last fall an explosion at Rotterdam rent the ship and killed nine of her crew. She is loading 60,000 barrels of kerosene and will sail for Yokohama for Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Company today.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25. (AP)—Crowley tugboat No. 24 sank in the Oakland Estuary today after a collision with the freighter Orinda. The three occupants of the tug, Pilot Jack Johnson, George Sallbred, engineer, and William Connelly, leaped into the water after the crash and were picked up by a small boat from the Coast Guard base at Government Island. None were injured. The Orinda hit the smaller craft amidships, and it sank in a few minutes. The freighter was undamaged.

Plans for construction of a new Cunard liner of more than 60,000 tons, 1000 feet long and with an average speed of twenty-eight knots, have reached an advanced stage, Arthur E. Swezey, the line's manager here, announced today. Shipping authorities believe the cost of the vessel will be approximately $25,000,000 and she will take three years to complete.

The motorship City of San Francisco, from Cristobal and way ports, will arrive here tomorrow about noon, radio advices received from the vessel today disclosed. She has a fair-sized passenger list and a heavy cargo aboard.

PORTLAND, March 25.—About 170,000 bushels of wheat was dispatched today aboard the Kawasaki Line steamer Italy Maru for Moji. With parcels already floated for the Orient and Europe this month and a full cargo to be cleared on the British motorship Vinemoor next week, observers predicted that March wheat exports from this district would be near 600,000 bushels.

Carrying Porto Rico cargo in addition to shipments for ports on the east coast of South America, the steamer West Ira of the Pacific Argentine Brazil Line, sailed from here tonight. Local commitments destined for Porto Rico included newsprint, fir ceiling, lumber and wrapping paper. Lumber made up the principal consignments for Montevideo and Buenos Aires.

SEATTLE, March 25.—No longer will shippers in the Pacific Northwest be forced to wait for repair spars and cargo booms. The Spar Manufacturers, Inc., of Seattle, today announced the installation of a giant lathe capable of turning out spars up to 125 feet long.

Heretofore ship booms, spars and other timbers had to be worked out by hand in Seattle. Numerous orders have been received from boats at sea for repair parts to be ready when the ship arrives in Seattle.

Giving a complete summary of maritime developments for the year 1929, the annual book of the port of Seattle was ready for distribution today.

MAN ENDS LIFE DURING LOVE SONG

Radio Plays "I Love You Truly" and Suicide's Note Tells Wife of Affection

SEATTLE, March 25. (AP)—While a radio played "I Love You Truly" in the modest home from which he had ejected his wife last Sunday, Nat Bradt, 35-year-old Seattle plumber, ended his life with a shot from a small-caliber rifle here today.

Bradt left a note telling his wife he had always loved her truly, "but didn't have sense enough to show it," and revealing that the radio station had broadcast his favorite melody at his request. When police broke into the barricaded house they found the radio still repeating the words of the love song.

Mrs. Bradt, who was staying with friends, revealed that she had quarreled with her husband at a party. The Bradts were married in Michigan nine years ago.

Bloody Affray Ends Abduction

McALLEN (Tex.) March 25. (AP) Refusal of a senorita to marry today resulted in the death of the suitor, the serious wounding of the girl and her brother, and the filing of murder charges against her father.

The father, Margarito Casanova, disarmed Argonez and then stabbed him to death.

POLISH CABINET JOB BAFFLES SZYMANSKI

WARSAW, March 25. (AP)—After a week of efforts to form a new government, Prof. Szymanski, President of the Senate and well-known oculist, indicated tonight he will be unable to form a Cabinet to succeed that of Premier Casimir Bartel, who resigned the 14th inst. The immediate cause of his failure was the refusal of representative Deputies of the Sejm to accept conditions laid down by Marshal Pilsudski, former dictator and "strong man" of Poland, who had been asked to take the Ministry of War.

The discovery, that the great cause of all leg troubles is lack of circulation, enables Dr. Clason to develop a "walking treatment" that circulates the blood, stops suffering and heals, after all else fails. No laying up is necessary for varicose veins, ulcers, eczema, milk leg, swelling, fever leg, phlebitis, pains, aches, cramps, itching or open sores. Get well at home while working. NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Hoover Aplaude a los Automovilistas Expedicionarios

GUAYMAS (Sonora, Méjico) Marzo 25.—Este viaje de exploración de caminos, patrocinado por el Automobile Club, se está convirtiendo en un encantador suceso internacional con significación aún más grande que la ya importante de abrir carreteras. En el banquete que nos dieron en Hermosillo, Phil Townsend Hanna leyó la carta siguiente del presidente Hoover:

"Estimado señor Hanna:

"He sabido con gusto que va usted a emprender un viaje en automóvil a través de Méjico con la mira de promover el entusiasmo en favor de un camino real panamericano. Este movimiento es de gran perspectiva, y promete afianzar nuestros lazos de amistad con nuestros vecinos del sur, ya que tiende a facilitar las comunicaciones de este país con las de ellos. En tal virtud, yo le deseo a usted, de modo muy especial, todo éxito en su viaje."

"De usted atentamente ,(Firmado) Herbert Hoover."

Cuando salimos esta mañana de Hermosillo, el gobernador Elías nos dio un mensaje del presidente Ortiz Rubio, en el que éste dice que apelará a todos los recursos del gobierno mejicano para que nuestra estancia sea satisfactoria y feliz.

Box Pide la Aprobación del Proyecto de Ley de Johnsen

El diputado Box, demócrata de Tejas, ha pedido hoy en la cámara que se vote el proyecto de ley de Johnson para extender al hemisferio occidental los cupos de inmigración, e impedir de ese modo que aumente el número de brazos parados. Dice que, tras haber estudiado lo que ocurre en las regiones del país donde hay gran población mejicana, se ha convencido de que la importación de braceros mejicanos agrava la falta de trabajo en esos lugares y determina sobreproducción de cosechas, con consiguiente malestar para los labradores norteamericanos.

El proyecto de ley de Johnson limita la inmigración iberoamericana a 73,000 por año—entre ellos, 2900 mejicanos. La comisión de Inmigración de la cámara ha informado favorablemente sobre él; pero dúdase que sea llevado a debate ante la cámara.

El Nuevo Transatlántico Conquista la Corona de la Velocidad

NUEVA YORK, Marzo 25.—Hoy subió al trono del rey de los mares, a virtud de su velocidad, el nuevo transatlántico "Europa", de la Nord-Deutscher Lloyd, de Bremen (Alemania). Hizo su primera travesía cruzando el Atlántico, y le arrebató la corona a su hermano, el vapor Bremen.

Este sabueso marítimo de 51,000 toneladas pasó frente al buque-faro Ambrose a las 5:45 a.m. de hoy, de lo que resulta que empleó cuatro días, diecisiete horas, seis minutos, en recorrer las 3100 millas que hay entre Cherburgo (Francia) y el citado faro. Su velocidad media fue de 27.9 nudos por hora.

Ha mejorado, pues, en dieciocho minutos la marca anterior establecida en Octubre próximo pasado por el Bremen, que, en dicha ocasión, mejoró a su vez en dieciocho minutos la marca de su primer viaje efectuado en Julio próximo pasado, cuando logró destronar al transatlántico "[illegible]" de la Cunard, que por tanto [illegible] servó el campeonato de la [illegible] Europa-América.

AT SANATORIUM TO CONQUER COLD

ACTRESS TO TAKE REST FOR HEALTH

Rene Adoree Recovering from Bronchial Affection at La Crescenta

Rene Adoree, petite French girl of motion-picture fame, is in a sanatorium to wage a fight for health. Miss Adoree, who climbed to fame almost overnight in a role in a war picture several years ago, is in a sanatorium at La Crescenta.

She was removed to the sanatorium Monday when she fell victim to a relapse of a bronchial cold from which she has suffered for a number of months, according to intimate friends. It was said last night that her condition is not serious but that her doctor has ordered that no visitors be permitted. Present plans, he said, are for her to remain at the sanatorium until about August for a complete rest.

For a number of months, friends said, Miss Adoree has been suffering from a severe cold in her throat and bronchial tubes. Three months ago she took a trip to Mexico City, when her ailment became worse. On her return to Hollywood, however, she improved but when the cold returned last week her physician sent her to the sanatorium.

Miss Adoree has been fairly successful in the silent drama and scored her biggest dramatic hit opposite John Gilbert in "The Big Parade,"

BELL PETITIONS' QUIZ LAUNCHED

District Attorney Orders Plot Inquiry

Grand Jury May be Asked to Investigate

Thousands of Signatures Said to be Forged

Grand jury investigation of charges of forgery and conspiracy in connection with the circulation of the Bell cement plant referendary petitions was indicated last night by Chief Trial Deputy Beecher of the District Attorney's office, when he announced that, if warranted, the findings of investigators from the Fitts office will be given to the county's inquisitorial body.

Several witnesses connected with the circulation of the petitions were questioned yesterday and others will be called in today, Deputy Beecher stated.

Arthur A. Weber, manager of the Miramar Estates and a bitter opponent of the scheme of Alphonzo Bell to establish cement rock quarries in the Santa Monica Mountains, complained Monday that in his opinion thousands of names had been forged on the referendary petitions recently circulated in the city seeking to call an election on the two ordinances which granted Bell the rights he asked.

EVIDENCE FOUND

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Moses was assigned to conduct the probe and cursory examinations yesterday were declared to have revealed facts worthy of further investigation.

"It is a clear case of forgery," Dep. Dist.-Atty. Beecher said. "There also may be a conspiracy back of it to violate the election laws. If so, this department will go to the bottom of it. We will call for questioning Jack Steele, who, we understood, started to circulate anti-Bell petitions and then quit. It is understood that several circulators who had been hired by Steele later worked for Richmond P. Benton, who had charge of the circulation of the referendary petitions, and that complaint is made of the work done by them. We want to know all about it.

"If there is a conspiracy anywhere we hope to uncover the facts and to act accordingly. I have not seen the petitions, but I have been told that one sheet containing 100 names is 100 per cent forgery and that apparently all the names have been written by a few persons.

CONFERENCE TODAY

"The petitions are in the hands of City Clerk Domingues and our investigators have not yet looked them over. We are calling in important witnesses tomorrow and several were heard today. From what we have heard we have decided to push the affair to the limit."

A conference will be held today between City Clerk Domingues and City Attorney Werner and Arthur Weber and his attorney, Jess Stephens, regarding the examination of a list of names on the referendary cement ordinance petitions, which have not yet been examined or checked and which have been temporarily laid aside for legal reasons. An agreement may be reached which will allow the examination of the questioned lists which contain over 1000 names. The petition on the first ordinance lacks 516 signatures necessary to call an election.

City Clerk Domingues also hopes to be able to make a report on the 1000 test letters sent out Saturday night to names and addresses which his checkers were unable to find in the registration lists. If a large proportion of errors is found, a recheck is said to be a possibility.

COLORS TO BE PRESENTED

Battalion colors will be presented to the R.O.T.C. battalion of the Fairfax High School tomorrow morning with appropriate ceremonies on the school athletic field, it was announced yesterday. The colors are being given by the student body of the school: Richard Swift, president of the student body, will present the colors and Maj. Stanley L. Pollock, commander of the battalion, will receive them.

BUILDING TO RISE LIMIT ON WILSHIRE

Block-Long Frontage on Boulevard Will Feature New Dominguez Structure

Construction of a height-limit store, office and professional structure to cost $1,500,000, covering a block-long frontage on Wilshire Boulevard between Cochran and Cloverdale avenues, was announced yesterday by H. H. Cotton, representative of the Dominguez estate, which owns the site and will finance the building.

The building will be known as the Wilshire-Dominguez. Work will be started immediately, the construction contracts calling for the building to be ready for occupancy September 1, next.

Detailed plans for the structure, prepared by Morgan, Walls & Clements, architects, show the exterior front for the first two stories to be constructed largely of glass. Beginning at the third story there will be a setback from either corner, rising to a central tower. From the third to the top story will be glass windows nine stories high set in pillars of reinforced concrete. Total floor space for the building will be 100,000 square feet, approximately half of which will be on the first two floors. A roof garden will top the structure.

The ground floor shops will have entrances running through from Wilshire to the rear of the building, which will be used for parking facilities.

This will be the third height-limit to go up in the "Miracle Mile" of Wilshire Boulevard.

Ralph Zane, of the A. W. Ross Company, Wilshire Boulevard realty men, and developers, handled all preliminary negotiations for the structure and will be in charge of leasing.

BLACKSTONE RITES TO BE TOMORROW

Founder of Company Will Be Laid to Final Rest at Afternoon Services

Funeral services for Nathaniel B. Blackstone, founder of the N. B. Blackstone Company, who died unexpectedly at his home Monday afternoon, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Blackstone residence, 1226 West Twenty-eighth street, with Dr. Carl S. Patton, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Burial will follow in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mr. Blackstone, who was 87 years of age, had followed his usual custom and lunched at the California Club Monday, but he returned home earlier than usual and went directly to his bedroom for a nap. Shortly before dinner time, his son, Henry Winthrop Blackstone, discovered him dead and physicians pronounced a heart attack the cause of death.

Active pallbearers will be W. W. Valentine, E. R. Valentine, W. L. Stewart, Jr., Andrew Brown, Otis Buckingham and Joseph Urmston.

MEMORIAL PROPOSED TO SERRA

Two Hundredth Birthday of Missions' Founder Celebrated at City Club

A memorial shrine in the form of a place of worship to perpetuate the memory of Fra Junipero Serra, founder of the missions of California, was advocated at a public dinner celebrating the 200th birthday anniversary of the Spanish padre, at the City Club last night. Many well-known Californians attended and a number of noted speakers were on the program.

The dinner was given under the auspices of the American Catholic Church and one of the principal speakers was Archbishop Frederic E. J. Lloyd, primate of the church, with headquarters in Chicago. At the dinner it was announced that a new parish of the church known as the Parish of Junipero Serra had been created in Los Angeles with Rev. Frank Dyer as the first padre.

"The proposed Junipero Serra memorial will be a church for all the people of California," Archbishop Lloyd asserted. "To the support of this new movement and important and even romantic work, in memory of the noble saint who saved California for the United States of America and blazed the trail to heaven for her children, I have no doubt that every man, woman and child will support this glorious enterprise and carry it under Padre Dyer's leadership to a full and rich fruition."

Another speaker on the program was Orra Monnette, well-known Los Angeles banker, who spoke of Junipero Serra's tribulations in California.

"In a constancy not to be daunted by dangers or baffled by disappointment or wearied out by impediments and delays, he contended with official ignorance, with narrow pride, with petty jealousies of rival authorities, with disheartening failures, and he contended successfully," Mr. Monnette asserted. "Junipero Serra can be paid not higher tribute than a memorial by the people of California."

Another speaker was Prof. J. Arthur Thomson of Scotland, who has always been interested in California history, and especially that of the period of Junipero Serra.

"Second only to his spiritual grandeur was his intellectual greatness," Prof. Thomson said. "Had nature framed him for a soldier instead of a friar his men would have

JULIAN CLASH ACTION TODAY

Judge Wood Will Decide on Objection to McComb

Fitts Refuses Selection of Jurist for Bribe Trial

Berman Becomes Defiant as Sequel to Contest

Whether the Los Angeles county grand jury will continue its scheduled investigation of any criminal activities connected with the collapse of the Julian Petroleum Corporation will depend on a decision today of Superior Judge Wood, it was announced last night by Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

The inquiry stopped suddenly yesterday when Jacob Berman, also known as Jack Bennett, and scheduled as the first witness, refused to appear before the grand jury and testify and the District Attorney announced that the investigation cannot proceed without Berman's sworn information.

Berman based his action on the decision earlier in the day of Judge Wood assigning a juror-bribing charge against Berman and others to the court of Superior Judge McComb for trial. Berman declared he could not get a fair and impartial hearing before Judge McComb.

FEAR DISCLOSED

It also was indicated that Berman anticipates immunity from the recent grand jury indictment, through his plan to become a witness for the prosecution, and felt that he cannot expect such action if Judge McComb hears the trial.

Fitts, early in the day, was quoted as saying that Berman had been promised immunity. Late in the day he denied the statement and declared his remarks concerned previous indictments. He admitted, however, that the matter of immunity in the jury-bribing indictments had been arranged between Berman and the grand jury.

Two efforts to break the apparent deadlock and clarify the situation were made yesterday. The first came immediately after the setting of the trial, when Judge Wood was a visitor in the grand jury rooms; the second shortly after noon when Foreman Morris and Judge Wood held a conference in the latter's chambers.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNED

After the latter meeting, it was announced by Fitts that Foreman Morris had adjourned the grand jury until 10 a.m. today as Judge Wood desired additional time in which to consider the situation.

In discussing the continuation of the grand jury investigation, under the present situation, and the effect the action of Judge Wood and the refusal of Berman to talk would have on the matter, Fitts said:

"If the Julian cases are never cleared up the decision of Judge Wood this morning is responsible."

Berman, focal point of the entire matter, in outlining his position, said:

"Before I'll go to trial before Judge McComb, I'll go to McNeil's Island and serve my seven years' rap for the Federal conviction. Neither will I talk to the grand jury until my case is set in another court."

Judge Wood consistently refused to discuss the situation in any way, although he made the special trip to the grand jury room, and held the short conference with Foreman Morris.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

Other developments in the various phases of the Julian cases yesterday, which were somewhat overshadowed by the deadlock in the continuation of the inquiry, were:

(1.) Trial of five defendants on the charges of jury bribing was set for Monday, April 22, by Judge Wood.

(2.) Plea and time of trial of Frank C. Grider, the sixth indicted, set for tomorrow at 10 a.m., on application of counsel.

(3.) Dist.-Atty. Fitts named the first six witnesses waiting to testify before the grand jury when the inquiry is resumed.

(4.) Clear indication that the grand jury is prepared to investigate criminal conspiracy which may have resulted from the issuance, sale and purchase of Julian stock.

ROW STARTS IN COURT

The row started in Superior Judge Wood's court a few minutes after the appearance of Dist.-Atty. Fitts. The District Attorney, not present during the time the defendants had entered plea, had been summoned by the court to learn his attitude toward a trial date, Dep. Dist.-Atty. O'Connor, who handles routine matters in Judge Wood's court, having stated that he did not know whom his superior wished to try first nor when.

Fitts, when he appeared, announced that he intended to try S. C. Lewis first, but that he had no objection to setting tentatively all the trials for the same day, the ro-

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE last hang-out of the cowboy is in these little towns along the Mexican border.

One of the largest cattle ranches in the world is at Cananea, just across the border. They branded 20,000 calves, born of registered thoroughbred stock, last year. Nearly 125,000 head were shipped across the border into the United States last fall.

All along Southern Arizona there are many other cattle ranches.

THEY SQUAT

The punchers come into Nogales to do their shopping.

They still squat on their heels in the accustomed ways of tradition. This morning there was a cattle case on trial at the County Courthouse. Along the balcony rail was a long row of cowboys, all squatting on the heels of their boots.

There are also many amateur cowboys from the dude ranches. You can distinguish them at a glance, because they look like regular hell-bending frontier characters—chaps, neck handkerchiefs and everything. The stock hands wear copper-riveted overalls and hickory shirts.

THIS WAY OUT FOR GERMS

The picturesqueness and the germs of the Mexican side of Nogales are fast going.

The little sidewalk shopkeepers have been chased off the street so that it is no longer possible to buy fly-blown meat.

Mayor Villasenor has installed a modern market where all the booths have electric refrigeration. The place is spotless and prosperous.

TOMATO WAR

Every year at this season the town is jam full of tomato buyers—sharpshooting young men from the East, waiting for the refrigerator cars from across the border.

The tomato people assure me that if this 600 per cent tariff rise goes through the price of tomatoes will increase by about 10 cents a pound in Los Angeles.

MEXICAN ATLANTIC CITY

Approximately seventy miles south of Yuma is one of the most marvelous sea beaches in the world. If the present plans of the Governor of Sonora work out this will be made into a great resort.

Under the Mexican law every port of entry gets 3 per cent of the tariffs collected in its district. The plan is to use this money originating in Nogales to build roads to this beach.

The Mexican government is also working on plans for another highway to parallel the border from Chihuahua to Ensenada on the Pacific Coast. Cars will have to be ferried across the gulf.

Their experiences in the last revolution—when it was found impossible to get troops from Lower California into the fight, showed them the necessity of a military highway belting Northern Mexico.

ENGLISH SPOKEN HERE

I am beginning to think that Americans are the best linguists in the world.

On the American side of Nogales nearly every man, woman and child speaks Spanish. On the Mexican side the bartenders have a monopoly. Even many of the highest officials are innocent of English.

The study of English has been made obligatory in all the Mexican grade schools, however.

INSURANCE OFFICIAL DIES

Danford Morse Baker, Vice-President of Pacific Mutual Life Company, Passes Suddenly

Danford Morse Baker, one of the senior vice-presidents of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company and since 1918 superintendent of agencies, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 500 Mapleton Drive, Beverly Hills, following a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Baker had been connected with the insurance company for forty years continuously and had been engaged in insurance work since 20 years of age.

Danford Morse Baker

He was born at Union, Ct., in 1862, and after graduation from the public schools there was employed as a clerk for one of the eastern insurance companies. Later he was sent to Kansas City, where he became a member of a firm representing insurance companies. In 1890 Mr. Baker assumed the post of general agent for the Pacific Mutual company for the States of Missouri and Kansas and was later transferred to Chicago.

Mr. Baker came to Los Angeles in 1906 when he was made a vice-president of the company and assistant superintendent of agencies and was active in the affairs of the company until the summer of 1929 when he was compelled to relinquish his duties because of illness.

Always active in organizations of insurance men, Mr. Baker was in addition a member of the California Club, Midwick Club, Los Angeles Country Club, Wilshire Country Club and the Bohemian Club of San Francisco.

He leaves his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Letts, Jr., and one son, Danford M. Baker, Jr.

OFFICIALS IN CULVER CITY FACE QUIZ

Grand Jury to Investigate Asserted Irregularities in Municipal Affairs

CULVER CITY, March 25. (Exclusive)—Four Culver City officials and one former City Councilman are to be called before the county grand jury within the next ten days as a result of a quiet inquiry into municipal affairs here, it was learned from reliable sources today.

According to those in close touch with the situation, the investigation concerns sums of money which are asserted to have been misappropriated from the city treasury.

Charges also have been made that during a recent election members of the winning political faction imported scores of transient voters to their respective districts and succeeded in registering numerous illegal votes.

All this already has been placed in the hands of District Attorney's investigators and will be placed before the grand jury at an early date, it was revealed.

An investigation into Culver City municipal affairs and the former city administration was started by the 1929 grand jury, but resulted in no charges being brought against anyone.

According to those who have assisted in the inquiry, the investigation is finished and is now only awaiting grand-jury action.

PLANET X PHOTOGRAPHED

Mt. Wilson Observatory Shows Plates of Find; Italian Discovery Story Doubted

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 25.—Satisfactory photographs of Planet X, ninth world discovered recently at the Lowell Observatory, have been made at the Mt. Wilson Observatory with the sixty-inch telescope by Astronomer N. U. Mayall, it was revealed today by Alfred H. Joy, secretary. At the same time Joy asserted that the Mt. Wilson scientists are very skeptical concerning the purported discovery of three additional new major planets by Rafael Bendandi, Italian astronomer.

In the prints of Planet X made this afternoon at the Mt. Wilson laboratory the new world is shown as a small dot surrounded by remote stars, none of which is visible to the naked eye. The significant thing in pictures taken at an interval of several hours is that Planet X is seen to have moved on its orbit about the sun while the stars are seen in the same relative positions.

The sixty-inch Mt. Wilson telescope was used instead of the 100-inch instrument because the latter has been set up for other important work at the present time. The 100-inch telescope, according to Joy, would have made larger pictures and whereas the exposure for the sixty-inch telescope required to photograph the planet was thirty minutes, the big telescope would have required half that exposure time.

"The new planet," said Joy, "is

Twelve Operators at Santa Fe Springs Appear; Another Hearing Set for Friday

Twelve more oil operators in the Santa Fe Springs Field were before Superior Judge Hazlett yesterday on an order to show cause why they should not be restrained from wasting natural gas under the provisions of the new Gas and Oil Conservation Act now being enforced by the State.

The new defendants were added several days ago by Attorney James S. Bennett, counsel for the State, to the list of some forty other operators against whom a restraining order was issued by Judge Hazlett on the 20th inst.

The matter was continued until Friday at 10 a.m. Attorneys for the group of smaller companies, among the first to be enjoined, will present a motion for a modification of the injunction order, contending that the present one is extremely injurious to their wells.

Following the issuance of the first injunction order Judge Hazlett appointed three petroleum engineers, Joseph Jensen, Ralph Arnold and

tation of the cases to be decided when the first came up for trial

"All right," said Judge Wood, "all the defendants with the exception of Frank Grider will appear in Department 22 on April 21 at 10 a.m. for trial.

Grider's case was not set because he will not enter his plea until tomorrow.

"May I ask Your Honor whose court Department 22 is?" asked Fitts, his voice sharpening.

He was informed that Department 22 is presided over by Superior Judge McComb.

REASON ASKED

"Then I ask Your Honor that these cases be removed to some other court," said the District Attorney.

Judge Wood expressed himself as willing to listen to any reason why such action should be taken.

"I think Your Honor is familiar with some little difficulty we had in Judge McComb's court a short time ago during a case in which Jacob Berman was a defendant," returned Fitts. "I do not believe that the best interests of the people can be served by having these cases tried in that court."

Fitts's statement made it obvious that he was referring to Judge McComb's recent refusal to dismiss an old indictment for bribery against Berman and Ben Getzoff, in spite of the request of the District Attorney, who told the court he had promised Berman immunity after the latter had testified as a State's witness against Asa Keyes and others. At the time a strained situation arose between Judge McComb and Fitts and attorneys representing Berman and Getzoff filed affidavits of prejudice against Judge McComb. The situation was relieved somewhat, however, when the Appellate Court freed Berman and Getzoff on technical grounds and Presiding Judge Doran decided Judge McComb had acted without prejudice.

ARGUMENT GETS WARM

It was apparent yesterday, though, that Fitts had determined to do all in his power to keep the present cases out of Judge McComb's court. He continued to argue that another judge be selected.

"But you haven't given me any reason," contended Judge Wood. "I read the affidavits of prejudice filed against Judge McComb and I believe they never should have been filed. I have the highest regard for Judge McComb's personal integrity and believe that he is eminently fitted to try these or any other cases."

"Does Your Honor want me to make specific charges?" demanded the District Attorney, his face coloring and his voice rising.

"Do you think that would be fair in the absence of Judge McComb?" countered the court, his voice also rising.

More argument ensued. Fitts asserted he did not believe an efficient prosecution could be conducted in Judge McComb's court and declared that if two and one-half years ago an honest prosecution had been conducted in the Julian cases the county would have been saved hundreds of thousands of dollars.

OTHERS SATISFIED

The prosecutor held the attention of the courtroom when he made the statement that he believes it will develop that Former Dist.-Atty. Keyes and the latter's chief deputy, Harold L. Davis, both knew that the jury trying the Julian conspiracy cases was bribed. For these reasons, Fitts asserted, he wanted an unhampered chance to try the defendants at bar.

At various points during the argument between the prosecutor and the judge various defendants or their attorneys took occasion to interpolate a few remarks.

S. C. Lewis, acting as his own attorney, spoke up to declare that Judge McComb suited him as trial judge, although, he added, he did not know the jurist in question.

Attorney William B. Beirne, representing Grider, announced he had no objection to Judge McComb and said that if Fitts wanted the cases removed from the latter's court he had recourse to the usual legal channels, obviously intimating that the District Attorney should be forced to prove his charges in formal allegations of prejudice in Judge McComb's court.

MORE HOT DISCUSSION

"I think you are in error in your fear that Judge McComb will not properly handle these cases; in fact, I am sure of it," commented Judge Wood, speaking to Fitts.

"Will it be necessary for us to take this matter up with the Judicial Council?" Fitts retorted.

The Judicial Council is a body headed by the presiding justice of the State Supreme Court and acts as a final voice in allegations of prejudice against a court.

"You can take any action you see fit," replied Judge Wood.

Fitts's answer was an intimation that he will never try the cases in Judge McComb's court.

"If you don't want to prosecute these cases I'll appoint a special prosecutor who will," said Judge Wood with finality.

"Your Honor cannot appoint a special prosecutor in Judge McComb's court and give the people of this county fair treatment," returned Fitts.

With that remark the District Attorney strode out of court and the proceedings for the time being were at an end.

In announcing that the grand jury will reconvene today at 10 a.m., Fitts said the first six witnesses to be heard, contingent on the outcome of the Berman situation, will be:

Berman, W. C. Kotteman, public accountant and placed in charge of the books of A. C. Wagy & Co., brokers in the fall of 1926; Myron S. Fox and Walter H. Ingold, who handled the work sheets of the Wagy firm under the direction of Kotteman; John Ethridge, general manager of the Wagy concern before it collapsed, and Ben Blue, who succeeded Ethridge as manager and was with the firm until the break-up in 1927.

All these witnesses were held for quick call yesterday but were not allowed to discuss the angle of the investigation on which they are expected to testify. It was apparent, however, that the witnesses were all summoned on the activities of the brokerage firm owned by Lewis and that they will present information on the manner in which stock deals were consummated.

TESTIMONY RESUMED

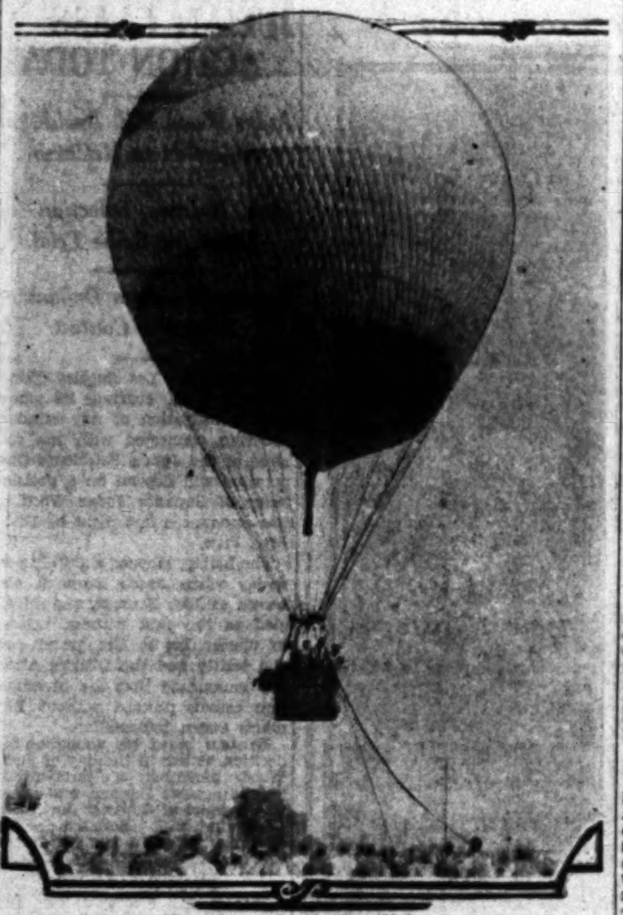
After his appearance in the court of Judge Wood, Lewis resumed his testimony before Superior Judge Tappaan, where he is testifying in the Julian stockholders' recovery action against the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and a group of brokers.

The former Julian corporation head was under cross-examination by Attorney Morrow, counsel for some of the defendants the entire day, and has taken over matters mentioned earlier in the hearing.

The Morrow cross-examination is expected to be completed today, when Lewis will be questioned by other attorneys. The other defense counsel estimate that it will take the remainder of the week to complete their cross-examination.

FUTURE PILOTS LEARN OF AIR

Free Balloon Takes Them on Trial Trip



They Must Work Gas Valves

Goodyear balloon bearing future Zeppelin commanders in take-off.

FUTURE Zeppelin commanders who may some day pilot giant Goodyear Zeppelin dirigibles from Los Angeles over the Pacific received their first training yesterday when a free balloon without motors and controlled only by the valving of the lifting gas, was released from the Goodyear air dock at 1:15 p.m. After a flight of eighteen miles it landed shortly after 3 p.m. at the Atlantic Boulevard Airport, north of Long Beach.

The balloon contained pilots Karl Lange and Bat Campbell in addition to Student Pilots Moore and Hall. Officials of the rubber company explained that the pilots will make seven similar flights, including one solo flight and one night flight. The men carry no parachutes and are expected to maneuver their craft by the air currents, alternately lifting by dumping ballast and lowering by valving their gas.

Six students are in training to become pilots of lighter-than-air craft in Los Angeles and they are given the same course as that given the student naval pilots. More than 2800 student pilots were trained by the Goodyear company at its Akron plant during the World War and the company has six of the free balloons for training purposes.

Each balloon has a gas capacity of 35,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas. Officials of the company declared that the flights are an important part of the training of the future pilots and give them an opportunity to study air currents and ground winds from actual experience.

C. C. JULIAN LOSES SUIT OVER MINE

Judgment Against Lead Promoter Ordered After Trial of $142,000 Case

A judgment was returned yesterday by Superior Judge Hollzer against C. C. Julian, promoter, in favor of John Salsberry following the trial of a law suit involving some 200,000 shares of stock of the Western Lead Mines Company, one of the defendant's promotion schemes in 1926.

Although Julian testified that the Western Lead Mines Company is dead, the plaintiff contends that 150,000 shares of the stock involved in the judgment is worth 76 cents a share and another block of 50,000 shares is valued at $1.56 a share, making a total of $142,000.

According to the plaintiff, the stock was withheld by Julian at the time he promoted the Western Lead Mines Company.

Julian declared the stock was a portion of the treasury stock that Salsberry, his partners and himself put away under trust agreement, not to be sold or disposed of until the mine was developed.

City Defense of Officers Asked

A resolution was passed yesterday by the Police Commission asking the city attorney's office to defend Officers Leland A. Welton, Lawrence Ammon and Gene Gibson, and Chief of Police Steckel against the damage suit for $25,000 brought against them by C. H. Daggett, reporter for the Record, who charges he was falsely arrested March 6, when the police department quelled the "red" demonstration in front of the City Hall.

DOUBT ITALIAN TALE

In commenting upon the reported observation of Planet X and three other new planets in Italy, the Mt. Wilson Observatory secretary asserted that the local astronomers feel that such a feat would be impossible with the type of equipment at Rafael Bendandi's disposal.

The Mt. Wilson experts declare that to make such discoveries as those reported would require the very latest and greatest of scientific equipment, besides the resources of a highly trained laboratory and complete records extending back scores of years.

ITALIANS CHRISTEN NEW PLANET PLUTO

MILAN (Italy) March 25. (AP)—"Pluto" is the provisional name Italian astronomers have given the new trans-Neptune planet discovered the 13th inst. at Lowell Observatory, in Flagstaff, Ariz.

Prof. Emilio Bianchi and his assistants of Breara Observatory have photographed the new planet, despite the fact that the weather has been bad, and they hope with one more night to contribute somewhat to the American researches.

Prof. Bianchi sees the American discovery as substantiating Newton's theory of the law of gravity. He also paid tribute to Prof Percival Lowell, who first predicted a planet would be found in the position of the new body, and accorded praise to the work of his successors in the last fourteen years.

"The United States not only has powerful economic and technical means," he said, "but is truly served by men of high knowledge and fervid tenacity."

The Italian astronomers apparently have chosen the provisional name Pluto because that ancient divinity was related to others for whom planets are named. He was the son of Saturn and the brother of Jupiter and Neptune. He ruled the infernal regions and was generally called Hades by the Greeks.

Insect Exhibit to Open Saturday

Butterflies and moths will take the center of the stage at the Los Angeles Museum in Exposition Park, when the Lorquin Entomological Society of Los Angeles opens its ninth annual butterfly exhibit to the public Saturday morning. It will contain approximately 20,000 butterflies and moths of native and foreign varieties.

In addition there will be an extensive exhibit of bugs, flies and insects of economic importance, with especial emphasis placed upon the ones of injurious character, such as the Mediterranean fruit fly. The particular aim of the society this year is to reach schoolteachers and their pupils.

IRON WORKS HEAD PASSES AT HIS HOME

Hollywood Pioneer Was Associated With Agencies That Built Up Film City

William O. Jackson, iron works head and Hollywood pioneer, died yesterday at his home, 1680 North Wilton Place, after three weeks of illness. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow from the residence, followed by interment in Hollywood Cemetery.

He was born in Bristol, Wis., in 1851, educated at Evanston, Ill., and he moved to Los Angeles in 1893. A year later he moved into his Hollywood home, where he resided at the time of his death. In the early days, he was actively associated with the agencies which built up Hollywood, being a trustee of the Lemon Exchange, of the School Board, and of the Methodist Church. He was president of the Jackson Iron Works since its founding in 1908. He leaves his widow and three sons, Augustus, Wayne and Herbert.

The Elks' Temple has made a new ruling that admission to the Sunday afternoon vesper organ recitals is by guest card only. While these recitals are especially for the public, it is necessary that cards be applied for in writing to Sibley G. Pease. Mr. Pease will give his 201st program next Sunday.

He also is one of California's leading philanthropists and aviation enthusiasts. He is a licensed pilot and a master mariner and in 1927 financed the trans-Pacific flight of the Southern Cross.

Temporary Pool Plan Under Fire

Councilman Davis yesterday instituted an attack on the plan to build a temporary swimming pool in Exposition Park for the Olympic Games. Davis wants a permanent pool, which can be used by the children of the district in future years.

The matter came up on a report of the Playground and Recreation Commission, which made a deal with the Sixth District Agricultural Association, which controls the park, whereby the temporary pool will be erected in front of the present grand stand, both of them to be removed after the games. The report was referred to the Parks and Playgrounds Committee.

ATTORNEY'S NOTE PLANS HIS SUICIDE

Robert Cordill's Threat Borne Out by Evidence Found on Beach

Fears that Robert M. Cordill, Los Angeles attorney, has committed suicide caused deputy sheriffs to investigate the threat of self-destruction contained in a letter received earlier in the day by the wife of the missing man.

According to the investigations of Deputies Bogardus of the Fairfax substation and Gray of the homicide squad, Cordill left his home at 2930 South Norton avenue early Monday morning, apparently in good spirits. Late that evening his wife received a telegram stating that he would not return that night and the next morning she was startled to receive a lengthy letter telling details of how the attorney would end his life.

The letter said that Cordill would go to Malibu Beach, row out to sea in a small boat, tie a rock to himself and after drinking the contents of two bottles containing poison, jump into the ocean. Deputy sheriffs who went to the spot indicated in the letter found the missing man's car and marks in the sand where a boat had been dragged to the water's edge. Footprints beside them were said to show that only one man had pushed the boat to the water.

An additional letter was received yesterday morning by Cordill's law partner, E. J. Miller, who refused to reveal its contents. Worry and overwork were given by the deputies as the probable causes of the supposed suicide. Cordill had been practicing in Los Angeles for nine years. The couple had no children.

Woman Takes Poison and Dies

Mrs. Celia Dellenbaugh, 47 years of age, of 1486 West Forty-ninth street, died in Georgia-street Hospital yesterday an hour after swallowing poison with suicidal intent, according to police, a short distance from her home. Eluding a nurse, in whose care she had been placed, she walked to a drug store at Forty-seventh street and Western avenue, where she purchased ant paste. Outside the store she swallowed the poison, collapsing a block away.

Mrs. Dellenbaugh was the wife of R. C. Dellenbaugh, funeral director, of 630 Venice Boulevard.

BANKS HELD-UP BY LONE BANDIT

Branches of Seaboard and Security Robbed

Outlaw Obtains Total of $4000 in Bills

Description of Man in Both Cases Identical

Unaided by confederates, a bandit yesterday held up two neighboring banks in swift succession and escaped in an automobile with $4000 in cash. The description of the robber as furnished by victims of both robberies were exactly alike, police said.

Shortly after noon the bandit entered the Seaboard National Bank branch at 5501 Wilshire Boulevard, pointed a revolver at Loran Fisher, teller, and demanded "all the big bills." Fisher handed him $3000. Three other employees, R. L. Casey, manager; Harry Johnson, book-keeper, and Miss Margaret Everett, stenographer, looked on helplessly as he stuffed the currency into a canvas sack and fled.

A few minutes later, the robber walked into the Security-First National Trust and Savings Bank branch at 219 North Larchmont Boulevard, and handed J. H. Beaver, assistant teller, this note: "Don't try to be a hero. Turn over all your big bills quickly or I'll plug you!" Beaver pushed out all the money in sight, amounting to $1000, while the bandit trained his gun on him, with an occasional menacing gesture to L. W. Couture, chief teller, and Miss D. Chinn, stenographer. Backing out of the bank the robber climbed into his automobile and sped away.

SCREAMS OF GIRL CLERK ROUTS BANDIT

What a would-be bank bandit should not do is grab Corinne Langley, 22 years of age, bank clerk, by the arm and command her to open the bank door.

Miss Langley will scream!

This she did early yesterday morning when she was accosted at the door of the Bank of Santa Fe Springs in Los Nietos as she was about to unlock it and enter.

"Get it open quick," demanded the bandit as he clutched her by the hand.

Screaming, the young woman jerked away and ran for help while the man ran the other way to an automobile about a quarter of a mile down Norwalk Road, where he was driven away by an accomplice.

The car, according to deputy sheriffs, bore an Oklahoma license and was followed and overtaken by H. L. Theroff and S. Ginsburg, who were unable to stop it as neither of the men was armed.

ROBBERIES CONFESSED BY YOUTHS

Six Drug Stores, Theater and Oil Station Declared to Have Been Held Up

Robbery of six drug stores, one theater and one oil station was confessed yesterday by Milton Wilkinson, 25 years of age, and Bert Slight, 21, both of 653-A Brooks avenue, Venice, according to Detective Lieutenants Heintelman and Beard.

The men were arrested on the 21st inst. by Officers Schmidt and Dorsey when they recognized the license number of the pair's automobile as that reported by Joe Shea as having been on the car of two bandits who held him up in his drug store at 5851 West Boulevard on the 14th inst.

Identified by Shea, according to the detectives, the youths readily confessed and implicated themselves voluntarily in the other robberies. The theater hold-up was that of H. H. Hicks in the Gem Theater at 2488 West Washington Boulevard on the 16th inst.

Bandit Victim Spots Suspect in Courtroom

J. L. Catey, operator of an oil station at Eleventh and Alvarado streets, was in Division 3, Municipal Court, to look at Claude Moran, who was being arraigned before Judge Ballard on a robbery charge. Detective Lieutenants Wessell and Hamlin, the arraigning officers, asked Catey if Moran might not be the man who held him up recently. Catey's gaze roved from the defendant to another young man sitting in the courtroom.

"No. But there's the man!" exclaimed Catey, indicating Wallace W. Sadin, 20 years of age, of 1427 West Forty-first street, who was awaiting arraignment on an auto theft charge. By coincidence Sadin was in court at the wrong time. The detectives arrested him on a robbery charge.

Council Passes Assessments

The City Council yesterday confirmed the assessments for the improvement of the Windward avenue and Second avenue district. The project cost $691,797, and the assessment district contains 6434 parcels of property.

The assessments also were confirmed for the improvement of Park Heights Terrace at Alta street, while protests were denied against the establishment of set-back lines in Lanewood avenue and in Forty-ninth street and the sewering of Avenue 56 and Upperton avenue.

WOMAN CONVICTED OF SELLING LIQUOR

Mrs. Lamberta Calderon, 80 years of age, was found guilty of sale and possession of liquor by Municipal Judge MacCoy yesterday. She will be sentenced tomorrow. Police Officers Frey and Hamrick testified that after a police operative had purchased a pint of moonshine from the woman for $2, they entered her house at 2918 Pennsylvania street and found six more pint bottles of liquor.

SOUTHLAND WARM WAVE TO CONTINUE

At Least Two More Days of High Mercury Pledged Area by Weather Man

Desert weather again prevailed in Los Angeles yesterday when the mercury rose to 87 deg. at 2 p.m., after having hovered in the vicinity of that mark the greater part of the day. The humidity was exceedingly low, the Weather Bureau reporting but 20 per cent at noon.

Indications are that the hot spell will continue, according to the bureau, which predicts warm weather and low humidity for today and tomorrow. Prevailing winds and high-pressure areas have forced heated air in over this section from desert parts, it is stated.

Normal weather for yesterday was given as 67 deg. The coolest moment of the day was just before dawn when the thermometer dropped to 66 deg.

With the hot spell sending thousands to the seaside and with snow available in the mountains, it was possible yesterday to spend the morning in the mountains attired in woolens and clambering through snow drifts and to spend the afternoon in bathing suits and disporting amidst the waves. In fact, that is what many Los Angeles people did yesterday, according to beach and mountain resort reports.

San Diego had the warmest March 25 on record yesterday, when a maximum temperature of 82 deg. was reported by the official Weather Bureau thermometer shortly before noon. The mark exceeds by 1 dge. the previous maximum temperature of 81 deg. recorded there in 1896.

Milk Inspection Tax Plan Killed by Councilmen

The Health and Sanitation Committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon killed off the plan to levy a smal tax on milk to help pay inspection costs, as requested by City Health Officer Parrish. The committee suggested that inspection charges can be cared for during the remainder of the fiscal year by departmental transfer of funds, with a sufficient sum to be included in the estimates of next year's budget.

The committee will have a hearing next Tuesday, however, before submitting its recommendation to the Council.

SEARCH FOR OWNER OF PIGEON LAUNCHED

Assured that recovery of the bird is certain, the State Commission for Protection of Children and Animals yesterday took steps to trace the owner of a supposedly valuable carrier pigeon found about ten days ago with a broken leg and a broken wing believed to have been suffered during the recent heavy storms. Herbert H. Hallett, secretary, says he believes the pigeon hails from the Atlantic Coast. The helpless bird was found hobbling about in a field at Inglewood by William W. Hampe, a Hollywood motorist.

Burial Set for Mrs. Macdonald

Funeral services will be conducted today for Mrs. Margaret Macdonald, 90 years of age, at Pierce Brothers' chapel at 2 p.m. Interment will be private in Inglewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Macdonald, mother of Deputy Coroner William Macdonald, was born in Scotland September 25, 1839. She lived in California for twenty years and passed away at her home, 173 Forty-second Place, yesterday.

Besides her son, she leaves two daughters, Miss Anna Macdonald and Mrs. Arthur Kitchell.

It has all been explained. We wondered if the Chicago police and the gangsters really were mad at each other. It seems though that Chicago's fat policemen were ordered to reduce and the crook-chasing was found to be more humane considering the strained financial condition in the Windy City.

NOT SO SMART

We pat ourselves on the back and declare that the college courses of former times would hardly make a high school curriculum today. But President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia says we are all wet as usual. Not a single freshman today could pass the entrance examinations of a half century ago. Confronted by a Greek grammar, four books of Xenophon's "Arabasis," Homer's "Iliad," seven books of Caesar's "Commentaries," six books of Vergil's "Aeneid" and six orations of Cicero, he would kiss his alma mater good-by and take French leave.

THE TARIFF BILL

Passage by the Senate of the tariff bill, a tariff bill, any tariff bill in the present state of public feeling is bound to give a certain amount of relief. That the measure which the Senate has just sent to conference will be enacted into law is of course not on the cards; there are many differences, some of them vital, between this bill and the one passed by the House in the extraordinary session last summer, and these differences will have to be compromised. There is a possibility of a long wrangle in the Senate over the conference report, when it is made. But for the time being at least the tariff is out of the Senate's hands, and that body can turn its attention to other pressing business.

Three provisions of the bill, not relating to rates, stand most in the way of acceptance of the bill by the House and possibly by the President. Most likely of these to prevent passage and signature is the export-debentures feature, the most unsound device, economically, that has been proposed since free silver. All of its effects could not be forecast, but it would, almost certainly, not only do agriculture no good, but would present our manufacturing competitors with a free handicap. Far less dangerous would be an outright bounty on the various agricultural products—less dangerous and less costly in the long run. Its presence in the bill can only be accounted for by a combination of politics and insincerity. Only slightly less objectionable is elimination of the flexible provision of the present tariff, which gives the President power to change specific rates on a proper showing. The scheme substituted by the Senate means nothing, merely granting to Congress power which it already has. The third device likely to cause disagreement is the Norris provision for reduction of rate on any commodity in which a monopoly has been established. The possibilities of this have not been carefully examined, but on the surface it appears to mean nothing at all but a defiant gesture on Senator Norris's part. It is difficult to see how it could possibly be applied.

The rate schedules provide substantial increases for many California products and their enactment probably would prove beneficial. There are increases over the present tariff on most live stock and meats, eggs, dairy products, rice, avocados, cherries, lemons, limes, grapefruit, almonds, walnuts, beans, peas, tomatoes and most other agricultural products. The lemon schedule is 2.5 cents a pound, the present rate and the House rate being 2 cents; limes are raised to 2 cents from 1 cent a pound; grapefruit to 1.5 cents from 1 cent. Green olives are raised to 30 cents a gallon from 20 cents; dried ripe olives to 5 cents a pound from 4 cents. The almond increase is to 5.5 cents a pound for nuts in shells and to 16.5 cents for kernels. Walnuts in shells are raised to 5 cents from 4 cents; the kernels to 15 cents from 12 cents.

A tariff of 7 cents a pound is placed on long-staple cotton, 1 1-8 inches or over. The House bill placed this on the free list as does the present tariff. Hides, leather and shoes are all on the free list in the Senate bill as at present; the House bill placed duties on them.

The Senate bill as passed is lower in four schedules than the existing tariff, higher in ten, and, according to the computations of Senator Smoot, affords an average protection of 38.99 per cent, as compared with 43.15 in the House bill and 34.61 in the present bill. As the Senate Finance Committee reported it the average was 40.54. The Underwood Bill of 1913 had an average rate of 21.08 per cent.

The bill is thus, as of course it should be, a protective measure, but whether its benefits have in all cases been distributed where they should be is another question. California, at any rate, fares well, though the rates are not as high as were asked for.

The bill retains, in modified form, the customs censorship on literature which was fought by Senator Cutting of New Mexico. The modification consists of permitting a court review of the decisions of customs clerks. If there is to be censorship at all this is probably the least objectionable form of it. How customs clerks can possibly qualify as literary experts is something of a mystery. Making them the final judges of the admissibility of volumes is obviously wrong.

Upon the whole, there seems a reasonable prospect now that some sort of a tariff bill will be enacted and signed within the next few weeks, and business, which has unquestionably been hampered by the long delay, will then take a spurt forward. If it has no other effect, the settlement of what has been unsettled and uncertain will be beneficial.

"CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS"

As if we had not heard enough of the so-called "conscientious objector," it is now reported from Washington that a bill is before the House of Representatives for public hearings in committee sessions providing for the admission of any alien to citizenship without requiring him to promise that he would bear arms in defense of the country in case of war.

The measure is supported by several small church organizations, the League for Freedom, the Women's Peace Union and the Society Against War. It is in line with the position of Dr. D. C. MacIntosh of Yale, a Canadian by birth, who wanted to be an American citizen, but was denied the privilege by a Federal court because of his refusal to join in the defense of this country if called upon to do so.

Just why such a bill should be seriously considered by Congress passes the understanding of all truly patriotic Americans, though its consideration to the extent of public hearings probably is a gesture of deference to the worthy women who are its chief backers. It is to be conceded that women have suffered because of war, but then, too, so have men and in a greater physical degree. No human being save those possessed of the profiteer or jingo spirit wants war, but if it should be forced upon us every man called to the colors is expected to go to his country's defense.

It is unlikely that the bill will become a law, but if it should it would place the self-interest of objectors above the plain requirements of the Federal government. If all such persons were conceded the right to do as they pleased in the matter of obeying their country's call, without regard to consequences, the government might be placed in the deplorable position of being unable to secure enough defenders to meet and ward off a formidable attack.

To accept and adopt the views of these "conscientious objectors" would not only greatly weaken our present potential military strength, but would make our country an easy mark and we should become the laughing stock of the world.

THE AILING RUTABAGA

By James J. Montague

On learning that plants suffer from indigestion

My rutabaga would not gain,
  Despite my earnest care and toil.
It did not lack for sun or rain
  And grew in rich and fertile soil,
Yet day by day it drooped and pined,
  Like something stricken with a blight.
Till sadly I made up my mind
  That its digestion was not right.

I called a plant physician in
  Who took its pulse and temperature;
He said it was a trifle thin,
  But promised me a speedy cure
But it did not improve at all—
  Its trouble threatened to persist—
And so he said that he would call
  An indigestion specialist.

The specialist appeared next day
  And said: "It will not do to wait;
We can't let things go on this way;
  We've simply got to operate."
The following night they plied the knife
  But this poor, suffering plant of mine,
Though still it gamely clung to life,

Then suddenly it took a turn;
  In just two weeks, as I recall,
Its leaves shot upward like a fern,
  Its form was rounded like a ball.
And if it only could engage
  In ordinary conversation
It would be telling leek and sage
  About its dreadful operation.

The LEE SIDE o' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

WE FIND on our desk a copy of Animaldom, published in the interest of the Los Angeles Pet Memorial Park, a cemetery for dogs, cats, parrots, white mice or what love you out west of Calabasas. From it we learn that burial lots can be secured at from $25 to $900 and caskets, markers and crypts are in proportion. Nothing is said of funerals, but we suppose the expense of them all depends on whether or not you have a vested choir.

And one wonders if, on Decoration Day, a memorial platter of bones is placed on every grave.

But it's all right with us. We have known many a dog far more worthy of being buried with honors than are a good many human beings we have known. The same thing has been done in Paris, London and other crowded cities for years, and in those animal cemeteries one not only finds markers but some handsome monuments. Every pet we have owned, since our earliest boyhood, has been laid to rest as decently as we could have it done, and attended to its grave by loving and tearful mourners. When our faithful neardale, Brownie, passes on we shall feel that we have lost an invaluable member of the family. We must agree that he is far more deserving of a monument than we are.

And it is evident that many Southlanders wish to pay this final tribute to their departed pets. Animaldom reports that in one month there were fifteen interments, five lots sold and ten grave spaces sold, and that six markers were set up.

Leeside: Last fall I lost a marginal interest in aviation stocks. Before trying again I determined to investigate the subject of aviation. I found that right here in Pasadena, at the "Tech," was a wonderful laboratory where they delve into the innermost intricacies of air mechanics. As I approached the noble building devoted to that study, I was not quite sure it was the right one, and asked a passing student what building it was.

"Our Senate chamber," he replied.

"Why is it called that?"

"Well, there is a tunnel in there and when you touch the right button they raise a terrific amount of wind."

Ours Don't Mind Company

LS: Americans are inclined to think the English a bit slow. But should not our Park Commissioners take a hint from this, clipped from an English paper:

"Seats, to accommodate two persons only, are to be erected at Fairlie Glen, Ayrshire, a favorite resort of courting couples, as the authorities feel that the present seats, built for six persons, are a waste of material."

Wouldn't seats like that be appreciated in Elysian Park or Griffith?—G. E. D.

They might be appreciated. But as nearly as we can observe nobody is being greatly hindered by the lack of them.

Telling Mrs. Teller

Mrs. Frona Teller, Van Nuys Building, takes us to task for writing "to the manner born," and asks if it shouldn't be "manor."

Frankly, we treasured that idea ourself. But after the proofreaders, who know everything, had changed it on us a few times we looked it up. If Mrs. Teller will turn to Act I, Scene 4, line 15 of her "Hamlet" she will find:

"But to my mind, though I am native here
And to the manner born, it is a custom
More honored in the breach than the observance."

Special Honors for Mrs. Montague

A reader suggests that some sort of special medal should be awarded to Mrs. J. S. Montague, who for nine years has taught a Sunday-school class of boys in the Church of the Messiah, Congregational, at Van Ness and Washington. "Pupils she taught years ago," he writes, "still form a definite group, although scattered through several of our colleges and universities. For some time this class has published a paper or bulletin circulating among the members of this group. Anyone who can hold a Sunday-school class of boys together for one year is deserving of the Star and Crescent or some other important award. To have grown up with a class of boys as Mrs. Montague has is indicative of unusual capacity to deal with and interest boys. And for a class to persist as an entity years after the members have ceased to meet as a class suggests the fine touch of one who must be more than a teacher."

THE PENNY DOORBELL

[New York World]

In spite of the fun which the comic artists are having with it, we must say that the doorbell which will ring only when a penny is dropped in the slot strikes us as a good idea. It is so devised, apparently, that friends and those calling in legitimate business can get their penny back; as for the others, the penny will be a dead loss, and properly so. For while those who live in certain types of apartment-houses are fairly well protected from unwelcome callers, those who live under other circumstances have their lives made miserable by persons who make their livings out of being nuisances. The worthy boy who is making his way through college by selling subscriptions to magazines, the gentleman who is collecting old suits, the representative of the laundry down the street, the representative of the laundry around the corner, the representative of the laundry over on the avenue, the fresh-vegetable man, the banana man, the exterminator man, the agent for kitchen brushes, the lady who is not sure she has the right house—all these keep up an incessant ringing of the doorbell from morning until night, so that many housewives, according to report, never even bother to answer at all. The penny doorbell might change all that. At any rate, it will be interesting to see whether it comes into common use.

ELIHU ROOT AT 85

[New York Evening Post]

"Give Elihu a problem that he can bite into and all the resources of that marvelous mind will work day and night until he gets to the bottom of it. Between times he goes serenely along at a walk." A distinguished friend once gave this description of Mr. Root. It may be his sturdy North-State blood or it may be some such control and serenity that has conduced especially to the fact that he enters upon the eighty-sixth year of his life. Whatever the reason, his country has been fortunate in those eighty-five years, for they have been ever at her service. From his entrance into the War Department to his formulation of the World Court amendments, there is no instance of his shirking a public duty. In mind, character and attainments Elihu Root stands with the handful of really great Americans of today.

HOUSEWIVES MAKE PROSPERITY

[E. E. Calkins in the Review of Reviews]

When we speak of the prosperity of this country too much emphasis is placed upon big business—lumbering, railroads, steel, banking. They do not make prosperity. They merely reflect it. They prosper when the country prospers. And the country prospers by the daily round of small expenditures of millions of families, the grist of groceries, toilet articles, dry goods and clothing they buy. As long as that keeps up everything is normal. But let these housewives begin to pare their daily budgets, substitute a boiling-piece for the weekly roast, make over little Mary's frock instead of buying a new one, and business begins to fall off.

The daily purchases of these millions of people are conditioned by advertising. The breakfast foods, ketchups, tooth pastes and galoshes that they could not do without and which their grandfathers did without were introduced by advertising and are kept there by advertising—the advertising of manufacturers in the magazines, retailers in the newspapers, posters and window displays and direct mail matter. Cut this advertising sharply off and we would have a slump beside which the stock exchange debacle would be a mere incident.

A Major Operation

CLAREMONT, March 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I desire to offer, for your consideration, a suggestion for the consolidation of Southern California and Arizona into one State. The fact that such a thing has never been done does not necessarily mean that it cannot be, and it seems to me that such a combination might be productive of much benefit to all concerned.

My idea would be to project the north boundary line of Arizona westward to include the southern tip of Nevada, entering California just west of Beatty, Nev., and including in California Mt. Whitney, Fresno and reaching the coast just north or south of Castroville. I see no reason why such a State is not practicable. It would, I suppose, require the consent of (a) Southern California, (b) Nevada, (c) Arizona and (d) Congress. I do not see that Northern California would have to consent. The politicians of Arizona would no doubt oppose, but the business interests of the State have so much in common with Southern California that I believe the State could be carried for the project, especially if, before any vote, Southern California would give its pledge that the capital of the new State should be placed in a fairly central location and not at Los Angeles. Prescott might be all right and would be no farther from Los Angeles than Sacramento now is.

What would be the effect of such an adjustment on the Boulder Dam situation? It seems to me it would be beneficial.

"Names of Great Men . . ."

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Among the citizens of the State of California one has been elected by the largest popular majority in the history of our country, as its President. It would seem to be fully in accord with the spirit of the people of this State, and with the general sentiment of our city, to change the name of Hoover street to Herbert Hoover Boulevard. I do not think such a name would be too long; in fact, we have among our thoroughfares one named Woodrow Wilson Drive.

Another change is suggested for the street now named Tenth street. In the latter case, however, there have been other name changes offered. But it would seem to be fully in line with the progressive trend of the times to give Tenth street the name of Lindbergh Boulevard. At present every third or fourth street running east and west has been given a name, and there should be another named arterial street between Wilshire Boulevard and Pico street.

Relativity Again

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Ecod, truth and innocence have gotten out of the bottom of the proverbial well, leaving Mr. Fall down there yet and he wants the newspapers to show the same feverish anxiety on his behalf they did when the child slipped down the casing of a well in Kansas. Dr. Pomerene has sent down the milk on a string and when Uncle Sam put his ear to that hole and heard "Mama, Mama," you'd a-thought from the look on his face he was going to split the earth like you do an orange—but here comes the steam shovels — "twenty-seven pretty girls," Uncle says—"let the metaphors fall where they will, we're going to get him out!" Then Uncle will say, "Now go on and play, but don't play that way no more." Yes, ma'am, yes, sir. Fall says there's relativity in justice just like there is in physics—his savants didn't figure it in.

Bull Ring and Prize Ring

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] News comes from Madrid that an American matador has been seriously, if not fatally, injured in the bull ring. It is a surprise that an American of intelligence and education could be found to pursue any such inhuman calling. It is entirely at variance with the principle of fair play characteristic of the English-speaking peoples. It is not a game sport. The unfortunate bull has not the ghost of a chance and is doomed the moment he enters the ring.

This is an altogether different sport from that of the prize fight, and is contrary to the Anglo-Saxon principle of fair play. In the latter two men voluntarily enter the ring. They know exactly what to expect. They are to a certain extent protected by the rules of the game, and stand in no need of sympathy, whatever the outcome may be. It is an exhibition of brute force, frequently of cruelty, but they are willing contestants, not victims of coerción.

BRITAIN'S NEW POLITICAL PARTY

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Three weeks ago Britain was startled by Lord Beaverbrook's announcement in his London Express of a new political party to be called the United Empire party. Lord Rothemere took up the battle cry in his Daily Mail of March 3, giving most of the space in that great London daily to the subject.

Lord Rothemere begins his sensational editorial with "The United Empire party has been created only just in time to save the nation from utter ruin."

The new party opposes all other parties and particularly Stanley Baldwin's Conservatives. To a large extent it echoes Joseph Chamberlain's crusade twenty-five years ago for tariff reform and free trade within the empire. In addition it places most of the blame for Britain's present tribulations . . . her unemployment, her appalling war debts, upon Baldwin's administration. It declares that Baldwin made a shameful bargain with the United States, when he agreed to pay the empire's debts in gold. He should have bargained to pay in commodities. Its new battle cry, therefore, is, "From I.O.U. to £.S.D." (the latter initials standing for pounds, shillings and pence.)

If the Daily Mail and the Express are to be believed, influential persons of all ranks are joining the new party, which promises relief from all of Britain's economic woes.

Wherefore, it is interesting to consider this Lord Beaverbrook, who, having started the party on its way, now steps out.

Lord Beaverbrook is a Canadian and was formerly William Max Aitken of Montreal, the son of a clergyman in New Brunswick. His first position was with a Montreal broker, where he gained a vast knowledge of finance. After that he went to C. H. Cahan and became very close to Sir Edward Clouston in the Bank of Montreal . . . from about 1904 to 1910. Next we find him staging a $2,500,000 cement trust, there being no antitrust laws in Canada . . . he handling all the funds and making so many enemies that he goes to London in 1911.

In London he bought the old-established Express and numerous provincial newspapers, with over 4,000,000 readers, ran for Parliament, won, and was knighted. During the Lloyd George administration he received his baronetcy, in June, 1916, and his peerage in December of the same year. He became highly patriotic during the war. He stood above all for "efficiency" . . . and backed Lord Northcliffe in the political fight against Lord Kitchener, which so startled the nation at that time . . . Kitchener being its military idol. Beaverbrook is also given credit for jockeying Herbert Asquith out of the premiership and putting Lloyd George into power.

Just before this he had made his peace with the Canadians and became official eyewitness for them in the war . . . his reports, as we all recall, showing that Canada held about 95 per cent of the line, no one else being of any special account.

A remarkable fellow, this Beaverbrook . . . only 50 now, and has suffered from ill health all his life.

It is a reasonable assumption that in his present promotion of the United Empire party and his brilliant success in winning the advocacy of Rothemere, Lord Beaverbrook's particular aim is to put Lloyd George back in power. For this purpose, like the fat boy in Pickwick, he is making old lady Britannia's flesh creep.

The time is ripe, for Britannia hasn't been feeling too good of late and things have gone equally wrong under Conservative, Liberal or Labor administrations. Even food is no longer cheap, the one benefit claimed for free trade. Needless to say, the United Empire party puts a protective tariff foremost among its panaceas, for not only do all foreign nations erect a tariff wall against Britain, but her overseas dominions do likewise. The new party points satirically to those few protected commodities in Britain, notably motor cars, which have thriven when all other tariffless manufactures are in a doleful hole. Britain, theoretically free trade, taxes for "revenue only," so that a few dozen commodities enjoy tariff protection . . . and, if reports are correct, thrive on it.

The new party prints ghastly figures to prove its contentions, and claims that only a new virile strictly patriotic party can save the empire from early and dire destruction. Gladsome predictions of "prosperity" are made for pretty well every trade—if the new party is elected to office.

The fact that Lord Beaverbrook created this party won the tremendous support of Rothemere, who now owns the London Times, the Daily Mail and about twenty other influential papers and magazines, and then stepped out as leader, is interesting. Beaverbrook has long since proved himself a great organizer and a shrewd politician. Canada, for one, is more likely to receive the idea of free trade within the empire, if Beaverbrook is no longer prime leader of the new party. It is not his purpose to cloud the issue for Lloyd George, who is to be called upon again to "save the nation."

The Literary Digest takes the attitude that the new United Empire party is dead at its borning because Beaverbrook has stepped out. I am afraid the Digest has been reading the Conservative papers. English papers arriving daily give a very different impression.

Those romantic adventurers who deplore the advance of civilization with its charts and maps, should know that of the 20,000 small islands in the Indian Ocean, only 150 are inhabited and the remainder still unexplored.

MEDIUM BREAKS UP TRIAL

She Astounds Court by Saying That Valentino's Spirit Sent Her to Offer Testimony

When Shelly Roane Vier, Long Beach spiritualist and medium, suddenly arose from her seat and rushed forward declaring she was sent by the spirit of Rudolph Valentino to testify, she created a commotion in the courtroom that resulted in a mistrial of a law suit being heard yesterday by Superior Judge Archbald.

The interruption occurred during the trial of the suit of Angelina Coppola against Dr. Rodolfo E. Monaco for $50,000 for asserted malpractice and a joint action by her husband, Matthew Coppola, against the physician for $25,000. Coppola is suing for the death of a child, Rudolph Valentino Coppola, who died at birth.

Mrs. Coppola was on the witness stand, being questioned by Attorney William Rains, counsel for the defendant, relative to a statement she had made on her direct examination to the effect "she had been warned by a voice."

It was at this point Miss Vier jumped from her seat in the spectators' gallery and rushed forward.

She declared she had been sent to the courtroom to protect Mrs. Coppola. She said the spirit of Valentino directed her to a cemetery last Christmas, where she met Mrs. Coppola, also that his spirit had sent her to the courtroom. She was in a trance, she said, for the moment, the spirit of a departed Indian chief, Gray Eagle, possessed her. For several minutes she spoke in a strange jargon.

It was several minutes before order was restored. Miss Vier was led from the room by a companion, John Alfred of 2017 Lewis street, Long Beach. When court reconvened Judge Archbald granted a motion of the plaintiff's counsel, Ben F. Griffith, declaring a mistrial.

The children claim to have suffered bruises and shock. The suit was filed by their parents.

Gen. Drum Here For Inspection

Maj.-Gen. Hugh A. Drum, United States Army, newly appointed Inspector-General of the Army, is scheduled to make a brief stopover in Los Angeles tomorrow before entraining for San Francisco to continue his official inspection of activities in the Ninth Corps Area. His itinerary calls for an inspection today of Rockwell Field and the harbor defenses at San Diego.

The new Inspector-General has worn the uniform since 1898, when he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Regular Army at Boston. After a short period at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and Fort Riley, Kan., he was ordered to the Philippines, where he served during the insurrection with the Twelfth and Twenty-fifth Infantry regiments. He also saw service on the Mexican border and at Vera Cruz.

SETTING OF GRADE TO BE CONSIDERED

Tuesday Set for Hearing on First-street Project So Building Can Start

The Public Works Committee of the City Council yesterday set next Tuesday as the date for hearing suggestions and protests on the establishing of a grade at First street and Broadway. The committee is eager to fix the grade so the height-limit Lombardi Building at the southwest corner can get under way.

Dissatisfaction with the proposed plans of City Engineer Jessup was expressed by J. A. Winans, who pointed out that the scheme to run a tunnel along the route at First street to intersect the proposed Figueroa-street tunnel would result in a serious underground traffic condition. Winans proposed instead that the tunnel run in the northerly half of the street, leaving the southerly half of First street as it is now. There will be room for this, it was pointed out, as First street is to be widened forty-two feet on the north side.

Winans proposes that the tunnels do not intersect under the hill.

Beban's Estate Fight Settled

Dispute between the sister of the late George Beban, film actor, and a New York trust company acting as executor of the decedent's $500,000 estate, was settled yesterday when Superior Judge Crail accepted compromise between Mary Beban Smith, the sister, and the Lawyers' Trust Company.

Beban left most of his estate to his son. A dispute arose over whether the estate should be administered in Los Angeles or New York. By terms of the compromise that part of the property which is located in New York will be administered there, and the California property here.

Mr. Thorson is already conducting classes in Los Angeles downtown district, in Hollywood and in Beverly Hills. The fourth class will be opened in West Los Angeles at 1081 Westwood Boulevard, on April 9, next.

SIX AERIAL RECORDS TO BE SOUGHT

Bach Trimotor Piloted by Pat Flemming Will Aim at Marks This Week

A Los Angeles-manufactured airplane will attempt this week to wrest six world's air records away from Germany.

Pat Flemming, night bombing pilot with four years' service during the World War and present experimental engineer of the Bach Aircraft Company, is scheduled to take off from Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport today at 8 a.m. for the first record speed trial of 100 kilometers with 4400 pounds of sand in the cabin of a standard ten-passenger Bach trimotored monoplane.

The present record is an average speed of 139 miles an hour and unofficial tests indicate that the Bach, designed by a local man, Morton Bach, is capable of adding at least twenty miles an hour to the mark. Flemming will have as co-pilot Dudley Steele, aviation director of the Richfield Oil Company.

Other speed attempts will be made over the 500 and 1000-kilometer courses with the same load aboard.

Assaults also will be made on the altitude record, distance flown without refueling record and number of hours in the air without refueling record. These also will be made with the 4400-pound load. The endurance mark for this class is fourteen hours and the distance flown is 1000 miles.

The ship to be used is powered with a 450-horsepower Wasp motor in the nose and two Wright Whirlwinds of 225 horsepower each under the wing. The tests will be supervised by officials of the National Aeronautic Association with Joe Nikrent in charge.

Honoring Mrs. John Tweedy of Roswell, N. M., who is the house guest of Mrs. Felix Guinney of 1220 South Wilton Place, Mrs. Nelle Pennington Clark entertained with luncheon at her home in La Cienega Boulevard, Friday afternoon. Spring blossoms were used in profusion about the rooms. Those bidden included Mrs. Tweedy, Mrs. Felix Guinney, Mrs. Wesley Green and Mrs. Geraldine Graves Lackey. Just previous to the Lenten season, Mrs. Clark gave two buffet suppers, including Mr. and Mrs. John Tweedy, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Guinney, Mr. and Mrs. James Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Haan, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cumbus, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Garner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Hoover, Mrs. Geraldine Graves Lackey and Thomas Mott, Jr.

Betrothal Announced

One of the lovely affairs of the week was the luncheon of yesterday afternoon given by Mrs. Fred Le Blond at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Gordon in June street honoring Miss Dorothy Thayer of Springfield, Mo., who is the house guest of Mrs. Le Blond's sister, Miss Louise Gordon.

The occasion served formally to announce the betrothal of the honor guest to Aldrich Rufus Peck, son of Mrs. Peck and the late Arthur Rufus Peck of 455 South Irving Boulevard.

The news was informally announced by the hostess just as the guests were seated at the small tables adorned with bronze and lavender tulips and ferns.

Miss Thayer, the attractive daughter of Mrs. Everett Henry Thayer of Springfield, was graduated from Marlborough School in 1925 and each year comes back to Los Angeles for a visit with her old classmates and friends. The wedding will be an event of June and the ceremony will take place here.

Those included in yesterday's affair were Mrs. Clyde Payne, Jr., Mrs. John S. Zeiser, Mrs. Edward Sears, Jr., Mrs. Harold Lloyd, Mrs. Garnet Cecil Rainey, Mrs. George Benjamin Hull, Mrs. Thomas Cannon, Mrs. Dextra Baldwin-Winter, Mrs. Harold Boyd Hershman, Mrs. James Talbott, Jr., Mrs. Werner Von Binzer, Mrs. George Nathaniel Whiting, Mrs. Gerold Mangenheimer, Mrs. Stone, Mrs. James Edwin Addicott, Jr., Miss Katherine Thomas and Miss Louise Gordon. At another table placed near the honor guest's table Mrs. Gordon entertained a small group of friends in honor of Mrs. Thayer, who came to the Coast several days ago for the announcement party. Miss Margaret Wilson of Indianapolis, who also is a house guest of Miss Gordon, shared the honors of the afternoon.

Both Miss Wilson and Miss Thayer are dividing their time in Los Angeles between Miss Gordon and Mrs. Mangenheimer.

Mr. Peck, who belongs to The Bachelors, is one of the most popular members of the younger set here. He was graduated from Yale several years ago and is in business in Los Angeles, where he will bring his bride to make their home after the wedding trip.

Elected to University Office

Miss Dorothie Smith, attractive daughter of Mrs. Bernice Smith of South St. Andrews Place, was recently chosen vice-president of the student body of University of Southern California and takes an active part in campus affairs and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

Miss Smith is a clever equestrienne and was an enthusiastic attendant at the recent National Horse Show at the Sports Auditorium.

Smart Affair

An attractive affair of Saturday afternoon, the 22nd inst., was the luncheon and bridge with which Miss Opal Rogers of San Bernardino entertained a coterie of of friends, all of the same city. The table decorations were suggestive of St. Patrick's Day, and colorful spring blossoms added their charm. The guests, who later enjoyed bridge, were Mrs. John F. Rogers, Mrs. Jack Johnson, and the Misses Ella Conner, Nevada Semenza, Mary Shockley, Virgilene Mulvane, Martha Alice McKenzie, Helen Beattie, Clara Hamilton, Georgia Wilson, Mary Rogers and Stella Weimer.

Sorority Affairs

Honoring the initiation of its new members, Zeta chapter of Phi Sigma Sigma Sorority at University of California at Los Angeles gave a banquet last Friday evening in the Rose Room of the Mary Louise. The table decorations and appointments carried out the sorority symbols, a desert scene in miniature being effectively used, with pastel shaded Sweet peas and ferns scattered on the cloth. Twenty guests were bidden. The initiates include Helen Pollack, Marcella Ravitch and Pearl Dyer. Miss Jeannette Zeitlin was in charge of the affair.

The Rose Room of the Mary Louise was the scene of a beautiful dinner party Saturday evening, given by Alpha chapter of Kappa Phi Zeta, honorary professional library sorority at University of California at Los Angeles, culminating a series of attractive affairs given by the chapter. The table appointments were in the sorority colors, lavender and yellow, carried out in the tall tapers and floral decorations of jonquils, and orchid and yellow sweet peas. The rushees honored were Bernice Gibbs, Patricia Fowler and Dorothy E. Pierce. Constance Lodge made arrangements for the affair.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

Rice and Dates

Two cupfuls of fruit juice of any kind, four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, one-half a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, one-half a pound of dates, one egg.

Pit the dates and add to them one-half a cupful of sugar and just enough water to keep the dates from burning and cook until they are a pulp; add the fruit juice and stir well. Mix the cornstarch with two tablespoonfuls of cold water and slowly pour into the mixture. Return to the fire and cook until slightly thickened, remove from the fire and stir into the mixture one cupful of cold boiled rice, then fold in when cold the stiffly beaten white of one egg. Allow to cool and serve.

Oysters and Spaghetti a la Bechamel

Cook two cupfuls of broken spaghetti in boiling water until tender, drain and blanche in cold water; butter a baking dish and line the bottom with a layer of the cooked spaghetti, take two dozen oysters, place them in a saucepan with their own liquor and heat them until the edges begin to curl. Place a layer of them over the cooked spaghetti, season with salt and paprika, then add a layer of Bechamel sauce and repeat until the dish is filled, having the last layer of oysters. Sprinkle the top thickly with buttered bread crumbs and place in the oven until the crumbs are well browned, about twenty to thirty minutes.

Bechamel Sauce

One and one-half cupfuls of chicken stock, one-fourth of a cupful of butter, one-fourth of a cupful of flour, one-half a cupful of scalded thin cream, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper, a few grains of nutmeg, the yolks of three eggs; melt the butter in a saucepan, add the flour that has been mixed with the seasoning and mix to a smooth paste. Let cook for one minute, then add the hot stock, stirring constantly, and the hot cream. Stir until well thickened, beat the yolks of the eggs slightly, dilute with a little of the hot sauce, then pour into the other mixture, beat well; but do not allow the sauce to boil after adding the egg yolk. Cook for two minutes.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 9 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

Sandpile Will Keep Child Occupied and Happy

Few things are so calculated to start the day out brightly as a letter patterned on the following. No one can expect that all mothers will have such outstanding success, but we are happy to hear of those who do.

"Your feeding leaflet has been a wonderful help to me," writes Mrs. W. K. B., "and it is almost beyond repair from so much handling. My 2-year-old has never had a sick day and neither has his 8-months-old brother. I want to thank you for your share in it. Now I am wondering if this will help you.

"So many mothers complain of the difficulty in getting their first babies to play alone. I had a terrible time until we built a very inexpensive fence of lath and put in a sandpile. We fenced in an area about thirty feet square (finding out afterward we need not have fenced so much) and used for that three bundles of lath and two by fours for posts. The total lumber bill was about seven dollars. We found this much more durable than chicken wire would have been, which was what we first considered. Two seven-foot one by four boards in one corner were enough to hold a load of sand which cost $2. We used a piece of canvas over one side instead of the shade tree which we didn't have.

"Even then the little boy was lonesome until I provided him with a big pail of water besides his coffee cans, spoons, shovels and so forth.

Forget the Dirt

"Of course he was a sight each noon, wet and sandy, and instead of taking him in the clean bathroom and over the clean kitchen floor, I gave him a bath in a tub we have in the garage. It was an easy thing to do, just to slip off his one garment and give him a quick shower, and he loved it.

"It is a shame to keep children so clean that they can never play happily and I can remember that my happiest recollections were of making mud pies."

We have a leaflet on outdoor play equipment which gives full directions, material and approximate costs for fixing a backyard playyard, sandpile, horizontal bars and flying rings. This may be obtained (for use by any amateur carpenter) by sending the usual self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. It, too, suggests laths for the uprights of the yard. The sand best liked by children is called "kid sand" and costs just a trifle more than ordinary sand, which is not so fine and clean.

None of us who remember sand piles but will remember the absolute joy of making things with wet sand, which is part of its legitimate use. In those days we were always warned not to sit on it, but we aren't so scared of a little hot dampness these days. Most mothers could manage a tub in the basement or the garage or the backyard and the quick shower is fine. Let the children enjoy their sandpile to the utmost.

FLIP FINDS OUT

Though it may cost both grief and pain,
Experience is always gain.
—Old Mother Nature.

By Thornton W. Burgess

Stiff-legged, growling deep down in his throat, lifting his upper lip to snarl and look ugly, Flip the Terrier was walking around Prickly Porky, the Porcupine. As he growled he told Prickly Porky what he was going to do to him. And all the time Prickly Porky didn't once show the least bit of fear. Gradually Flip realized this. Prickly Porky wasn't afraid. No, sir, Prickly Porky wasn't the least bit afraid.

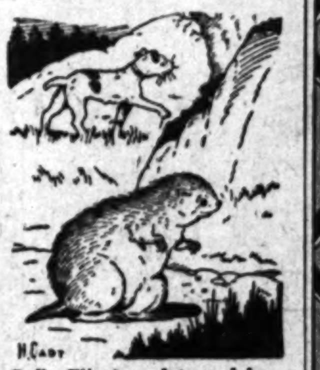
Now, this should have been a warning to Flip. It wasn't. It simply made Flip angrier than ever. He felt that in a way Prickly Porky was showing him disrespect. Yes, sir, that was the way he felt about it. At first he hadn't intended to attack Prickly Porky, but now he intended to show this clumsy fellow that, big as he was, he was no match for a courageous little dog.

Flip was just preparing to make a sudden rush, in an effort to seize Prickly Porky by the back of the neck, when something queer happened. It quite upset Flip's dignity. You see, Prickly Porky, instead of advancing to meet him head first, suddenly turned and moved backward toward Flip. At the same time he seemingly became twice as big as he was before. You see, he had raised the thousand little spears hidden in his coat. It was all so unexpected that Flip, backing away in a hurry, stumbled over his own feet and actually fell over backward.

My, such an angry dog as Flip was then! He scrambled to his feet again and began to dance around Prickly Porky, watching for a chance to rush in and seize him. However, angry as he was, he did notice that Prickly Porky tried to keep his back to him. This was something new in Flip's experience. All the other people with whom Flip had ever fought had always faced him. Only to run away did they ever turn back to him. But this queer fellow would back toward him instead of running away. It was a funny way of fighting and Flip didn't know just what to do.

However, Flip was by this time so thoroughly angry at being treated in this manner that he was determined to kill Prickly Porky. So he did his best to get Prickly Porky off guard by making short little rushes at him, now from this side and now from that. Somehow, he didn't want to give Prickly Porky a chance to use those big teeth of his, and so he kept watching for a chance to jump in from back of him. Poor Flip! There was no way for him to know that this was just what Prickly Porky wanted.

By and by Flip, moving about as swiftly as only a fox terrier can, saw, or thought he saw, a chance to rush in from behind Prickly Porky. He just started the rush, but he didn't finish it. No, sir, he didn't finish it. Something happened! Something dreadful hap- of his face and then it was just as if a lot of redhot needles had been thrust into the tender flesh of his face and into his mouth, too. Never had Flip felt anything like that. Never did he want to feel anything like it again. He yelped right out. He couldn't help it. And he continued to yelp. You see, it was very, very painful. He didn't even notice that Prickly Porky paid no further attention to him, but shuffled off about his business.



Sadly Flip turned toward home

Sadly Flip turned toward home. He had become aware that the pains in his face and in his mouth were from a lot of little things like barbed thorns that were sticking in his face and mouth. They were the little spears of Prickly Porky—quills, as they are called. One was sticking in the bottom of his right forefoot, so that he had to walk on three legs. How it had all happened he didn't know yet. But you know. You know that he had been slapped by Prickly Porky's tail.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

The nerves which supply the synovial joint are peculiar in that they can be squeezed, cut and touched with but very little pain, yet they cause much distress whenever the joint is injured by a sprain (which dislocates it from its usual position) or, whenever the ligaments are stretched beyond their normal give. These nerves act like jealous watchdogs which raise an uproar whenever the joint is in danger of being dislocated, lying quietly at other times.

Cynovitis causes an acute pain because the swelling may push the sac out until it looks something like a tumor, and the blood also becomes congested, causing a greater swelling so that these nerves and ligaments in this area are greatly stretched.

Since bursitis and synovitis greatly resemble each other they both respond to the same treatments. When there is a chronic inflammation of these tissues, you will generally find that the condition has been built up from a chronic poisoning due to retention of toxic wastes.

The quickest way to cleanse the blood stream of these toxic substances is to start on a fruit fast which should be continued from eight to fifteen days, and then a careful diet used for a month, and then another short fast of about five days. It is important to take an enema in the morning so that the bowels are kept free from toxins. No walking or exercising of the affected joint should be used as long as the inflammation is present, although other parts of the body may be exercised.

A very good electrical treatment over the affected joint is with the use of diathermy, since this form of treatment creates an internal heat and brings a greater supply of blood to the part to aid in absorption of poisons and toxins present. If diathermy is not available, hot applications or a deep therapy lamp may be used around the joint, although in either of these cases the heat is not as penetrating as with diathermy. Even after chronic synovitis is entirely cured, it is necessary that a careful diet be used for quite some time.

In acute synovitis the correct treatment is to rest the part, and instead of hot applications, it is usually better to use cold applications. A wet towel wraped around the knee, for example, and covered with two or three thicknesses of dry woolen material makes an excellent cold compress. The fast should be used the same as for chronic synovitis.

Your new-style gowns demand Kotex—because it's fashioned to fit

You'll readily understand why smart women prefer Kotex, when you discover its clever shaping and remarkable softness.

WHAT a difference the right sanitary protection makes under your smart new frocks!

With clumsy methods . . . you have awkward lines and bulges.

With Kotex . . . smooth fit, a minimum of bulk; never a revealing outline!

Kotex is made of a remarkable substance (Cellucotton—not cotton—absorbent wadding) which makes bulk and weight unnecessary. Cellucotton is so light and cool, so amazingly absorbent.

Used in 85% of hospitals

Cellucotton is so vastly superior that you'll find it used in 85% of the very greatest hospitals, not for one or two purposes alone, but for important surgical work.

Cellucotton absorbent wadding is, as you probably know, a cellulose substance which performs the same sanitary function with 5 times the absorbency of the finest cotton.

Cellucotton absorbs away from the surface, leaving the surface always soft and delicate. This prevents chafing and packing, and makes Kotex hygienic as well as comfortable.

There are many other reasons why millions of women today will use only Kotex. One is its instant disposability. Others are noted at the right. Please try Kotex. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

ILL-GOTTEN GAINS SOON LOST

Unguarded Moment Costs Householder All Her Jewelry, But Perfect Teamwork of Daughter, Neighbor and Police Quickly Recovers Them

Fast police work was reported yesterday by Mrs. B. P. Patterson of 7216 Rosewood avenue, who praised Officers Born and Graner of Hollywood for returning $800 worth of diamonds and pearls thirty minutes after the gems were stolen from her home. Mrs. Patterson was making a call on Mrs. Rider, across the street, yesterday forenoon when her daughter Shirley, 7 years of age, returned from school. She met a strange man leaving the rear door.

"Tell your mother that Mr. Hanson called," he told her and drove off. Shirley ran to tell Mrs. H. D. MacLernan of 7210 Rosewood avenue, who noted the car license number and telephoned to Hollywood Police Station. Meanwhile Mrs. Patterson had rushed home and found that three diamond rings, two strings of pearls, a watch and other valuables were missing.

Two call cars were dispatched from Hollywood station. Born and Graner said that they sighted the phaeton with the reported number at Melrose and Fairfax avenues. They arrested the driver, Ed Thompson of Long Beach, and report that the missing jewelry was in his vest pocket. Thompson and the jewelry were returned to the Patterson house within a half-hour after the alarm. The man was booked on a charge of suspicion of burglary.

WITNESS IN STILL CASE TOO SILENT

Richard Kelly's Desire to Avoid Testifying Causes Temporary Detention

The silence of Richard Kelly, head of the Kelly Boiler Works, 557 Mission Road, baffled judge, attorneys and attaches yesterday in the court of United States District Judge Killits. His reluctance to testify in the case of the government against Nick Bruno and three others accused of violating the National Prohibition Act, and the inability of the court and attorneys to determine just what he knew about two large stills said to have been installed at the Bruno ranch, near Elsinore, led to Kelly being placed in temporary custody pending an investigation.

After he had been held for several hours Judge Killits released him to the custody of his attorney, to appear this morning.

The court questioned the witness, the interrogation resulting in heated legal arguments on the part of defense and Federal attorneys. Testimony was completed yesterday and arguments will be heard today.

COUNTY TO ASK REFUND ON DAM FEE

State Never Called Upon to Perform All Duties Covered by Agreement

Refund of a portion of the $14,500 fee paid the State by the county for an examination last fall of the site of the abandoned proposed high dam in San Gabriel Canyon will be sought by the county through action taken yesterday by the Board of Supervisors.

According to Supervisor Wright, the fee was to include supervisorial work by the State in construction of the proposed dam, as well as examination to determine the safety of the site.

Inasmuch as the fee was fixed on a percentage basis in ratio to the proposed cost of the dam, plans for which have been abandoned, Wright said he felt the county was entitled to a refund of part of the fee.

The board voted to instruct County Flood Control Counsel Dowds to file a formal request with the State.

Japan Copying Our Athletics

California is a model for the new generation of Japanese whose awakened interest in athletics in considered almost a social revolution, according to Richard Wallace, Paramounut director, who is on a tour of the world. Thousands of them are engaging in American sports the year around, declares Wallace in a letter to a Hollywood friend. He says the newspapers credit the influence of the motion picture.

"The new interest in Japan for sports is actually resulting in increased stature and improved physique of the youngsters there," writes Wallace. "Interest in talking pictures is tremendous, and although scarcely 1 per cent of the people can understand the dialogue, theater attendance has increased amazingly. The dialogue is made intelligible to the audience by means of a speaking interpreter."

Wallace and his wife are expected to return to Hollywood in June.

RADIO PROVING ACOUSTICS AID

Many Giving Thought to Better Sound Now

There is Proper Place in Room for Set

Voice Modulation in Home Also Being Fostered

The Times Forum, KHJ, 1:30 p.m.: Arthur Millier, art critic of The Times, on "Essentials of Art Appreciation." World-wide news, 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Twenty years ago correcting acoustics was thought of as a highbrow problem just for theaters and churches. Few people knew how to pronounce the word correctly.

Today acoustics is becoming a household word. Radio is responsible for the wider understanding, but there is still much to be accomplished, particularly in the home. From a practical standpoint it is a fact that the piano is very often not placed in the living-room or other room with proper consideration of acoustics. This also applies to the radio set. There is always one point in the room where your radio set will sound much better than any other place. If you have a guest singer in your home, you should know the most advantageous place for the singer. Echoes in the home are entirely unnecessary and can be done away with by properly adjusting drapes and rugs.

VOICES MODULATED

The study of acoustics is also teaching voice modulation. It is worth giving thought to in your home. Give attention to the voices of your children and other members of the family and you will find that poise and comfort for all concerned will result. Radio has been saying now for seven years, "If you must rattle the pans in the kitchen, at least close the door; do not all try to speak at once for if the music or address is worth listening to at all, it is worth undivided attention."

Improper acoustics have a definite effect on nerves. Large corporations have found within the last few years that a much higher efficiency on the part of employees in large rooms is obtained where acoustics have been adjusted. Avoid the possibility of deadening the room too much, for this may have a depressing effect. Singers do not enjoy singing in a room where they feel that their voice is gone from them. The ideal is sharpness without echo.

Safety Rules Given for Test of Mushrooms

Exploding the time-honored theory that a silver spoon cooked with mushrooms turns black if they are not the edible variety, Paul Blair of the Blair Detective Agency yesterday cited two rules for detecting the real article as found in a book published by the Department of Agriculture on "Edible Fungi of the United States."

Referring to kinds generally picked in this part of the country, he said that any mushroom which is pink underneath when it is young and dark when it is older is an edible mushroom. The covering of an edible mushroom invariably is fastened to the stalk. Look for these two things, he says, as rules of safety.

POLICE PROBE GIRL ATTACK

Intruder at San Diego Flees Before Capture

Nothing of Value in Room is Molested

Victim Suffers from Shock and Hysteria

SAN DIEGO, March 25.—A mystery attack upon Rose Kimmel, 16 years of age, as she slept in her home, 2681 L street, early today is under investigation by police.

The girl screamed when an intruder grabbed her by the arms and tried to pull her from bed. Her cries awakened a sister sleeping in the same room and her father, who was in an adjoining room. After the assailant had loosed his grip from the girl's arms he sunk his fingers deep in her throat in an effort to choke her, but was frightened away by the approach of the girl's father.

Suffering from shock and hysteria the victim of the attack was given first aid by police and allowed to remain at home.

Louis Kimmel, the father, said the man entered the home through a window in the bedroom occupied by his two daughters. The intruder apparently made no effort to steal anything from the home because two purses and a wrist watch were in plain sight on the dresser in the bedroom.

As Kimmel entered the room he saw the assailant leap through the open window and disappear, he told police. No trace of the man could be found.

Junior College Propaganda is Started at Beach

HAWTHORNE, March 25.—With the advancement of the plan of establishing a junior college in this district as the objective, rallies of proponents of the plan were held at the Fifth-street school last night and at the York-avenue school this evening.

On Wednesday evening the plan will be put before the assembly at the York-avenue school followed by a joint rally in the Ballona-avenue school auditorium Thursday night. Speakers conversant with the junior college plan, which, if established in this district, would probably include the Redondo Beach and El Segundo area as well, have been secured for each of the meetings.

The move centers around the proposal to establish the college in the new Adolph Leusinger High School building, now used as a part of the Inglewood High School system, which the junior college if secured would serve.

Bond Issue Advocated at Ventura

VENTURA, March 25.—Affirming that the purchase and improvement of Big Sisters' Hospital for a City Hall was necessary and that the total cost of $80,000 was too great to be provided out of the city's annual income, a resolution preparatory to the calling of a bond-issue election was laid before the Council last night by City Attorney Walter Fourt.

Action on the resolution was delayed for a week so that all members of the Council can familiarize themselves with the alterations intended at the structure.

Department heads will be consulted during the week in regard to their ideas upon the needs of their forces.

Contract Let on Structure

MONTEBELLO, March 29.—Plumbing and electric wiring contracts in connection with the $30,000 library building to be erected in the municipal park facing on South Taylor avenue were awarded this past week along with the general contract. The plumbing contract went to E. W. Crowell at approximately $1500 and George L. Patterson received the electric wiring at approximately $1000.

The Municipal Library Building being erected by the local city administration was sponsored as a project last year by the local Chamber of Commerce and when brought to a vote of the people carried by the necessary two-thirds majority. The building was designed by Jeffries & Schaefer, architects, and is to be built under the supervision of John A. Malloy. It will be a Class A construction of pressed brick.

SAN FERNANDO SEES SEVEN HATS IN RING

SAN FERNANDO, March 25.—There are to be seven in the race for the local City Council in the election to be held here early next month. They are Charles W. Waite, Charles H. Temple, C. W. Judy, F. E. Strader, F. B. Roberts, J. C. Maclay and C. Kosin. The last day for filing was today at noon.

Voters sympathetic with, or affiliated with the local Taxpayers' League, are said to be supporting Strader, Roberts and Maclay. The league, it is stated, was foremost in opposing the recent $100,000 bond election which, had it passed, would have been used to build a new City Hall here. Waite and Judy are members of the present Council. Temple is a former president of the local Chamber of Commerce and a director now of that organi-

THATCHER THROWS HAT INTO RING

Citrus Rancher of Pomona Enters Race for Election as Supervisor

POMONA, March 25.—Hugh A. Thatcher of Walnut, prominent citrus rancher and local capitalist, today announced his candidacy for the post now held by Fred T. Beaty, that of Supervisor of the First District in Los Angeles county. Mr. Thatcher's decision came with definite word of Mr. Beaty's retirement at the expiration of his present term.

Mr. Thatcher has had experience in civic activities, in business and executive capacities and has an intimate knowledge of the citrus and farming industries, according to his supporters.

He is a director of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce and has acted as chairman of the department of highways for the past three years. He has also served for about twelve years as a member of the Republican County Central Committee and is a member of the executive committee of the Ninth District Republican Congressional Committee. He was a charter member of the Los Angeles County Fair organization, has served six years as a trustee of the Walnut school district, and is a director of the Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

He is a member of the Masonic order, B.P.O. Elks and of the Kiwanis Club, and has lived in this valley for the past thirty-nine years.

El Monte Youth Plucky Patient

UPLAND, March 25.—There have been many persons in San Antonio Community Hospital, who displayed great courage while suffering pain caused by accidents, but, according to the nurses and physicians at the hospital, the bravest of them all is Carnell Coon.

This youngster is 13 years of age and lives in El Monte. Late Saturday both legs were broken above the knees in an accident in San Antonio Canyon, when a truck load of boys went over the embankment. Even though the bones protruded through the flesh of his legs the plucky youngster refused to make an outcry.

When his mother appeared at the hospital the boy cried because of the grief he had caused her. He told nurses his father is out of work, other members of the family are ill and his mother the only means of support to the family.

He had entreated his mother to let him go to the mountains with the other boys and although she demurred strongly he finally won her over.

The boy was removed later to Los Angeles General Hospital but before he went he expressed deep thanks to each nurse for her care to him. The nurses said they have never had a case like his where the patient refused to betray any signs of the pain.

Second Death Results From Crossing Crash

VENTURA, March 25.—The fatal accident Saturday in which a Southern Pacific train crashed into a truck at the avenue grade crossing near Seaside Park, killing one man and severely injuring two others, claimed its second life today. Henry L. Wood, 75 years of age, died at General Hospital after pneumonia set in from the broken leg and internal injuries he had sustained.

The condition of James L. Wood, about 50, son of the dead man and now the only survivor of the crash, was reported as still serious.

The three men had come here from Arvin in quest of jobs.

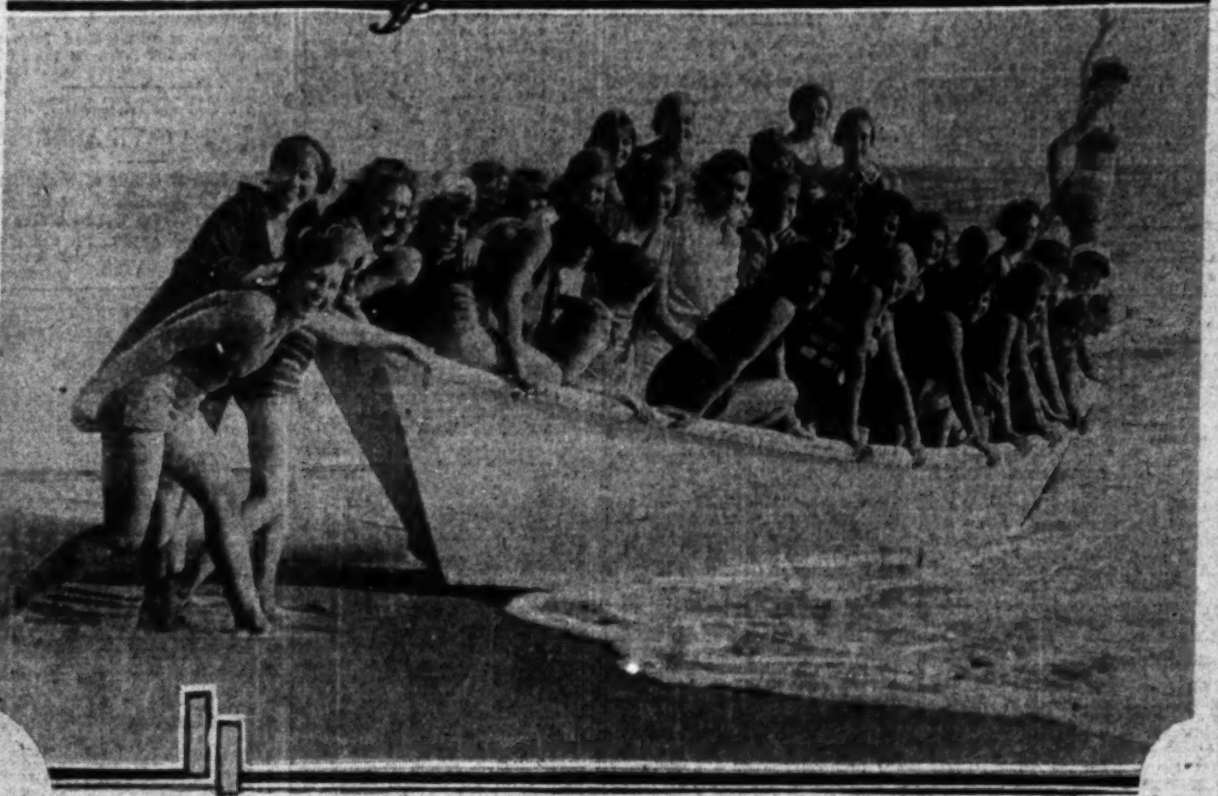
Santa Monica Maids Climb Aboard Good Ship "Health" for Ocean Bath



Water's Fine—Come In

SANTA MONICA, March 25.—"All aboard for the 1930 swimming season!" was the cry of these Santa Monica Bay district girls as they shoved off today in the good ship Health.

Hot weather inland brought out regular summer crowds over the week-end, and today resembled a perfect Monday in vacation time to the beach purveyors of bathing suits, hot-dogs and amusements.

"Looks like a big year," was the word passed along the strand from pier to pier. "Lots of tourists and plenty of pep from the local folks."

PUBLIC GOLF COURSE FOR CITY'S PARK

Improvement Sentiment Unanimous in San Diego; Company Supplies Funds

SAN DIEGO, March 25.—An all-grass eighteen-hole golf course in Balboa Park practically was assured today when the City Council conducted a hearing and not a single protest was offered. Residents of the vicinity of the park spoke heartily in favor of the project.

By establishing a minimum and maximum rate of $1 for use of the golf links the Council declared it to be for the benefit of the poor man as well as the person of greater means. Other tentative fees are $5 per month and $60 per year.

Construction is to begin within thirty days after ratification of the contract by the park board and plans and specifications for a water reclamation plant to be built in connection with the golf links are approved by the State Board of Health, the Council was informed.

When the Council convened this morning the proposed contract was read by Assistant City Attorney C. L. Byers. By its terms the sanitary water reclamation plant is to be built by Frank W. Seifert and associates who are to build the golf links at the same time. The city is to furnish no part of the finances.

The company asks for a fifteen-year lease of the golf links, during which time they propose to pay the city 10 per cent of the gross receipts, the company to retain the remainder.

It was stated at the Council meeting that a saving of 1,250,000 gallons of water per day would be made to the city for the reason that water that goes into the park would be used to develop and keep the golf links green and in addition would serve to develop the now barren portions of the park on the east side.

LARGE ASPARAGUS CROP IS INDICATED

VAN NUYS, March 25.—San Fernando Valley is to produce lots of asparagus this spring, according to S. O. Houghton of Van Nuys, largest grower in Los Angeles county, though the crop may not be as profitable as the season before. Recent rains, however, have greatly aided the growing fields. Prices so far are low, as the northern asparagus came into the market three weeks earlier than last year.

The Asparagus Co-operative Selling Association is composed of Houghton and a dozen Chinese growers in this section, and during the peak of the packing season work is done at packing-houses that have been established on the various ranches of the association.

For a number of years Houghton has been associated with his Chinese "copartners." He states they are all excellent business men and firm believers in the advantages in co-operative market selling.

GAS COMPANY TO BUILD

Property at Pomona Purchased for District Headquarters Building

POMONA, March 25.—Purchase by the Southern Counties Gas Company of the Armour property at the southeast corner of Holt and Main streets, was announced today by Charles G. Spencer, district manager of the concern, with headquarters in this city. An investment of approximately $100,000 will be made when the company completes arrangements to build its headquarters building on the site, Mr. Spencer stated. The property, with a frontage of 120 feet on Holt avenue and 193 feet on Main street, is considered one of the most desirable pieces of business property in the city, located as it is in the heart of Pomona's new business section which has been growing rapidly in the past few years.

The local headquarters are now located at the northwest corner of Second and Gordon streets on property owned by the gas company. the district supervised by Mr. Spencer, including the following communities: Pomona, Ontario, Upland, Chino, Claremont, La Verne, San Dimas, Covina, West Covina, Glendora, Azusa, Baldwin Park, Puente, Otterbein, Walnut and Spadra.

About 125 persons are employed in the district, the local headquarters handling all book-keeping, accounts and billing.

City Bastile to Be Labeled With Large Sign

VENTURA, March 25.—Suppose some notorious criminal—with heart softened by repentance—came to Ventura to yield his body to justice and pay the penalty for a life of misdeed. Imagine his embarrassment if he could not find the City Jail.

To provide for just such an occurrence and to make it easier for everyone to locate the municipal bastile—now very hard to find because of its deceptive appearance—the City Council last night ordered a sign placed on the building informing all that "this is the City Jail."

Lawyers, friends of prisoners, bondsmen, visiting officers and others looking for the jail have been passing it without knowing it, Chief of Police Clarence Mattson reported.

The building, on South Garden street, is a galvanized iron structure that looks more like a garage than a jailhouse.

San Bernardino Pioneer Passes

SAN BERNARDINO, March 25.—Funeral services were held here today for Harley Swarthout, San Bernardino Valley pioneer who died late Sunday. Mr. Swarthout, member of one of San Bernardino's best-known pioneer families, died at his home at the corner of Eighteenth and G streets, following a ten days' illness. He was 73 years of age and a native of San Bernardino, where he had spent his entire life.

Mr. Swarthout is the second brother of the family to die within little more than a month, the elder brother, Sidney Swarthout, having passed away in February. They were sons of the late Nathan Swarthout who settled in San Bernardino during the gold rush days, having first come to California during the war with Mexico. Swarthout Canyon in the San Bernardino Mountains was named after the family and the family homestead was on a large tract of land in the vicinity of Highland avenue and G street. Several members of the family still have their homes in that district.

School Head Out of Race

SANTA BARBARA, March 25.—A. S. Pope, for the past ten years county superintendent of schools, will not be a candidate for election for another term, he announced today. At the same time he announced that Clarence Ruth, principal of the elementary schools of Lompoc, will be a candidate for the office.

Melvin Bowman, principal of Franklin school in Santa Barbara, is already in the race and Mrs. Muriel Edwards of Santa Ynez is being urged to make the race.

In announcing that he would not be a candidate for re-election, Pope said:

"I have sacrificed quite a little money in holding the office of county superintendent for several years past. I am going to give it up and look after business."

Pope and a partner are manufacturing school supplies and shipping them to all parts of the country from here, he said.

WATER PROGRAM OFFERED

Three Counties Agree on Development of Santa Ana River Basin

SAN BERNARDINO, March 25.—Acting to agree on a program of development in the Santa Ana River Basin representatives of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties will meet before the conservation program is submitted before the Hoover-Young commission at Oakland on April 8-9, it was decided today. State Senator Ralph E. Swing, chairman of the Legislative Water Committee, in a letter to the Board of Supervisors, proposed that the meeting be held.

The tricounty conference will probably be held at the Mission Inn, Riverside, on April 3, that date being suggested by Francis Cuttle, chairman of the Tricounties Water Conservation Association, in a letter to the board supplementing Mr. Swing's proposal. It is probable that the entire boards of supervisors of the three counties and representatives of water interests in the Santa Ana River basin will attend. The conference follows the issuance by State Engineer Edward Hyatt of a report of the State's survey of the Santa Ana River flood-control program, in which he declared that the control of the river's flood waters "is entirely feasible."

The extent to which the floods may be controlled are, however, "dependent upon the amount which public bodies ultimately decide to appropriate for this purpose," the engineer stated. The survey of the river basin under way for three years, was financed jointly by the State and the three counties, the boards of supervisors appropriating funds equal to State allotments.

The Hoover-Young commission will hear proponents of several major conservation and flood-control projects throughout the State at the Oakland hearing. The commission will either recommend or disapprove of Federal aid in the projects.

Salaries Set for Guardians

SANTA BARBARA, March 25.—The salaries of Dr. William O. P. Hulse, dean of the medical school of Stanford University, and Dr. Langley Porter, dean of the medical school of the University of California, in their new capacities as guardians of Stanley McCormick, incompetent multimillionaire of Montecito, were set here today at $15,000 a year each for the first year, with all expenses entailed in their duties added.

The salary agreement was reached by Judge William Dehy of Inyo county, who presided at the Stanley McCormick guardianship trial here, in conference with attorneys for Mrs. Stanley McCormick, and for Harold McCormick and Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine, brother and sister of the court's ward and members of the board of personal care.

The appointment of the two medical deans concluded a lengthy family quarrel over the care and treatment of McCormick and the employment of a psychoanalyst, Dr. E. J. Kempf, for $120,000 a year. Dr. Kempf was released the middle of March. Judge Dehy did not get to complete his conference with the attorneys today as he was called out of the city by the death of his brother.

TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE SPRINGS SURPRISE

ONTARIO, March 25.—Having been the first organization to take out petitions for nominating candidates for City Council election April 14 and taking a prominent part in a recent election, the Taxpayers' League of Ontario caused considerable surprise today by not filing their petitions nor entering any candidates for the election. Deadline for filing petitions was at noon today. City Clerk D. B. Wynne announced four candidates for three Council posts, three on the Citizens' ticket, the fourth one running independently.

The candidates are Dr. C. L. Emmons and N. H. Garrison, incumbents, and A. B. Lund, member of the Citizens' ticket, Harry D. Gritner, independent.

Playground Commission for Ventura

VENTURA, March 25.—An ordinance setting up a playground commission of three members and establishing its duties passed its first reading last night at the City Council meeting.

The measure provides for appointment by the Mayor of a member from the City Council, one from the Board of Education, and one at large to hold office for one year subject to the Council.

Duties are to establish, maintain and operate recreation facilities on school grounds in Ventura.

Work of the commission will be mainly advisory. The actual details of playground activities will be in the hands of those employed as supervisors. And the major items will be okehed by the City Council.

Purpose of putting the measure through last night was to set up a body to handle the summer playground operations during vacation time, as planned several weeks ago.

RATTLESNAKE KILLED WITH BOW AND ARROW

OCEANSIDE, March 25.—James Miller, 17 years of age, local high school boy, has won an enviable record among his many classmates by killing a rattlesnake just north of Oceanside with a bow and arrow just before the rattler attempted to strike him. The snake measured three feet six inches long and had eight rattlers.

Miller, who is an adept at archery, was taking a stroll Sunday afternoon and as usual had a bow and arrow with him. A small boy was preceding him along a path near a slough when suddenly the sound of a rattle was heard and the youth sprang back, knocking Miller down. Jumping up, he quickly fitted an arrow into his bow and shot the rattler through the body, pinning him to the ground.

As the snake writhed about Miller finished him with three other well-directed shots. Today the boy is proudly exhibiting the eight rattlers and proclaiming the value of his trusty bow and arrow.

CITY TO ENTERTAIN SCOUT

Japanese Boy to be Honored at Beaumont Cherry Blossom Festival

BEAUMONT, March 25.—Harry Mayeda, highest honor student of the Boy Scouts in the United States in the recent awards of the national court of honor, who is coming to the Japanese Cherry Blossom festival in Beaumont Sunday, as the guest of Frank A. Miller of the Mission Inn and the Japanese Association of Riverside, will remain an extra day in Beaumont. Permission for the extension has been granted by the Junior College of Sacramento. Mr. Mayeda will be the guest of Guy court of honor, who is coming to the Japanese Cherry Blossom Festival Bogart of Troop 32.

He will be the speaker at the Beaumont Rotary luncheon on Monday, the 31st inst., telling of his experiences in taking the Sacramento Japanese Boy Scouts on a good-will tour of Japan last year. County Scout Executive John H. Leecing of Riverside is also expected to be present. Dr. Bogart will be chairman, with special music directed by Robert E. Dillon. J. E. Roberts will open the luncheon program.

While in Beaumont, Mayeda will probably speak briefly at the Federated Church Sunday evening, where Rev. Rex E. Lawhead is having a Japanese evening. He is also expected to speak before the high-school student body Monday morning, on invitation of Supt. Young. He will return Monday afternoon to Sacramento to resume his school work. The Beaumont Rotary Club and Mr. Leecing of the Scout council, hope to bring him to Southern California during his vacation to Address service clubs and Scout troops.

WINE-TONIC ORDINANCE ATTACKED

Riverside Merchants Start Court Proceedings Against Newly Enacted Law

RIVERSIDE, March 25.—Asserting druggists of the city have been given a monopoly of the sale of wine tonics and bitters, and that the rights of the buying public have been invaded, Attorney P. N. McCloskey today filed an action in the Superior Court for H. W. Hotchkiss and W. E. Hotchkiss, owners of a news stand on Eighth street, demanding an injunction against Chief of Police Brule and City Attorney Eugene Best, permanently restraining them from interfering with the sale of bitters from the store.

During the pendency of the action the plaintiffs ask that defendants be enjoined from enforcing Ordinance No. 552, by which the City Council recently restricted the sale of wine tonics and bitters to drug stores or by "registered pharmacists." The plaintiffs also ask that the defendants be cited into court to show why the injunction should not be made permanent. The City Council was not named in the action.

Upon passage of the "wine tonic" ordinance, the plaintiffs say, they suspended sale of the bitters under threat of arrest. The trade in the bitters was "very profitable," they claim.

Declaring that the "passage and adoption of said Ordinance No. 552 was not dictated or influenced by public policy, public interest, public welfare, or public necessity, nor in good faith," the plaintiffs' complaint alleges the American Constitution has been violated in that "the said ordinance creates a monopoly."

"Said ordinance," the complaint says, "creates a monopoly of selling, bartering, delivering, giving or in any manner furnishing wine tonics and bitters as defined in Sec. 1 of the ordinance, in favor of registered pharmacists duly conducting drug stores as defined by said ordinance. That section discriminates against plaintiffs and like dealers in favor of a class of persons, to wit, 'registered pharmacists duly conducting drug stores' and that no reasonable basis exists for such discriminations."

Public Warned by Inspector

MONTEBELLO, March 25.—Agricultural Inspector Arthur E. Dewey has warned the public of this city against buying nursery stock indiscriminately from boys or peddlers.

This warning is the result of the disappearance yesterday of a large quantity of palms badly infested with scale insects from a vacant lot where they were thrown by a local nurseryman for the purpose of burning. Before the palms were burned, it is reported, some young boys picked them up and peddled them for a small sum. Not only are these palms infested and apt to spread scale to other plants, but the people buying them are violating an agricultural statute in not notifying the inspector on receiving them. Anyone selling nursery stock is required to have a State license and to have stock inspected.

The local police department is aiding the inspector in locating the palms, for it is feared this scale might cause considerable damage if not checked.

Rock Foundation Found for Dam

SUNLAND, March 25.—Although work started less than a month ago, about 20 per cent of the total excavating work of 100,000 cubic yards of earth and rock have been removed at the Hansen dam site, the first part of the $1,000,000 flood-control project in Big Tujunga Canyon. Rock foundations are reported excellent by E. C. Eaton, chief engineer in charge of the work. Excavation work so far completed shows that the 240-foot multiple-arch dam will have perfect rock anchorage and that the project will be completed within a year, as has been estimated by the contractors.

WOMAN PIONEER BURIED

SAN FERNANDO, March 25.—Funeral services were conducted yesterday for Mrs. Jennie Brown, 62 years of age, wife of Edward L. Brown. Interment was in the Grandview Mausoleum, Burbank. Mrs. Brown was one of the first pioneers in the San Fernando section. Mr. Brown was a leading San Fernando merchant as early as 1889. A daughter, Mrs. Julia G. Dunn, survives.

RIDERS ENTER BAKER RODEO

Rich Prizes Expected to Attract 400

Gene Ward on Wild Mustang

THE pick of the West's best trick riders, ropers and steer wrestlers will be on hand for the fifth annual Baker Ranch rodeo at Saugus, Sunday, April 27, it is indicated by the requests for entry blanks, according to Roy Baker, sponsor of the show. The entry list has been open less than a week, but champions of the round-ups at Calgary, Cheyenne, Pendleton and Salinas have indicated interest, he said.

This year the money and prizes will aggregate $8000. The awards are expected to swell the number of vaqueros and cowgirls close to the 400 mark.

Twenty wild Brahma steers will be sent up from Mexico to be added to the herd which is now running on the 8800-acre ranch, while a carload of wild mustangs will come from Wyoming.

site direction. The latter three were seriously injured.

The impact, according to testimony, precipitated the machine more than 200 feet, and into another automobile before it came to a stop. Police testified to finding broken pieces of a bottle smelling of whisky in the wreckage.

Motorman Myril G. Johnson testified that Chavez's car was traveling toward the street car directly behind another car at a speed of at least forty miles an hour when the crash occurred. The street-car crew was exonerated.

RESPONSIBILITY FIXED FOR DEATH OF BOY

A Coroner's jury yesterday found that Clyde Kenneth Hill, 17 years of age, fatally injured last Sunday when he fell from the rear of a motorcycle which was being pursued by a Sheriff's office car, came to his death as the result of excessive speed and reckless driving on the part of the operator of the motorcycle.

The motorcycle, according to police, had been stolen a short while before and was being driven by Wayne Foot, 17, 1438 Walnut street, who was uninjured and fled at the time of the accident. He later was apprehended by police and refused to testify at the inquest.

An autopsy report showed that Hill died of head and chest injuries. However, for the purpose of clarifying the minds of a number of witnesses who said they had seen or heard a deputy fire a gun while in pursuit of the boys, Deputy Coroner Monfort questioned a number of persons on this phase. Deputy Sheriff Fletcher related that he had fired one shot in the air in an attempt to stop the boys.

Hill fell or was thrown from the vehicle as it was attempting to negotiate a jog on Griffith Park avenue near Wood Terrace.

NEW CULTURAL STEP TAKEN

Civic Repertory Theater Plan Starts at Meeting in Hollywood Attended by Leaders

Steps toward making the Civic Repertory Theater one of the foremost cultural activities of Los Angeles, were taken yesterday at a meeting in Hollywood of prominent Los Angeles citizens with members of the executive group of the theater.

A plan was formulated and a committee appointed to launch the repertory group on an intensive campaign for new membership to be started almost immediately. At the meeting, held on the mezzanine floor of the Hollywood Music Box, whole-hearted indorsements of the Civic Repertory plan were advanced by nationally known figures, who have been attracted by the ambitious plans of the enterprise, as well as by distinguished residents of the community.

CAMPAIGN OUTLINED

The campaign, formulated in outline yesterday, will be formally launched at a general meeting to be held under the auspices of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce within the next ten days. It is planned at this time to put the Civic Repertory group on a community basis, comparable to that of the Hollywood Bowl, the Pilgrimage Play and other movements of like nature which have the interests of the city as a whole at heart. At this time also, an executive head will be appointed.

Named as members of the preliminary committee are Lloyd Moultrie, Joseph Lippman, William Hamilton Cline, Dr. Alison Gaw, Dr. Lester Cox, Mmes. Cecil Frankel, Howard Waring, Burdette Norton, the Misses Helen Allen Cronin, Kathryn D. Wolford and Carlotta King.

Arthur Richman, president of the Authors' League, presided at the meeting held yesterday. Louis Bromfield, novelist, was introduced as one of the first speakers. Bromfield, in California on his first visit, spoke in laudatory terms of the Civic Repertory movement and likened it to the Eva Le Gallienne Theater in New York. Bromfield promised the group that it might have one of his new plays for presentation here, declaring that he would as lief have it start one of his efforts as the Theater Guild of New York.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Mrs. Norton, representing the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, promised the support of that community body. Mrs. Frankel emphasized the necessity of making known the ability of the Repertory Theater to serve not only Hollywood, but Los Angeles as a whole. John R. Moss, treasurer, outlined the financial condition of the theater and pointed out the healthy and sound condition of finances which had prevailed so far.

Ian Maclaren, Elise Bartlett Schildkraut, Dr. Cox, Cline, Moultre, Lippman and others voiced their enthusiasms and interest in the enterprise. It was announced that already life subscriptions from twenty interested citizens had been received.

Two Capture Bandit Suspect

Disappointed at finding the pockets of his first victim empty, Luis Bojorques, 32 years of age, an itinerant, yesterday turned his attention to another prospect, according to a Sheriff's office report, and for his persistance landed in the County Jail on suspicion of robbery.

He first leaped onto a truck driven by J. M. Neilson of 311 East Fortieth street, it is charged, and commanded the driver to "keep going." But Neilson, it developed, had no money; so at the Union Pacific shops Bojorques jumped from the car and, according to the report, held up a passer-by.

Aided by E. Vahoon, special agent of the Union Pacific, Neilson overpowered Bojorques from behind and turned him over to deputy sheriffs. Later, Joseph Anderson, 25, of Lockwood, was jailed as a suspected accomplice of Bojorques.

Body Found in Sea Identified

Identification was made last night of a body found floating early yesterday under the Municipal Fish Market wharf at San Pedro, two sailors of the lumber steamer Astoria announcing that the dead man was Herman Hendricksen of the crew.

He disappeared on the night of the 14th inst. He was 38 years of age. Police express belief that he was murdered for his money, which was not found on the body.

BOND ELECTION UNITY SOUGHT

Forty-one Organizations' Heads at Meeting

Mayor and Van Norman Urge Imperative Need

Last Summer's Supply at Safety Minimum

Calling upon the people of Los Angeles to present a united front in supporting the $38,800,000 water bond issue at the May 20 election, Mayor Porter and Joseph Scott, president of the Citizens' Water and Power Committee, yesterday presented the city's imperative water needs to forty-one executive heads of as many major commercial and civic organizations meeting in the Mayor's office.

Mayor Porter in opening the session declared that the amount of the bond issue represents the absolute minimum of the city's immediate requirements. He pointed out that the water bonds will not increase taxes, all charges on the bonds to be paid from earnings of the city water system.

TWENTY DAYS' SUPPLY

In explaining item for item how the proposed bond issue is to be invested, Chief Engineer H. A. Van Norman of the City Water Bureau revealed to the organization representatives that for a part of last summer Los Angeles actually had only sufficient water in storage near the city to meet the people's needs for twenty days.

"In the list of causes that account for the passing of most of the world's ancient cities, lack of water stands first, and Los Angeles lacks water right now," said Joseph Scott.

"We must have more water," declared Mr. Scott, "for the heritage left us by our sturdy and courageous forebears. Los Angeles is face to face with an actual water shortage and unless the $38,800,000 bond issue, to be voted on May 20, carries, property values in the city will suffer."

In the course of the session representatives present pledged enthusiastic support of the bond issue by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Business Men's Association, the Master Printers' Association and the Co-Operative Apartment and Hotel Association.

His subject will be "Cannibals and Head Hunters of the Western Pacific." DRIVER HELD FOR TRIAL OVER DEATH OF MIDGET

G. Rolleri, 32 years of age, was held for Superior Court trial on manslaughter charges by Municipal Judge Russill yesterday. Bail was set at $2000.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Broker called George Rogers and Lawrence Buck, both of 202 Horizon avenue, Venice, as witnesses. The two men, who are midgets, testified that Rolleri drove into the intersection of Jefferson avenue and Mesa Drive at a much higher rate of speed than the legal fifteen miles an hour, crashing into Rogers's automobile. Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, wife of Rogers, died as a result of injuries sustained in the collision, other witnesses said. Mrs. Rogers also was a midget.

A charge of manslaughter was filed yesterday against Harold Hickox, Baldwin Park druggist, as a result of the death of Belle E. Bower, who was killed when Hickox drove his automobile into a bank and overturned on the morning of the 21st inst.

Investigating officers assert that Hickox was driving in a reckless manner and failed to make a boulevard stop just before he crashed into the bank.

The accident occurred at Pacific avenue and Orange street, Covina.

"IT" GIRL GROOMS FOR MUSICALS

Our Gang Kids Grow Up—to Play in High School Tales; Fox Signing Ted Healy, Lucille Brown, for Films; Lloyd Hughes Wins Juvenile Lead With Jolson

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

It looks as though Clara Bow is being groomed as a screen musical star. Such a diversely gifted person is Miss Bow that Paramount officials seem never quite able to make up their minds whether to place her definitely before the public as a dramatic and emotional actress, a niche she undoubtedly could hold as long as she wished with increasing popularity; or whether to definitely make her a light-comedy star, a position which also she fills to perfection.

CLARA BOW

But for the time being at least, and, it is whispered, with a view to finally placing Miss Bow in musical comedy, Paramount has assigned her to a stellar role in the Paramount Parade, the revue which is absorbing all the Paramount talent.

Up to this time, Miss Bow has been considered of such definite star material that the organization officials have about decided not to let her appear with the other stars; but yesterday they assigned her to a role which will require her both to sing and dance. Her specialty is called "Sweetheart of the Fleet," and was written by Elsie Janis and Jack King.

And it is rumored that a noted musical comedy is being purchased for her use.

ROACH CALLS BACK FORMER GANG KIDS

Like the wise producer he is, Hal Roach has decided to let his gang kids grow up gracefully, and use them in high school stories. They will grow up anyhow, whether he wants them to or not, so why, he reasons, let them go after he has had all the trouble of picking and training them?

HAL ROACH.

Roach's project, we hear, is to star some of his former gang youngsters, who have grown up to high-school age or thereabout, in a series of high-school comedies.

Mary Kornman, you may remember as a beautiful little girl, the heroine of some of the old Our Gang comedies. Now she is a beautiful girl of 14, and Roach has just signed her to a long-term contract. She is to be one of the stars of the new series

Micky Daniels, a little freckle-faced boy, was another of the old Gang who is to be used in the new series.

Maybe you remember Buddy Messenger, who used to appear in the kid comedies produced by Sidney and Chester Franklin. He has grown to be a big boy, too, and will form another member of the new Roach series.

Other kid comedies have come and gone, but somehow the Our Gang somedies have never lost their grip on the popular fancy; and we imagine that the genius which Roach showed in handling the children in the former pictures will also manifest itself in the new pictures.

Fox Expanding—Signs Six

Fox Films, according to all the signs, is looking forward to a big production season.

Jack Gardner is due back in town on April 1, and in the meantime the echoes of his labors on behalf of Fox, undertaken in New York, are reaching Hollywood, in the form of announcements of Broadway artists whom he has signed.

Ted Healy, vaudeville star, is one of these. This will be his first venture in pictures, and it is understood that musical-comedy material is being secured for him.

Lucille Brown is another Fox find, whose discovery is laid to Gardner. She is a young, beautiful blond Memphis girl who played the ingenue lead in "Jarnegan" in New York with Richard Bennett. Henry Victor is a third Fox player just acquired. He is a young English actor who has never appeared in American pictures, though he has played leading roles in English, French and German films during the past six years.

Nat Pendleton's two talking pictures were "The Laughing Lady" and "The Big Pond." Now Pendleton is to be featured by Fox. He has also appeared on the stage in "Naughty Cinderella" with Irene Bordoni. The young actor has a very interesting career, including records as a Columbia University student and athlete, followed by a season as professional wrestler and a year or two as a civil engineer.

Pendleton likewise was a national amateur heavyweight champion three years and an Olympic champion once.

Mitchell Harris is another artist who has signed. His work has been principally on the New York stage.

Tyrone Power, noted stage and screen actor, is being brought to Hollywood to appear in Raoul Walsh's forthcoming epic, "The Oregon Trail."

Kay Francis Vacations

Kay Francis says that when it comes to work, enough is enough. So she begged Paramount officials for a month's vacation, which was granted.

Yesterday Miss Francis boarded a train for New Orleans, stating that she is going down there to visit her school chum, Caddy Stuart, in the southern city. Both attended the Cathedral School for Girls in New York City.

Dorothy Lee With R.-K.-O.

That clever little comedienne, Dorothy Lee, who scored so delightfully in R.-K.-O.'s "Syncopation" and "Rio Rita," is to have a still more important role in a Radio production.

DOROTHY LEE

Miss Lee, we learned yesterday, has been given a featured part in "Half Shot at Sunrise," the talking screen's first war-time musical comedy. She will play the ingenue role.

Harry Tierney is writing the music, while the book is being composed by James Creeland and Cyrus Wood.

Lloyd Hughes With Jolson

When they like an artist over at Warner Brothers they are faithful to him.

Now it is Lloyd Hughes, who, even before he has fairly shed his "Moby Dick" make-up, has been signed for another important role.

LLOYD HUGHES

Hughes is to have the juvenile and romantic lead in Al Jolson's next Warner Brothers production, "Big Boy," which Alan Crosland will direct.

Jolson, by the way, left for New York a few days ago to remain just one evening in order to witness the metropolitan opening of "Mammy."

Charles Crouch Writes

Charles Crouch, who coauthored "This Is College," seen here not long ago, has become dramatic editor of a theatrical paper, and writes us entertainingly from New York.

"Louise Brooks," says Crouch, "has a charming apartment on Park avenue, and is utilizing the money earned by working for the picture companies in Berlin and Paris to take vocal lessons, inasmuch as she is to be featured in a musical show here in the fall.

"Harry Hervey, coauthor of 'Congai,' may come West to work for Fox. He is completing 'The Iron Widow' for A. H. Woods. The play may feature Nina Mae McKinney and twenty-five white men in a prison story.

"Arthur Lubin is busy working for Crosby Gaige. He has a charming apartment on Madison avenue, and entertains visiting Californians, the most recent of these being Stanley Smith.

"Owen Murphy, who wrote the music for 'Rain or Shine,' is leaving for the Coast tomorrow and is to write music for pictures.

"George Sayre, assistant to Bertram Bloch of M.-G.-M., is about to produce a show on Broadway."

CURB PROPOSED ON BILLBOARDS

Glassell Park Group Wants Council to Limit Them to Industrial Areas

The Glassell Park Improvement Association yesterday asked the City Council to adopt an ordinance restricting billboards to industrial areas and prohibiting them in residential districts. The request was referred to the City Planning Committee.

ALTSCHULER GIVES FOURTH CONCERT

Russian Masters Presented by Glendale Symphony Orchestra

In its fourth concert of the season, the Glendale Symphony Orchestra was heard in a program of Russian composers and the Pacific Coast premier of Rimsky-Korsakow's piano concerto in C sharp minor with Marguerite La Grand as soloist.

Tschaikowsky's "Pathetique" symphony opened the concert. The first movement showed a slight lack of confidence on the part of the orchestra, but this was overcome at the beginning of the Allegro con Grazio, which was well played. The more bombastic Allegro Molto Vivace and finale received a sympathetic reading. The fairy opera, "Hansel and Gretel," by Humperdinck delighted the audience.

Rimsky-Korsakow composed only two pieces for solo instruments. One of them, his concerto for piano in C sharp minor, was enthusiastically received by the audience in its first presentation on the Pacific Coast with Marguerite Le Grand, who is well known locally, giving an excellent interpretation. This concerto is typical of Rimsky-Korsakow's flair for colorful melody, which, in this concerto is carried chiefly by the solo instrument. The orchestra merely accompanies the piano and blended well with Miss Le Grand's brilliant piano playing.

The last two numbers were Tschaikowsky's "Legend Theme" by Anton Arensky and Rachmaninoff's "Easter Feast." The "Legend Theme" was arranged for chorus by Altschuler and was sung by the Glendale Women's Chorus. The full beauty of the voices of this splendid chorus was lost because they were placed to the rear of the orchestra. The tones of the orchestra predominated.

THEATER DISPLAYS LION

Abe Lyman, now appearing on the stage of Grauman's Chinese Theater with his band, is just completing a new march called "The King of Them All," which he is dedicating to Leo, the M.-G.-M. trade mark lion, now on public view in the forecourt of the theater, where Lawrence Tibbett in "The Rogue Song" is in its last three weeks.

Leo is put through his stunts and fed twice daily to the applause of elders and the delight of youngsters.

Leo, who is starting on another world tour, travels in one of the most luxuriously appointed automotive compartments ever built for an animal.

Former Dancer in Flavin Play at El Capitan

When Martin Flavin's comedy "Broken Dishes" is presented at El Capitan, starting Sunday, Joan Warner will be seen as Myra, one of the daughters of the Bumpsted household. This will be Miss Warner's first appearance here with the Henry Duffy Players, but she has been seen in numerous productions by the Duffy companies in San Francisco and Oakland.

She started her career as a child actress in "The Bluebird." After finishing school she went to New York, determined on a musical comedy career. She was in George M. Cohan's production of "The O'Brien Girl," in "Marjolaine," in Arthur Hammerstein's "Daffydill" with Frank Tinney and in "Up She Goes."

Her first appearance on the Coast was in the production of "An American Tragedy." Percy Pollock, noted character actor, will head the cast of "Broken Dishes" as the downtrodden and overworked Cyrus Bumpsted, while among the others will be Alma Chester, Thomas Chatterton, Thomas L. Brower and Donald Campbell.

Orpheum Will Honor Consuls

Consular representatives of sixteen Latin American countries will be guests of honor at the gala Latin American celebration tomorrow night at the Orpheum Theater in honor of "Rio Rita," current film. In addition to the consuls, three prominent Latin American screen celebrities, Don Alvarado, Eva Rosita and Nick De Ruiz, who play prominent roles in "Rio Rita," will also appear on the special bill.

Don Carlos Jose Rafael Sebastian De Rivero, as played by Frank Fay in "Under a Texas Moon," the film which has its world premiere at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater Friday, is one of the most monumental and delightful liars of all time.

Don Carlos blurts whatever comes to his fertile imagination as the solemn truth and takes his oath on it. He swears undying devotion to every pretty senorita he meets. He adds links to his imposing array of assumed names. He refers to nonexisting ranches as his own—remarkable feats he has accomplished and escapes he has made—with a glib disregard for skeptical audiences.

Don Carlos makes prevaricating a fine art, a first-class amusement and a game of wits.

When finally put to the test Don Carlos makes good in astonishing ways.

Negro Comedian Plays in Film

Bill Robinson, negro comedian, will play a featured role in "Dixiana," Radio Pictures' original operetta.

Robinson is said to be the best tap dancer on the stage. He was the star of the New York production of "Blackbirds," which ran for two years. Recently he toured major vaudeville circuits in a comical dancing act.

"Dixiana," starring Bebe Daniels, is now in rehearsal.

CRUISER REVAMPED

William Dietz's cabin cruiser, the Tiny, is being freshly painted and polished in anticipation of the spring and summer boating season. Dietz is chief of miniatures and special camera effects at Pathe studios.

COMEDIAN POPULAR

Jimmy Gleason proved himself as popular with California cowboys as he is with Broadway wisecrackers when he returned home several days ago from the Deetwell Ranch near Palm Springs, laden with gifts from cowpuncher admirers.

WARING BAND SHOW CENTER

"Rah Rah Daze" Displays Their Varied Efforts

Music, Collegicte Idea and Staging Attract

New Production Offers Many Bright Moments

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

It has . . . pep, smartness, dash and smashing high spots.

It needs . . . smoothing up, more plot, additional humor.

"Rah Rah Daze" opened last night at the Mason Theater, and presented something novel in the line of entertainment—a show built around and up to a jazz band. The production proffers some interesting people, a clever dancing chorus, and much, much music with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians doing the heavy duty. The best numbers really sent the audience into a daze, and it was an appreciative one. The audience, incidentally, was in that responsive mood seemingly which is ideal for a premiere.

There was considerable, of course, to find fault with in "Rah Rah Daze" from a critical standpoint, but then there were indications of more than a mild trial back stage in putting on a new revue of diversified interest. The first section went a lot more easily than the latter portion, which had the defect of being somewhat fragmentary. Once Waring and his orchestra were on the stage, however, things moved on again pleasantly and melodiously, even though the show stretched out past 11:30

Summed up, "Rah Rah Daze" incline to be musical comedy culminating in a sort of sublimated stage prologue of the picture-theater type. Its plot ends shortly after the rise of the second curtain for all practical purposes, but the production continues to go on divertingly, thanks to the jazz band numbers and the many specialties. In these are included a reprise of many of the favored movie song hits—bits of "Sunnyside Up," "Puttin' On the Ritz" and others.

Exceptionally entertaining are many of the numbers presented in the opening section of the show—those specially written. In this portion, too, Waring and his troupe have caught the snappy college spirit. There is audacity in the humor, and there are some very hilarious moments.

The super-hits were scored in the glee scene with a novel drinking song, and by Evalyn Nair, with her eccentric dancing. More than once she stopped the proceedings.

Jack White in the principal comedy role worked diligently for the laughs, and won a good proportion of them, sometimes even without the aid of the brightest lines.

Dorothy Lee is a pepful lady of the Clara Bowish flapper type who troupes most energetically, but perhaps tried a little too hard and too obviously. However, her prettiness and her animation were genuinely winning.

Miss Nair has real gifts in dancing and carries her role of campus vamp. She is not long from the chorus, I hear, but her success last evening would indicate she is on the road to plenty of success.

Fred Waring is given the character of a bashful hero to play, which is perhaps a suitable opportunity. He is sometimes more bashful than necessary, but he knows his showmanship, and his personality is agreeable. It is his deft and easy band leading that truly captivates.

Able and versatile are not only the Waring efforts, and those of the members of his band, who spend part of the time in the orchestra pit and part on the stage, as the show requires. The singing is especially to be commended, and "Rah Rah Daze" has throughout excellent musical character. The theme song, "So Beats My Heart for You," is attractive, and other selections, like "I'm In the Mood," "Couldn't You" and "Baby, You're Doin' Me So Much Good," have the novelty to appeal. Staging of the "I'm In the Mood" is ingenious. And right at the close of the production staging shines again in the "Dominoes" number, distinctly a brilliant climax, as was, too, the finish of the first act with its medley of college songs.

The displaying of the colors of the University of Southern California culminated the scene. Various other pennants were displayed, like Yale, Harvard, Stanford, California, Cornell, Notre Dame, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Georgia Tech.

Material, such as this, should insure "Rah, Rah Daze" of becoming popular, and due allowances would necessarily have to be made for the dragginess and hitchiness of the presentation last evening. There are some weaknesses of story, to be sure, but these are, to a degree, offset by values of entertainment.

The book is credited to Pat Ballard and Fred Waring, and the music to the same two, and Charles Henderson. Will Morgan, James T. Mack, Scott Bates and June Shafer have more important roles, and the hazing scene involving Scott Bates is an uproarious high point. High, in more senses than one—for he is tossed away up in the air from a canvas by the members of the Waring band. Miss Shafer, with Ida Pearson and Stella Friend, do a variety of vocal harmony selections rather effectively. Tom Waring sang to applause during the band program.

Actress Finds Old Friends in Belasco Drama

When Lenore Ulric stepped upon the Belasco Theater stage last week for the opening performance of "East of Suez," which has since scored, she found herself among many old friends who had appeared with her in her eastern successes.

In the first place she is under the management of Edward Belasco and Homer Curran. Belasco is a brother of David Belasco, with whom Miss Ulric starred for several years and who is one of her dearest friends. John Ivancovich, who plays Lee Tai Cheng, was a member of a stock company in which the star appeared during the early days of her career. Carl Cooper, master carpenter at the Belasco, was carpenter with two of Miss Ulric's productions under the David Belasco management, and two of the monks in the Chinese temple scene were with her in "Lulu Belle" in New York.

Norma Lee Has Leading Role at Music Box

Norma Lee, the young actress who will play opposite Grant Mitchell in Gilbert Emery's "The Hero," the fourth Civic Repertory Theater play, starting Monday night at the Music Box, was successful as an ingenue when she met the rising young actor-author, Elliott Nugent. She met him in "Dulcy," when both were under contract to George Tyler.

After their marriage the Nugent family seemed to take over the business of supplying Norma Lee with roles. She played the feminine lead in "The Poor Nut," written by her husband, for two years. She also had the lead in "Kempy," written by Father-in-Law Nugent, in which Grant Mitchell was starred, and again she took the lead in George M. Cohan's production of "By Request," written by the Nugents.

Supporting Grant Mitchell, who is appearing as guest artist with the Civic Repertory, in addition to Norma Lee, will be Georgette Rhodes, Walter Vaughn, Jackie Searle and Helen Keers. The play is being staged by Paul Irving with Corliss McGee attending to the sets. Gilbert Emery is personally supervising the production.

Humorous Prize Fight Feature of New Picture

The most hilarious prize fight in the history of the screen is shown in "Hold Everything," the Vitaphone musical comedy now playing at Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood. One of the contestants in this comedy battle is Joe E. Brown, the noted comedian who has risen to new heights with the advent of talking pictures and the bout takes its place as the laughing high-spot of this entertaining film.

This ludicrous encounter is one of the preliminaries to a main event, which shows Georges Carpentier, noted French boxer, striving to wrest new laurels from the heavyweight champion of the world.

In addition to Brown and Carpentier, the cast of "Hold Everything" includes Winnie Lightner, Sally O'Neil, Dorothy Revier, Edmund Breese, Bert Roach and Marion Byron. Roy Del Ruth directed.

"Melody Man" Closes Run at R.-K.-O. Today

The triple vaudeville headline attraction at the R.-K.-O. Theater comes to a close tonight with the last performance of "The Melody Man," part of which has been filmed in Technicolor.

The three headliners are Scott Sanders, Scotch character comedian; Monica and Ann Skelly in a musical farce, and Pepito, the Spanish clown. Augmenting the stage program are the four Cirillo brothers in song and dance.

Featured in "The Melody Man" are William Collier, Jr., Alice Day and John St. Polis. The story is an adaptation of the musical comedy of the same name written by Herbert Fields, Richard Rodgers and Larry Hart. An entirely new stage and screen show starts tomorrow.

RAPEE TITLED

The title of "The Hustling Maestro" has followed Erno Rapee across the continent to Hollywood. He was first given this expressive reference when he was conductor of Roxy's symphony orchestra in New York and at the same time presented regular radio broadcasts and composed musical numbers for films. He is now director-general of musical activities at First National and Warner Brothers.

COMICS FLY TO WORK

After nearly a week's delay, Ole Olson and Chet Johnson, noted comedy team, have started on a new talkie at Warner Brothers. Being in a hurry, they came here from Denver on the Western Air Express, making the trip in eleven hours. The new production is "See Naples and Die," directed by Archie Mayo.

LUPE VELEZ IN STARRING FILM ROLE

"Hell Harbor" Starts Run Today at United Artists Theater

Lupe Velez is the star of "Hell Harbor," the Henry King production which opens its first local engagement today at the United Artists Theater, and presents the tempestuous Mexican thunderbolt as the wild, hoydenish descendant of the notorious pirate, Sir Henry Morgan.

A new type of background is depicted in this production, which was filmed in its entirety amidst the waving palms of the Florida coast, and which brings to the screen a series of outdoor settings. "Hell Harbor," described as a romantic drama, tells a dramatic story of the machinations of rascally pearl traders in a tropical village, their fierce hatred contrasted with the love of Lupe for the captain of a visiting trader ship.

The supporting cast in "Hell Harbor," which was directed by Henry King, includes Jean Hersholt, John Holland, Gibson Gowland, Al St. John and other well-known screen figures.

TITLE SELECTED

"The Cuckoos" is the final title of the dancing film revue produced by Radio Pictures in which Robert Woolsey is a featured comedian. Formerly titled "Radio Revels," and later "Radio Ramblers," this Wheeler-Woolsey co-starring vehicle was finally assigned the above title. Woolsey, who is said to be the first stage comedian to adopt the big round glasses without lenses for comedy effect, and whose trick cigar-rolling antedated the use of this stunt by other funsters, has been signed to a long-term starring contract by R.-K.-O.

RULING WIDENS COURT'S SCOPE

Municipal Tribunal Can Try Real-Property Cases

Superior Bench's Decision Sets New Precedent

Suit Against Oil Company Goes Back for Hearing

Municipal courts in California have jurisdiction to try civil cases wherein the title or possession of real property is involved, up to $2000, according to a ruling of the Appellate department of the Superior Court, handed down yesterday by Superior Judges McLucas, Shaw and Bishop.

The opinion came when the tribunal reversed the judgment in the Municipal Court and remanded the case for a new trial in the action of Hugh F. S. Hooper and others against the Miley Oil Company. The ruling is of interest to all persons who bring actions in the Municipal Court of Los Angeles.

The plaintiff brought an action for $825 for damages asserted to have been done to real and personal property by reason of the defendants' negligence in drilling an oil well. The case came up for trial before Municipal Judge Haas on September 17, 1929. The defendants objected to the introduction of evidence on the grounds that it appeared from the pleadings that the title of the real property was involved in the suit; that for such a reason the Municipal Court did not have jurisdiction and that the action should be dismissed. The objection was sustained. The plaintiffs appealed to the higher court.

The higher court held that, by amendments to the Municipal Court Act made by the Legislature in 1928 and 1929, the Municipal Court has jurisdiction in cases wherein the title to real property is involved, therefore the Hooper case should go back for a new trial.

TWO CHILDREN RUN DOWN

Small Girl May Die of Injuries Suffered When Struck by Auto While Crossing Street

Struck by an automobile yesterday, Charles Leslie Edmundson, 7 years of age, of 2312 Prospect street, Wilmar, received frontal and basal fractures of the skull. The boy broke away from his sister Wanda, 12, at Garvey Road and Evelyn street and ran in front of a car driven by Lodia Lochner, 913 Big Dalton avenue, Baldwin Park, according to Deputy Sheriffs Shanley and Pulfer. They report that Lochner swerved in an attempt to avoid the child, but was too late. The injured boy was rushed to Garfield Hospital, Monterey Park.

Run over by an automobile, Phyllis Nelson, 5½ years of age, of 1701½ South Burlington avenue, received injuries yesterday which may result in her death.

DRIVER HELD

The accident occurred at Burlington avenue and Venice Boulevard. John C. Maroney, who said he was 20, of 1907 West Twenty-second street, driver of the car, according to police, was held for questioning.

The child was given emergency treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for a possible skull fracture and internal injuries and then transferred to the Hollywood Hospital.

BOXER INJURED

"Dynamite Jackson," negro heavyweight boxer, yesterday suffered injury to his trained fists when a car which he was driving collided with another automobile at Western avenue and Jefferson street. The boxer whose name is Ernest Bendey, and who resides at 1438 East Forty-ninth street, was driving with Elinor and Henrietta Banks of 788 East Thirty-seventh street. His car collided with one driven by J. H. Lewis of 1606 West Fifty-first Place police report.

"Dynamite" alone was injured, his hands being cut by flying glass. He was treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Following a collision of two cars last night, one motorist alighted and ran up an alley from Western avenue and Forty-eighth street, according to a police report. Officers Baird and Kron of University division, responded to a call, and found the remaining driver, H. M. White, 3626 Eighth street, Long Beach, who complained that his car had been bumped. The policeman trailed up the alley three blocks, where an excited police dog's barks drew their attention. The dog tried to bar their advance, but the policemen searched a garage and found a man hiding in a sedan. He gave his name as William Holt, 50 years of age, 32 St. James Park, when booked on a charge of suspicion of drunk driving.

Mrs. Heineman Awarded $40,000 and $400 Each Month Pending Divorce

For living four days with Edward Heineman, New York curb broker, Mrs. Louise Siler Heineman, former rooming-house proprietor, was awarded $40,000 in cash and $400 a month until her divorce case can be settled, it appeared from the records of Superior Judge Crawford yesterday.

Mrs. Heineman, who went to Europe after a four-day honeymoon, said she spent the $40,000 her husband settled on her by marriage in regaining her health, lost by the nervous shock of living with him. He sued for annulment while she was gone. She replied with a separate maintenance suit, asserting cruelty. He replied that he "went broke" on the New York Curb Market, sold his seat on that exchange for $235,000, paid his debts with $150,000, gave his bride $40,000, and had enough left in a trust fund to yield him $10,000 a year. Judge Crawford gave Mrs. Heinemen approximately half of this as allimony pending the divorce trial.

Helen Twelvetrees Gets Divorce After Telling of Husband's Drinking

Helen Twelvetrees, motion-picture actress, walked from the courtroom of Superior Judge Bowron yesterday freed from the bonds of matrimony with Clark Twelvetrees, now living in New York.

Habitual intoxication was the principal complaint of the young wife. Twelvetrees, she said, was intoxicated the day she married him and she did not see him for two days after the ceremony. It was one spree after another during the three years of their married life, she testified.

"Was he abusive to you when he was drinking?" asked her attorney, Roger Marchetti.

"Yes, he was," replied the wife. "Once at the Sheffield Inn in Indianapolis, on July 5, 1928, he got drunk and struck me in the face and on the body until I was black and blue."

"Did he ever try to commit suicide?" was another question.

"Yes. It was in New York," the actress replied. "He jumped from a six-story window of a hotel. I had to pay his doctor bills."

The actress also testified she had to support herself and her husband most of the time.

Johnsons Have Thrilling Time on World Tour

Not all the perils of the jungle are caused by wild animals and unfriendly natives, according to Martin Johnson, who with his wife, is to be seen in "Across the World with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson" at the Biltmore Theater starting Sunday night.

Motor cars, of course, are now an essential part of every explorer's equipment, and one of the several used by the Johnsons in photographing their way around the world very nearly caused their death when it stalled in the middle of a rising stream, while a lion watched from the bank.

The water drove them from the seat to the top of the car, where they remained for three hours and until dusk made them decide to risk swimming for the bank. Fortunately, just as they arrived at this decision, the rain stopped and the river began to fall. They were able to wade ashore holding their rifles above their heads and make their way to the camp.

Bold Thief Robs Police Official

One of a score of burglary victims yesterday was Homer B. Cross, deputy Chief of Police.

Cross reported to his own department that while Mrs. Cross was visiting a neighborhood grocery a burglar entered their home at 337 West Seventy-third street and purloined a pair of pajamas, lingerie and $100 worth of perfume.

POSTAL CLERK ARRESTED

Robert E. Cummings, a clerk at the Arcade Postoffice, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Lessner on a charge of making a false statement in connection with an application for government compensation. He was ordered held pending a hearing before United States Commissioner Head.

Structure Now Being Built Inspected

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH, following his return to Los Angeles from San Francisco Monday, plunged yesterday into a varied series of aviation activities, which included an inspection of the construction of the building for the Flying Club of California at Grand Central Air Terminal and acting as pilot of one of the giant Ford planes when he carried two parties of business men for a sight-seeing air tour of the city.

The new club building which is being erected at the air terminal by the Curtiss Wright Airports, Inc., will be equipped with hangars for members' planes, guest room, gymnasium and athletic equipment and dining-room.

Formal dedication and opening of the clubhouse has been scheduled for July 4. It will front on the proposed Victory highway and adjoins Griffith Park. Included in the list of officials of the club are Dr. T. C. Young, president; V. L. Maddux, Waldo Waterman and Victor Clark, directors.

Officials of the club have declared that the organization is intended as a social and service center for flyers and will be operated on a nonprofit basis. The club will maintain a complete map and weather service, the officers said.

Artists to Help in Cafe Opening

Entertainment by European and Broadway artists now in Los Angeles will mark the formal opening today of the new Paris Inn at 210 East Market street. A varied program of vocal and instrumental music, augmented by comedy turns, has been arranged by the proprietors, Bert Rovere, former opera baritone, and I. Perol, widely known chef. Highlights of the opening will be photographed for a sound news reel.

The new building is said to be reminiscent of a medieval castle, and regardless of improved service and entertainment, the no-cover-charge policy will continue to prevail.

Judge Requests Juvenile Plans

A request from Superior Judge Scott that the Police Commission in considering plans for reorganization of the police department make provision for a larger juvenile crime-prevention bureau in order that youngsters may not be held for days before their cases are handled, was referred by the commission yesterday to its personnel committee for a conference with Mayor Porter, Judge Scott and Chief of Police Steckel on the subject.

PARKS TO BE DISCUSSED

Dr. Jay B. Nash, professor of physical education, New York University, is to give six lectures on recreation and parks during a one-week institute of public administration to be held at the University of Southern California April 14 to 19, it was announced yesterday. An intensive college course, to be attended by mayors, city managers, councilmen, department heads, public officials and public employees, is to be held on the Trojan campus during the regular Easter recess of the college students, which is from April 11 to 21.

IMPROVEMENT REQUESTED

William J. Harris yesterday headed a list of property owners who asked the City Council to order the improvement of Venice Boulevard between Sixth avenue and a point near Vineyard avenue. The matter was referred to the City Engineer and the Public Works Committee.

WAY SOUGHT TO RESTORE EX-OFFICER

Ruling Asked in Case of Floyd E. Davis, Exonerated After Graft Conviction

On the ground that Officer Floyd E. Davis was the victim of circumstances when he was convicted of extortion last year and sent to San Quentin, where he served four months before being released when the Appellate Court upset the jury's verdict, the Police Commission yesterday indicated it will restore him to duty if it legally can do so.

The commission has asked the City Attorney for a ruling. Davis had been suspended and ordered removed by the Chief of Police after his conviction.

The complaints committee of the commission, its investigator and Captain of Police John Slaughter all express their conviction of Davis's innocence after investigating the evidence. Investigator James says the District Attorney's chief deputy, Daniel Beecher, and Deputy Prosecutor McKay, who prosecuted the case, had expressed their belief that Davis was the victim of a miscarriage of justice.

Capt. Slaughter, declaring that he spoke for 150 of the best officers in the police department, asserted that Davis had been a credit to the force and had been convicted as the result of hysteria against police officers last year.

Davis, a married man with two children, lost his home and everything he possessed as the result of the case.

The higher court's reversal of the verdict, it was pointed out, was on the ground that important witnesses were not allowed to testify in his behalf.

Advertising Agencies Busy

The extent to which eastern advertising agencies are laying out newspaper campaigns is greater at present than for a considerable period, and this is a definite barometer of the feeling among manufacturers that business conditions throughout the year will be good, it was declared here yesterday by B. J. Sweetland, head of a large New York agency bearing his name.

Mr. Sweetland came to Los Angeles via Western Air Express to attend to the interests of one of his clients here at the boat show. He addressed the Advertising Club yesterday, and today will be at the San Diego Advertising Club.

TRAIN PERMIT GRANTED

On recommendation of the Public Utilities Committee, the City Council yesterday authorized the Southern Pacific Company to operate its steam equipment to Exposition Park, August 3, 17 and 18, to transport the personnel and material of the One hundred Sixtieth Infantry to and from the encampment at San Luis Obispo. The request was made by Col. Harcourt Hervey, commanding the regiment.

BUDGET ACTION STATED

The Police Commission, which for several days has held executive conferences on its proposed budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, next, is scheduled to take final action on the amount at a special meeting this morning.

HARRIED BARBERS SHAVE DIME OFF BEARD BOBS

A decline in the price of shaves was noted yesterday in many barber shops the owners of which are members of the Master Barbers' Association, and it was reported that many more contemplate cutting off the extra dime that was added last January. Many of the shop owners asserted the rise from 25 cents to 35 cents drove some of their customers to the use of safety razors.

One shop owner on Third street lowered his price to 17 cents and others in outlying districts advertise a shave and a hair cut for 50 cents.

President Frank Guio of the association asserted that only a few of the members withdrew their support of the association's effort to maintain the price at 35 cents. He asserted that some of those who lowered their prices raised them again in a few days. The shop owners who reduced the price, however, asserted that 35 cents "is too much" for a shave.

"Instead of meeting our rise many of my customers bought razors," one shop owner asserted. "If we raise anything it ought to be on hair cuts, because the men can't cut their own hair and we've got 'em on that point. But I suppose some bird will come along and invent a safety hair cutter and put us clear out of business."

BIRD FACES TRIAL TODAY FOR SLAYING

Sportsman Charged With Murder of Best Friend in Argument at Home

Maj. Owen R. Bird, Los Angeles sportsman, today is scheduled to go to trial before Superior Judge Hardy charged with murdering his best friend, Percival Watson, during an argument in the Bird home at 315 Dahlia street, on November 27, last.

Bird asserted after the shooting that he had an argument with Watson and fired at him with a revolver, believing that it was loaded with blank cartridges, intending to frighten the man. Instead, Watson was fatally wounded.

The District Attorney, however, maintains that he has evidence warranting prosecution on a murder charge. The nature of this evidence has not yet been revealed.

The Argentine polo team will not play in the open championship at Meadowbrook, Long Island, this year, according to a statement made public last night by Thomas B. Nelson of the Argentine party. Although the Pampas Riders accepted an invitation to play in the open tourney earlier in the season, they have charged their minds and are going back to Argentina, leaving New York April 12.

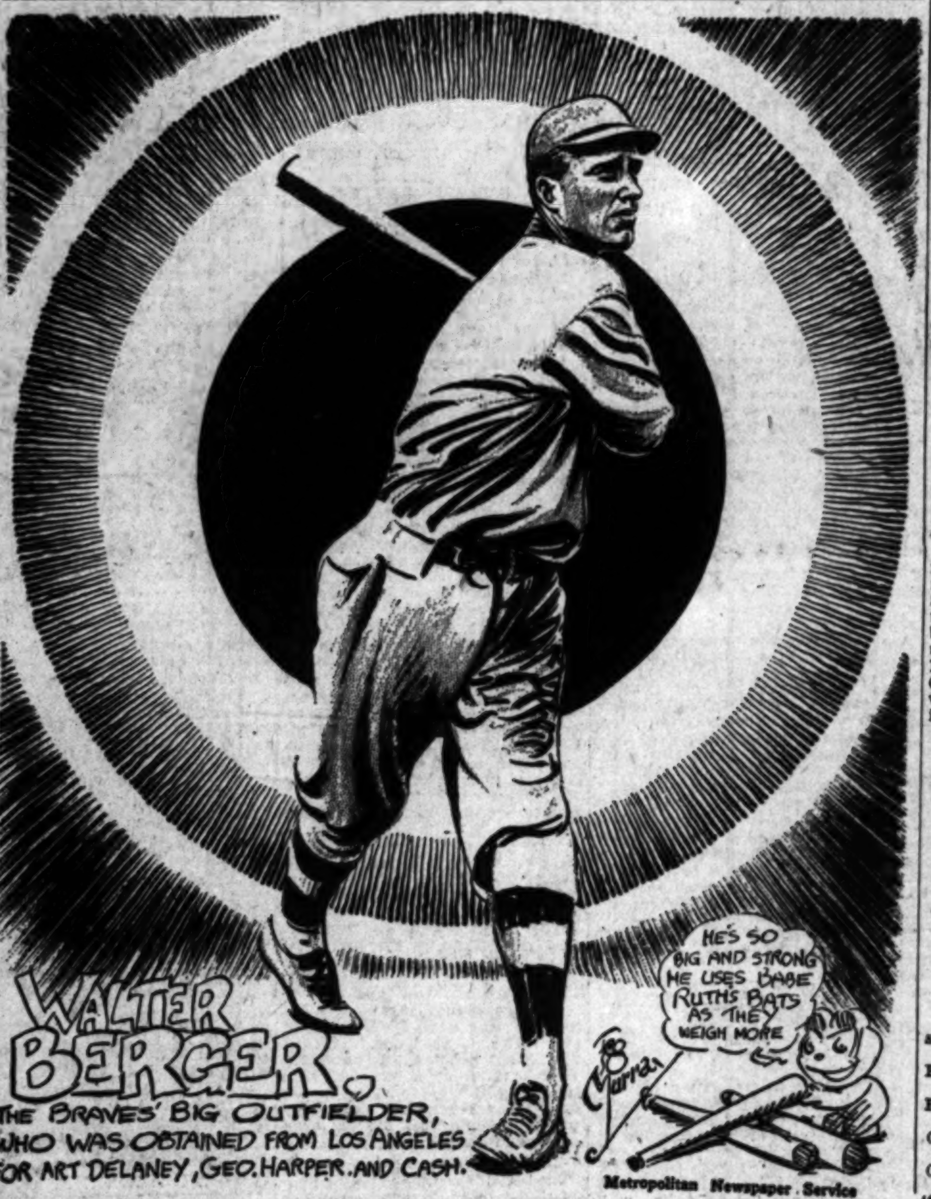
THE GREAT SHIRES PENITENT; REINSTATED

CHICAGO, March 25. (AP)—Charles Arthur Shires finally became a first baseman in good standing today. Thoroughly penitent, the "Great One" capitulated to all demands made by Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, and was rewarded with immediate reinstatement and a contract calling for $7500 a year, exactly $17,500 less than he once named as his price for helping the team out of the doldrums of the American League. When Shires left his Texas home last week, he said he was through with the White Sox and would play semi-pro baseball this summer and attempt to get on the voluntary retired list. En route, however, he received some advice from some of baseball's older heads and thought again. Today he strolled into the White Sox offices, answered the questions Owner Comiskey had asked relative to his difficulties in the prize ring during the winter, promised to desist from fighting in and out of the ring, and his contract and suspension troubles were over. He left immediately for Texas. He will go home first and then report to Manager Donie Bush at the San Antonio (Tex.) camp for duty.

A BUSTING BEHEMOTH - By Feg Murray



WALTER BERGER,
THE BRAVES' BIG OUTFIELDER, WHO WAS OBTAINED FROM LOS ANGELES FOR ART DELANEY, GEO. HARPER, AND CASH.
HE'S SO BIG AND STRONG HE USES BABE RUTH'S BATS AS THEY WEIGH MORE
Feg Murray
Metropolitan Newspaper Service

"WALTER BERGER—with Los Angeles in 1929—purchased—bats right—throws right—age 24—weight 198—height, six feet two inches—residence, Los Angeles, Cal." Thus the official 1930 roster of the Boston National League Baseball Company classifies the big Coast League slugger who will play in the outfield of the Braves this season. Manager Bill McKechnie needs punch in his team, and "Busting" Berger seems just the lad to supply it.

They say that when he first arrived at St. Petersburg, Berger could find no bats heavy enough to suit him, so an SOS was sent out to Babe Ruth, who sent over half a dozen of his maces, with the remark that the Big Boy from the Coast would have to hit his own home runs, however! That is just what Mr. Berger can do, for, in his very first year of pro ball, he led the Utah-Idaho League in homers with twenty-four. Also he ranked first in total bases with 248 and tied for first for the batting title with an average of .385.

In August, 1927, Berger was sold to Los Angeles, and remained with Wrigley's club until the Braves bought him last November. In 1928 he had a batting mark of .327, and last year his average was .335, and he hit forty home runs to boot. Now the Braves need sluggers more than anything else (Sisler was their lead-

Oxy Expected to Smother Pomona in Meet

Old Rivals Face Saturday at Eagle Rock

Only Two Sagehens Likely to Take Events

BY BRAVEN DYER

Unless those in charge of scientific research at Pomona College have discovered some new elixir of life it looks as if the Sagehens are about to be thumped for the fourth consecutive year by Joe Pipal's Occidental track team.

JOSEPH AI PIPAL

The meet is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at Patterson Field, Eagle Rock, and ought to provide a lot of excitement for all concerned but very little rejoicing on the part of the Sagehens.

At this stage of the game it looks to this writer as if Pomona, by straining every tissue and getting most of the breaks, might possibly gather enough points to cause the relay to be the deciding factor in the outcome of the meet.

NOT A CHANCE

This, to the Sagehens, would be just like telling a condemned man that his execution had been obligingly postponed until the morrow. For Pomona couldn't win the relay from Occidental if the salvation of every Sagehen depended thereon.

Pipal's relay runners did approximately 3m. 21s. last week in the meet which saw the Trojans of Southern California run the distance in 3m. 19 3-5s. Howard Fairbanks, Walker and Appleton make up a mean baton-passing outfit and Pomona's team of Shelton, Dyer, Cobb and either Petty or Bear would stand no chance of turning in any such time.

Pomona's defeat at the hands of San Diego by a score of 71 to 69 was a tough blow to Sagehen hopes, but can be laid directly to the downfall of Bob Strehle's broad jumpers, King, Inman and Shannon. All three had cleared 22ft. in the past, but were beaten by Fox at 21ft. 9in. Saturday. Of course, the absence of Cobb, Strehle's best quarter-miler, hurt plenty, both in the 440 and relay, but had the broad jumpers finished one, two, as they should have done, the meet would have been captured.

At this writing the following dope sheet seems very reasonable:

100-yard dash: Howard, (O.;) Bear, (P.;) Gray, (P.)

220: Howard, (O.;) Bear, (P.;) Petty, (P.)

440: Appleton, (O.;) Walker, (O.;) Cobb, (P.)

880: Appleton, (O.;) Stromsen, (P.;) Nord, (O.)

TO ENFORCE GRID RULES

National Football Committee Votes to Curb Unsportsmanlike Tendencies

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—Finding that some teams last fall were beating the stop rule on shift plays and others were wearing equipment the same color as the ball to trick opponents, the national football rules committee today announced definite action to curb these practices. These were the most important results of the annual session of rulemakers for 1930.

Instead of "approximately one second," the stop period on shift plays was changed to "a period of at least one second."

BILL HUNTER

The count roughly measuring this moment of pause was increased from four to six and the referee was empowered to carry a split-second watch to assure himself that the rule is being obeyed.

Four pairs of eyes instead of one or two will be on a constant lookout for any and all violations of the rules next year, under a provision giving the referee, umpire, field judge and linesman "concurrent" jurisdiction over all fouls.

Under the old code there were certain fouls which the referee was to look out for and others for which one of his fellow-officials was solely responsible.

The referee will act as the final judge should any conflict of testimony or opinion arise.

Deploring "unsportsmanlike tendencies" as represented by the use of camouflage in designing uniforms, the committee adopted a resolution which "deprecates the use of head protectors, jerseys or attachments which are so similar in color

AMERICAN LEADS OXFORD IN GOLF PLAY WITH FOE

HOYLAKE (Eng.) March 25. (AP) Oxford, captained by a stalwart young American, supported by two other husky golfers from the United States, today won the first half of its forty-seventh annual contest with Cambridge, taking the foursomes, four matches to one. The Oxonians tomorrow need to win only four of the ten singles matches to register their first triumph over Cambridge since 1925.

Robert H. Baugh, Jr., Birmingham, Ala., captain of the Oxford team, in addition to giving a great exhibition of excellent golf play, placed his team advantageously.

Baugh and his team-mate, Charles Sweeney, another American, had an easy time winning their thirty-six-hole match from Eric Prain, captain of the Cambridge team and H. C. Longhurst, 10 up and 8 to play.

Harry Scheftal, an American, with A. C. Marbles as a partner, defeated a Cambridge pair, I. K. McCrosty and R. B. Beare, 3 up and 1 to play.

Boxing Fans Mourn Death of Referee

Southern California boxing fans are today mourning the death of Johnny Schiff, well-known local referee, and former bantamweight boxer of note. Schiff passed away at the General Hospital yesterday from complications arising from an abscessed tooth. During the past great war, Schiff was decorated by many nations for his bravery in action as a member of the United States Ambulance Corps.

TROJANS TROUNCE STANFORD

Southern California Cops Lead in Baseball League; Win Tilt, 8 to 1

Sam Barry's Trojan diamond athletes leaped into first place in the California Intercollegiate Baseball League yesterday by annihilating Stanford, 8 to 1, in a fast game at Bovard Field. Sutherlen, hero of one of the recent California games, pitched shut-out ball for seven innings, and, incidentally, held hitless "Rudy" Rintala and Jimmy Kelly, until yesterday the first and second-place hitters in the league with percentages of better than .500.

SAM BARRY

Capt. Joe Ward shared the limelight with Sutherlen, his homer in the seventh, with two out and two on, sewing up the contest.

The Trojans were first to score, putting over four markers in the second frame. With one out, Wilcox walked and went to second on Shepard's single to right. Boswell forced Shepard at second, Wilcox going to third. Sutherlen singled to center, scoring Wilcox, and Hill walked to fill the bases. Mohler cracked a double to center, scoring Boswell and Sutherlen, and Hill came in when Hardy, the Card catcher, let Rintala's throw get by him.

In the fifth, Mohler walked, and got around to third while

BELL'S SLANTS BLANK ANGELS

Cherubs Held to Six Swats by Mobile Recruit

Chicagoans Make All Eight Runs Off Berly Horne

Bruins Turn Six Walks Into Half-Dozen Tallies

BY BOB RAY

George Bell of the Mobile Bells, suh, made Jack Lelivelt's Angels stand up to the strains of "Dixie" out at Wrigley Field yesterday, and the Chicago Cubs took advantage of the recruit right-hander's air-tight pitching to chalk up an 8-to-0 triumph.

GEORGE BELL

Bell limited the Seraphs to six scattered hits and was never in danger after the Cubs had pulled him out of a tight spot in the second inning by registering a snappy triple play. Clyde Beck, filling in at short for Woody English, who is riding a Charley horse, and Charley Grimm engineered the triple killing, which was made so easily that one wonders why more of them aren't made during a season.

George Harper and Ray Jacobs were reposing on first and second with none down in the second and it looked as though the Seraphs were going to ring Mr. Bell for a few runs. Jigger Statz smacked a line drive that plopped right in Beck's oversize paws and it was an easy matter for the Cub shortstop to step on second and then whip the ball to Grimm to complete the three-way massacre.

HORNE LOSES PLATE

The Cubs won because of a couple of wild streaks suffered by Berly Horne in the first and third rounds. Horne issued three walks in each round and the Cubs took advantage of the Annie Oakleys to run a quartet of tallies across the plate in both innings. Outside of those two rounds the National Leaguers were held in check by Berly and Augustino Walsh. Walsh flipped 'em plateward for the Cherubs in the last five innings and held the Cubs to five scattered safeties. Augustino also found time to cause Hack Wilson, the hammering heavyweight, no little annoyance at his favorite pastime. Walsh fanned Wilson the first two times he faced him and retired

Bear Track Coach Admits Athletes Have Little Chance to Win Over Trojan Runn

LOCALS APPEAR TO HOLD EDGE

California Lacks Stars in Many Events

Mossman is Scheduled to Become Iron Man

Pogolotti is Main Hope of Berkeleyites

BY BUD SPENCER

(World's 400-meter Record Holder)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Are the Bears ferocious? They may be, but a said-to-be up and coming California track team failed to growl Saturday. They're up against a cold proposition this Saturday when they face Dean Cromwell's weather-tanned, highly-touted bunch of track and field athletes from U.S.C. And what will happen to the Blue and Gold?

WALT CHRISTIE

That leaves it up to the Bears. They're not going to do any walking this week. It's a matter of running and running with a rush. It has been stated more than once that U.S.C. heads the cinderpath list on paper estimates, and after last Saturday this margin has increased. Adding to the assumption of their greatness, the Trojans went right ahead and chalked up a few creditable marks for themselves during Saturday's program against the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

TRYING HARD

Walt Christie, the veteran mentor at California, has been working himself bleary-eyed this spring trying to step a few misfits into the hero class and combine them with his veteran performers to finally round out a track team. And Walt's face after his meet with the Southern California junior colleges showed the lines of disappointment.

"If the Trojans have all that paper dope represents them to have—well, it's just too bad for my athletes," stated Walt, standing by the take-off at the broad-jump pit after the meet Saturday. And that was the California coach's answer to the question concerning the chances of the Bears against the Trojans. And he is never a pessimistic soul—far from it. He has been noted for his supreme optimism in the face of sure defeat.

Bill Barlow, who seems to be the real class of California sprinters, although inexperienced, is laid up with a strained back leg muscle, and may or may not run against U.S.C. Spencer Bisby and Sparks, supposed to take care of the sprinting burden at California, had a touch of the "off-day" malady that so affects athletes at times. Bisby, off to a bad start, pulled to an even position at the halfway mark, but when he was supposed to have a drive he just didn't have it. Sparks ran about his limit in the century, but in the furlong, his best race, he was on the "off-day" list.

As for the Bear quarter-milers, their efforts were of the futile variety. Lucas ran a miserably first 220 and found himself in anything but an attacking position coming into the home stretch. Johnson apparently lost control of his "gather" and ran himself into a perfect example of tensity during the sprint. They both looked much better in the relay, running from behind. With the Trojan quarter-milers, three of them, running fifty flat or better, Pearson of the 49 2-5 time, it looks bad for the Bears.

And Julius Zellman, the new find, totally inexperienced, in the half-mile did a few side turns to size up the field and nearly lost the race. He has it in him to do well under two minutes, but hardly in the class with Bill McGeagh of the Trojans. Zellman always runs a fast first quarter and if he keeps running there is a great 880 contest slated for this Saturday.

HENDERSON GOOD

Now for the praise! Harvey Henderson is something of a humdinger in the two-mile. He'll run 9:50 this Saturday which is good enough to win. As to Spud Mossman touring something like a 4:27 mile, which will have to be done to beat Halstead of U.S.C., and then coming back to take at least a second in the two mile, it is a problem. Mossman started the eight-lap grind against the junior colleges and after four laps he quit, apparently tired. He will attempt to do the iron-man stunt against the Trojans and run both races, and the carrot-topped "running fool" is just the fighting kind to accomplish such a heroic effort.

Al Pogolotti looked better than at any time in his career in both hurdle races. He has been criticized for his lack of "body lean" but he was snapping his leg through with a little ferocity Saturday, and as a consequence he was hitting in a running stride. His time of 14.9s. in the highs and 24.1 in the lows stand back of the statement. It will be a great low-hurdle battle between Ernie Payne of Tory and the California captain.

Emory Curtice and Kenny Churchill are a pair of 200-foot javelin throwers although they only accomplished 198ft. 9in. and 195ft. 3in. respectively in the spear-tossing event. With Jess Mortenson reported to be on the hors de combat list with a bad shoulder this should just about cinch two places for the Bears in this event.

D. Berry, giant weight man of the Bears, shoved the shot 45ft. 2½in. and the discus 137ft. 5½in. Both Kline and Hall of the Trojans bettered his shotput efforts, while Hall accomplished an equal distance in the discus.

JORDAN FACES VAN GILDER

The undefeated star of the Los Angeles open three-cushion billiard tournament, Charley Jordan, will face a formidable foe tonight when he meets Jack Van Gilder of Hollywood in a fifty-point game.

THE FROWSY LIMIT

(Babe Ruth will soon lose his speed and then all he can do is to hit home runs.—Exchange.)

The stands are packed—the score is tied,
A boding hush falls on the mob;
A large boy wobbles to the plate
To carry on his daily job.
They know he can't beat out a hit;
They know he won't steal second base;
No paddock waits on nimble toes
Where flying feet will set the pace;
He merely waits to get one right;
The old mace whirls with ancient flame,
And somewhere out beyond the park
Another homer wins the game.

The brooding crowd gets up to go
Where silence falls until it stuns,
As some one says: "The poor old mug—
All he can do is hit home runs."

When I have lost my facile touch
And when my auburn locks are snow;
When I no longer pipe my tunes
As young pan taught me years ago;
When I slip on some halting ode,
Or skid a bit of some refrain—
As Homer nodded now and then,
Or Milton showed the growing strain—
May those who trail my lyric touch
In mart or home or crowded streets,
Rise up and say: "The poor old egg—
"All he can do is write like Keats."

"Eckie"

FOOTBALL has had its full share of great quarterbacks, but as far as one can measure all-around performances the late Walter Eckersall led the field. Eckie died Monday and in his passing a great fellow and one of the best of the athletes left an open gap in the ranks.

Eckersall was not only Walter Camp's all-America pick at quarter, but he was also Mr. Camp's selection for all-time honors at this position. He was a star in every detail of quarterback play—a heady field general, a brilliant broken-field runner, an exceptional combination of punter and drop-kicker and a strong defensive back.

In three different games he drop-kicked five goals, which shows his ability along this line, and in every game he played through four years his punting was a big factor in Chicago's play. He was a Maroon flash with the ball, and he was one of the few who could take a kick at top speed with no fear of a fumble or a muff. Rival ends down the field on a kick always had to hit a flying target when the ball settled in Eckie's arms. And if they missed the stampede was on.

Quarterback play has given such stars to football as Vance McCormick and Rockwell of Yale; Daley of Harvard and West Point; Grange of Illinois; Morrison of Vanderbilt; Pfann of Cornell; McMillin of Center; Killinger of Penn State; Drury of Southern California; Weeks of Michigan, and a host of others, but none of these had the all-around ability of Stagg's Chicago flyer, who carried a rare combination of speed, brains, courage and skill.

One Great Play

One of the first meetings of Eckersall and Willie Heston is still remembered as a football classic Michigan and Chicago met that day upon a field covered with light snow. On this particular play Heston broke through the Maroon line and within a few strides the big Michigan back was free with only the 145-pound Chicago safety man barring the road.

In place of attempting to dodge, Heston came at Eckersall with the rush of a buffalo. Eckie came in and dived for the knees. But as he dived, Heston jumped clear and clean to land beyond and keep on his way. Skating along on the ground Eckie was up in half a breath and the astonished Heston, an extremely fast 185-pounder, found himself hauled down from behind before he had run thirty yards. After that Eckie worked out a method of swinging alongside and nailing Heston with a flank attack that never failed.

After graduation Eckersall gathered further fame as a sporting writer and a football referee. His span of friends extended from one coast to another and to thousands of these his death came as a heavy personal loss. Like so many great athletes he had a gentleness and a quiet modesty that made an instant appeal.

Once more a shadow drifts across the sky
From death's quick thrust,
Where one can only stand and say good-by

Born to the laurel and the game's estate
Of knightly blend,
Here's luck beyond the shadowed fields that wait,
Sportsman and friend.

The candle now is dim; the silver bell
Is faint and low;
But here's to fairer fields where brave ghosts dwell,
That you will know.

A Needed Operation

It wouldn't be a bad idea if some famous surgeon could take out Johnny Risko's heart and plant the same in the breast of some of our leading heavyweights. He is no champion, but he has heart enough for two.

Johnny did not beat Campolo on Monday night by several laps, but at least he forced most of the fighting against a man who was ten inches taller, thirty pounds heavier, faster on his feet, a better boxer and a harder puncher. This is no light handicap to face on the charge, but Risko kept charging.

If Campolo had Risko's aggressiveness the South American would have a great shot at the main title. He has improved his technique but at the same time has lost part of his earlier offense. Unless he can get that back, Campolo isn't going anywhere either. He won at least six or seven rounds from Risko, which about entitles him to an even break in the two ten-round parties. Risko won a decision from the tall boy and got a draw and then the Cleveland Baker lost a decision and got a win.

Anyone who can figure out this highly tangled method of refereeing or judging can tell Dr. Einstein where to get off.

OCEAN PARK LAD EARNS DECISION

took his rounds by slight edges.

Goldie won by virtue of his great strength, wearing the newcomer down gradually. Thomas kept up his bouncing tactics for the first five rounds, but eased up toward the end of the affair. Thomas's best bet was a straight left, which worried Hess considerably. He appeared to have a hard right, but didn't get to use it very often.

Ernie Owens, veteran heavyweight, stopped Ray Spiker, huge blond Marine, in the sixth round of the semi-wind-up. Spiker appeared to be willing, but seemed to have very little knowledge of the game.

Owens connected with a hard right in the first round and the Marine went down with a thud. He got up, however, at the count of four and managed to last through until the sixth. Ernie took the second, third, fourth and fifth in easy fashion.

About half-way through the sixth session, Spiker missed one of his wild haymakers and Ernie popped him on the chin with a hard right. Spiker went down, but raised up on one knee at the count of two, and was counted out from that position.

Owens was substituting for Frankie Campbell, San Francisco slugger. Campbell withdrew yesterday afternoon claiming an injured shoulder.

Mike Hector was too smart for Sammy Jackson in the six-round special event, putting the colored boy on the floor for a no count in the fifth round. Hector took a well-earned decision.

Joe Marciante beat Johnny McDonald in a poor exhibition. Morris Kamisher took a four-round decision over Frankie Abendino in the curtain raiser.

MAUREEN ORCUTT CHEATS DOWNPOUR

SOUTHERN PINES (N. C.) March 25. (AP)—A cold wind-swept rainstorm this afternoon which named among its victims more than half the field, caused tournament officials of the Midsouth women's championship event here to announce the posting of today's scores optional. Players who desire may play their second round over tomorrow with the finals slated for Thursday.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, Haworth (N. J.) star, who led the field at the end of yesterday's play with a 78, negotiated her round today before the rain began and turned in a brilliant 76 for a 36-hole total of 154. This score placed her at the head of those who posted scores today. Miss Orcutt said she would not play her round over tomorrow.

Hollerson worked eight innings, giving the regulars five runs and seven hits. Johnson twirled six chapters, giving the Yannigans one run and four hits. Glen Brown, who has been nursing a sore arm, finished the game. He looked better than in early starts, though charged with the defeat.

Vitt drove the squad hard again today, determined to get the players into better condition in view of the near close of the spring training season and the four-game series with the Seattle Club here starting Saturday. Score:

RIIS TRACKMEN WIN TRIANGULAR MEET

Many excellent times and distances featured a Marine League track meet at Torrance yesterday which was won by Jacob Riis with 71 points. Gardena with 30 points came in second, and Torrance with 3 trailed in last. Williams of Riis won three events. His time in the low hurdles of 25 1-5s. is one of the best marks made in the league to date. He also uncorked a leap of 21ft. 6in. in the broad jump, and won an easy 56s. victory in the 440. Nickerson, who is probably the fastest sprinter in the Marine League, ran the century in 10 1-5s., and the 220 in 22s. flat.

DARO COMPLETES CARD

Marshall, Lutze Rematch Features Olympic Mat Card on Wednesday; Koloff, La Doux Battle

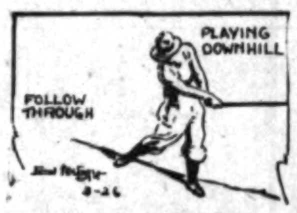
"Carnation" Lou Daro completed the all-star wrestling card planned for the Olympic next Wednesday night, yesterday, with the signing of two other bouts to precede the finish return battle between Nick Lutze, the backward slam exponent, and Everette Marshall, the airplane spinner from Glendale.

Dan Koloff, the rough "Bulgarian Lion," is coming to the Coast from Boston for his first scheduled match with "Gorilla" Gene La Doux, the powerful little French-Canadian, who have made an impressive showing in his last three starts here.

Koloff and La Doux, who have been mat enemies for several years, decided to settle their differences in the gymnasium a few years ago, and La Doux came out of the argument with his cauliflower ear. The bout ended in a draw, and instead of its settling their argument, it only served to intensify it, according to close followers of the mat sport. This will be the second time they have ever met in the ring, and as both grapplers are of about the same weight and size, mat critics predict a sensational and rough battle.

Steve Strelich, the "Terrible Swede," will meet Dr. P. A. Mullikan in the opener.

Change Style to Conditions



BY SOL METZGER

Ere we delve into the changes from his normal swing that Phil Perkins makes in order to play the ball from uneven lies, uphill, downhill or from above or below the ball, it's well to call attention to some established principles of play that must not be overlooked in searching for cures.

Make such adjustments in your methods as are demanded to meet the unusual conditions of uneven lies, but in making them do not forget that the vital points of the swing under normal conditions must govern your play.

By all means keep the head down throughout the stroke. By all means follow through.

CHICAGO CUBS BLANK ANGELS

Hack on a long loft to Statz in the ninth, much to the raucous glee of the small but select gathering of customers.

Except for his wildness, Horne didn't do at all badly. Berly gave his former mates but three hits in four innings, but those six walks ruined the ball game and Horne's pitching performance.

Joe McCarthy did something about the Cubs' third-base situation yesterday by benching Lester Bell, who hasn't been able to throw the ball across the diamond, and letting young Ed Blair hold down the hot corner. Blair poked out two of the Cubs' eight hits and handled his only two chances faultlessly.

As a ball game, though, yesterday's tussle was rather a dull affair. The Angels especially looked dead on their feet. The hot weather evidently has them down and it looks as though a day of rest might do the athletes some good.

Bill Skiff, the Seraphs' successful hold-out, made his debut behind the plate, but did nothing spectacular. However, Skiff hasn't been working as long as the other players and you can't hold his performance of yesterday against him. As the poets say, one swallow doesn't make a spring or a drink.

Horne began the game by walking Beck and Grimm. Hornsby popped to Sigafoos and Dittmar then tossed out Wilson. Cuyler drew a pass to fill the sacks and a wild pitch scored Beck. Whereupon, Stephenson rammed one into the bleachers for the circuit to empty the hassocks. Four runs and one hit.

Walks to Grimm, Wilson and Cuyler, Hornsby's single, Stephenson's sacrifice fly, Blair's hit and Taylor's sacrifice fly gave the Cubs their other quartet of tallies in the third.

The Angels never got a man to third until the ninth, when Moore reached and died on the far corner after getting a single, advancing on a wild pitch and an infield out. Hornsby squeezed Statz's pop fly for the final out.

Another one today, folks, with Lynn Nelson, the $50,000 hurler from Kansas City delegated to hurl for Chicago and Carl Holling and Charley Moncrief, Lelivelt's mound choices. Score:

Carnera Bout in Denver to Be Pulled Off

DENVER, March 25. (AP)—The huge bulk that is Primo Carnera will be displayed in a Denver ring Friday night against Jack McAuliffe despite the fact that the Colorado State Boxing Commission has declared McAuliffe an "unsuitable opponent."

District Judge Henry Bray today granted the West Side Athletic Club a temporary injunction restraining the commission from interfering with the scheduled match at the Stockyards Stadium. The decision was based on the fact that the West Side Club had gone to considerable expense for the bout and therefore should be permitted to stage it as scheduled.

MIDWICK FACES ARGENTINE FOUR

cific Coast polo opposition in the last two months.

This afternoon at Midwick the Argentines seek their twelfth straight victory. If they win today there will be only one more hurdle to overcome before they wind up their tour. That comes Sunday when they meet Midwick again in the final game of the series.

Besides winning the Coast open championship at Midwick last month the Pampas riders galloped over the best of the nation's players gathered at Del Monte, Santa Barbara and San Mateo. Their hardest games have been against Midwick. Proof of this was given last Sunday when the Purple club's big four forced the Argentines into an overtime session before the invaders could ride off the field with a victory.

That same Midwick team with Carleton Burke, Neil McCarthy, Eric Pedley and Elmer Boeseke in the saddle will furnish the opposition for the Pampas team today and Sunday. If the Midwick players ride up to the form they displayed last Sunday the battle at the Alhambra field today should be a bitter one.

Midwick is eager to register one victory over the Pampas players. It will be a big feather in the cap of the Purple Club if they can take the charging South Americans down the line. There is a good chance that this will happen too, the experts point out, if Eric Pedley and long legged Elmer Boeseke maintain their present stride.

The splendid team play of the Argentines is the big factor in their triumphs. The Pampas four, with Harrington at No. 1, the Reynal brothers at No. 2 and No. 3, and Andrada at back, blend to perfection in action. The Argentines never leave a man uncovered. When it comes to following through they work like a charm together. If one man misses the white pill in driving it up the field, he keeps going as he knows one of his team-mates is right on his heels to send the ball along. Harrington and Andrada have stood out as individuals at times. For that matter so have the Reynal Brothers, Juan and Jose. But they do not go in for individual play. It is team play first last and all the time for the Argentines. That is the secret of their success.

Following Sunday's game the Argentines will leave for New York and then journey home. Twenty-two of their ponies will be auctioned off next Saturday at Midwick. The remaining twenty-two will be turned out until next summer, when they will be shipped east for the open championships.

The ball will be tossed in at 2:30.

Line-ups:

MIDWICK	Position.	ARGENTINA
McCarthy	No. 1	Harrington
Boeseke	No. 2	Juan Reynal
Pedley	No. 3	Jose Reynal
Burke	Back	Andrada

Umpire—Capt. Wesley White.

Pirates Meet Lions Tonight

Plundering Pirates on the Union Oil hockey squad tonight will attempt to scuttle the Gilmore Lions in the fourth skirmish of their Southern California amateur hockey league championship play-off at the Winter Garden Ice Palace. The haul for the winner will be the North American title series with the Vancouver Ballards here in April.

If the series continues to gain momentum with each succeeding game, as it has in the past three, officials will have their hands full trying to keep order. The teams are playing a slam-bang, devil-may-care brand of hockey and the rivalry is becoming intensified so much that in the last couple of games an extra official might not be amiss.

Line-ups:

UNION.		GILMORE.

Henry	Defense	Gaudin
Simington	Wing	Miles
B. Hayden	Wing	Swindells

JUNIOR OLYMPIC GAMES Training Tips

BY D. W. LOTT

Supervisor of Municipal Sports, Department of Playgrounds and Recreation.

VII CHINNING PREPARATION

Preparation for this chinning event requires the same principle as in the boys' classroom at school, frequent brief attention to the right methods of learning to accomplish the result desired. I advise all boys against the tendency to overtrain; daily practice at the various events with due attention given to developing a correct form for each will prove sufficient preparation. Mental attitude is most important, and every boy can be free of the worries and difficulties of athletic competition by repetition and practice. Practice chinning the bar a few times at frequent intervals every day, with attention to proper breathing. Then every three days, try chinning the bar as often as possible without fatigue. Raise and lower the body with a continuous, smooth, steady movement, keeping in mind the instructions given above. Chinning being a test of strength, requires slow progress, and, therefore, different methods of practice than for sprinting are necessary.

Too rapid chinning should be avoided, as steady, continuous motion in a normal way will produce best results. You are reminded of the story of the man who, having only one gallon of gas left in his car, increased his speed hoping to arrive home before his gas gave out. Just as increased speed of the auto will "use up" more gas, so increased speed in chinning will require more strength to meet the greater demand.

If change of grip is desired, make the changes only when the body is lowest, otherwise you are required to suspend your weight at an unnatural height while making change.

In the final tests every boy will be required to extend his body, after each pull-up, until toes touch the marker. A string stretched at proper point between two jumping standards will serve as a practice apparatus for practice.

GENERAL DISCUSSION

The boy who hopes to develop all-round athletic ability, should give that attention to each event which will be required for his best effort in all events. Do not allow your chinning to tie up your arm muscles so that your best effort will be impossible in the baseball throw.

What happened in the contests last year should serve as warning to every boy in the chinning event of this year. Some boys rested the chin on bar, others squirmed, kicked or jerked, or failed to fully extend the arms and, therefore, were disqualified. Also, if an athlete failed to gain credit for his first chin, he became rattled. Exactly the same requirements prevail this year except that every boy will be required to fully extend his arms and body so as to touch the marker with his toes.

Be sure your first "chin" will count, by thinking clearly beforehand of just what is expected of you when you grasp that bar; make your first "chin" and every succeeding one count. Should you fail, however, to gain credit for any "attempt," just maintain your balance, "grit your teeth," proceed without interruption, and determine to finish with the best mark possible.

Remember your mental attitude.

There are two different schools of instructors in considering which grip a boy should use in chinning. Some favor the reverse grip—as in diagram—in which the biceps muscles play the major part, while others believe that the ordinary or front grip should be favored. Both grips are used and the results obtained seem to support both theories.

Every boy should try out both grips thoroughly, and select that one which will enable him to "chin" the greatest number of times; then only can he be sure which grip is best for him to use.

Experience has shown that a boy uses a greater amount of vital energy in changing grips than if he were to continue with the original grip. It is my opinion that no advantage can be gained in changing.

THREE SIWASHES ON INJURED LIST

SAN CLEMENTE (Cal.) March 25. (AP)—Three players of the Seattle ball club in spring training here were put on the injured list today, with Frank Taylor, first baseman, the most serious casualty.

Taylor was spiked in practice, the wound requiring a number of stitches in the heel. He will be in condition for the opening games of the season. Bruce Stevens, pitcher, sprained an ankle in fielding a fly ball, and Frank Lamanski, another hurler, will be out for several days with an infected knee.

In a practice game Bill Hubbell held the Yannigans to two runs, while his nine was nicking Andy House for nine runs.

MISSION REGULARS BUMP ROOKIES

STOCKTON, March 25. (AP)—The Mission regulars defeated the rookies by 10 to 6 in a free-hitting game in the local training camp here today. The regulars took a four-run lead off Johnny Green in the first inning, but Kelly's triple and three singles helped the rookies tie it up in the fourth. Another four-run rally in the seventh won for the regular squad. "Fuzzy" Hufft had a great day at the plate with four blows. Score:

Regulars 10 14 2
Rookies 6 11 3

Pillette, McQuade and Brenzel, Baldwin; Green, Douglas and Walgren, Laperri.

YANKS SELL HEIMACH TO TOLEDO CLUB

ST. PETERSBURG (Fla.) March 25. (AP)—The New York Yankees today announced the sale of Fred Heimach, southpaw, to the Toledo club of the American Association. The pitcher came up to the Yankees two years ago from St. Paul after a previous big-time trial with the Athletics and Red Sox.

BABE HERMAN MAY YET SURRENDER

CLEARWATER (Fla.) March 25. (AP)—Another week may see the complete surrender of Babe Herman, heavy-hitting outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins. For weeks Herman insisted he would not sign his contract until he got $25,000. The club's top offer was $15,000. Later Herman cut his demands to $18,000, but the club remained adamant. Now the outfielder has suggested that he be permitted to join the team and get in shape pending settlement of his contract dispute. Manager Wilbert Robinson, however, is known to be opposed to this procedure. He wants his players signed before they start to work.

STREET CHOOSES MAINSTAYS

The boxers who will appear are Ace Hudkins and Bert Colima. The wrestlers will be Everett Marshall, Nick Lutze and possibly Ed (Strangler) Lewis.

CALIFORNIA OAR KINGS TOIL IN SECOND BOAT

BERKELEY, March 25.—Only three weeks of training before the annual Pacific Coast regatta with the University of Washington and still Coach Ky Ebright has three of his 1928 world championship veterans rowing with the second University of California varsity shell.

Jim Workman, Hub Caldwell and Bill Dally all are doing Jaysee duty. Jack Brinck, the only other veteran from this title-winning combination, is in the first boat at the No. 4 oar. When the day of the regatta is even closer Ebright will probably switch these three men into the first varsity or "silent psychological Ky" may not do so.

An interesting battle is being waged for the varsity stroke position by Gregg and Salisbury. Gregg was a member of the freshman boat last season which captured second honors in the national intercollegiate title regatta. Salisbury is a transfer from Sacramento Junior College. He is big and skillful.

Should California defeat Washington at Seattle in April, it will be the fourth win in a row. It will also be the second time that the Huskies have gone down before the Golden Bears over their own course. When the present coach, Alva Ulbricksen, was stroke, the Huskies won from California three years consecutively.

scheduled for the Toiler track and, according to all prevailing dope, looks like another Manual victory.

L. A. High and Hollywood tangle at Housh Field in the other Major City League contest. The Romans should win with plenty of points to spare.

Of the three Minor City League dual meets, the Fremont-Belmont affair seems to be the most important. If Irwin Tanner's Pathfinders are victorious over the Hilltoppers, the Minor League dual meet flag seems certain to go to Fremont. And as the Belmont team hasn't shown a great amount of strength so far, it is perfectly logical to acclaim the Pathfinders strong favorites to down Clarence Eber's team.

FAIRFAX FAVORED

Fairfax should trim Garfield in the other league contest, although Herb Morey's Bulldogs gave the Roosevelt Rough Riders a tough battle last week, only losing by 2-3 of a point.

Coach Bud Nash hasn't lined up an opponent for the Rough Riders, but may meet Harvard Military, although it hasn't been definitely settled yet.

The meet between the Bruin freshmen and a combined Bakersfield High and jaysee squad Saturday afternoon was called off yesterday by Westwood officials. The U.C.L.A. babes will meet Glendale High Tuesday of next week and Santa Monica a week from this Thursday.

CITRUS AND EL MONTE TIE IN PRELIMINARIES

Tying with twenty-one men apiece placed in the preliminary heats of the San Gabriel Valley League track-and-field meet held yesterday afternoon on the El Monte oval, Citrus Union and the El Monte Lions are being favored to take first honors in the finals scheduled for Saturday afternoon at El Monte.

Coach Bergstrom of Puente placed seventeen men, barely nosing out Covina and Montebello, who will have sixteen and fourteen competitors, respectively, in Saturday's affair. Downey trailed with one.

Individual honors of the day went to Burt Holmes, flashy El Monte sprinter, who won his heat of the century in 10s. nosing out Johnny Moore of Citrus. Moore has won the century in the San Gabriel Valley League meet for the last three years.

Holmes and Moore were in different heats of the 220, and both won their races, strange to say, in the same time, 22 2-5s.

A hot battle looms in the low hurdles, between Fullenweider of El Monte, and Meyer of Citrus. Both took their heats in the same time yesterday, 26 3-10s.

Faure of Puente, led the half-mile qualifiers with 2m. 3-10s. Timmons, Covina quarter-miler, made the best time in the one-lap event, winning in 53 3-10s. Ayon of Citrus, made the best time in the mile with a 4m. 50s. victory.

Buccola, Puente ironman, led the shotput qualifiers with a 45ft. 6in. heave. Clark of Covina, led in the broad jump with a 21ft. leap.

Johnny Sanchez of Montebello, who cleared 6ft. 2in. last week, qualified in the high jump at 5ft. 8in.

LONG BEACH, VENICE MEET FOR TITLE

The water polo championship of Southern California will be at stake this afternoon at Huntington Park when Venice and Long Beach Poly tangle in the Spartan pool. Both the Jackrabbits and the Gondoliers won in their respective leagues in impressive style. The Long Beach Class B team meets the Venice Bees in a preliminary contest.

BRIX, ALF AND DE MERS GIVE EXHIBITIONS

Herman Brix, L.A.A.C. shot putter, will make his first local appearance since he set a new world indoor record at New York last week, when he competes in a meet at El Monte High School Saturday. Brix along with Jim De Mers, javelin star, and Ray Alf, sprinter, will give exhibitions during the staging of the league high school championships at El Monte.

The big Mercury weight star will seek to better John Kuck's world mark of 52ft. 11-16in. In the indoor meet at New York, Brix set a world indoor record of 51ft. 2½in. with the leather covered ball and turned in a mark of 51ft. 9½in. in practice after the meet. He returned last night from New York.

De Mers will attempt to better his own best competitive javelin mark of 220ft. 4½in. at El Monte. Charley Eaton may also compete. Ray Alf will run an exhibition sprint.

ing batter last season with .324, and Clark was next with .315,) so if our hero from far-away Southern California can keep up his good work he is assured a major-league berth for some years to come.

In the Braves-Yankees series in Florida recently, Berger did real well, getting a single and double for himself in one game. He is very fast for a big man, has a good throwing arm, and his drives carry a mighty long distance.

In closing, let me say, in answer to a question by Frank, our office boy, who just asked, "What position does Cash play?" (See the line in the cartoon "Berger was obtained from Los Angeles for Art Delaney, George Harper and Cash,") that in baseball everywhere, that fellow Cash plays a very prominent position.

Fremont Wins Easy Victory

The Fremont track and field men completely outclassed the Garfield tracksters yesterday, winning ten out of the twelve first places and scoring clean sweeps in four events, to score an 81-to-23 victory over the Bulldogs.

Tatar of Garfield and Shelly of Fremont looked exceptionally good in winning their respective events, the mile and high jump. Tatar won his race in 4m. 47s., while apparently loafing around the first two laps. Shelly broke the Pathfinder school record in the high jump with a leap of 5ft. 8½in.

100-yard dash—Won by Clark (F.) Caminetti (F.) second, Roberts (G.) third. Time, 10 1-5s.

220-yard dash—Won by Newman (F.) Roberts (G.) second, Brown (F.) third. Time, 23 1-5s.

440-yard dash—Won by Hahn (F.) Hodges (F.) second, Valerio (G.) third. Time, 54s.

880-yard run—Won by Collier (F.) Burkett (F.) second, Simon (F.) third. Time, 2m. 7s.

Mile run—Won by Tatar (G.) Turner (F.) second, Winston (F.) third. Time, 4m. 47s.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Christlieb (G.) Stockton (F.) second, Shillalah (F.) third. Time, 16 3-5s.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Wineberg (F.) Christlieb (G.) second, Stockton (F.) third. Time, 26 2-5s.

Relay—Won by Fremont. Time, 3m. 7s.

High jump—Won by Shelly (F.) Norberg (G.) Walter (G.) Bennett (G.) and Fontaine (F.) tied for second. Height, 5ft. 8½in.

Broad jump—Won by Shelly (F.) Magnusum (F.) second, Reeder (F.) third. Distance, 21ft. 7in.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

WALTER ECKERSALL

WALTER ECKERSALL'S passing hits close to home. Never a season in fifteen years but what the all-time All-American paid Southern California a visit. Never a year that he failed to officiate or report—sometimes both—one or more of our important football games.

He refereed the first East-West game ever played at old Tournament Park, that between Brown and Washington, which the westerners won by a score of 14 to 0, in 1916. His final was the S.C.-Carnegie Tech game last fall.

He left an indelible impression as a high-class official, this man who, a quarter of a century ago, made Walter Camp's All-Americans three years running as a quarterback—the first man from the Middle West or West who made the immortal Camp cast his eyes farther than the Atlantic seaboard.

His work was one of the high spots of the 1916 game, and it drew fine newspaper comments the following day:

"Thorough officiating of Eckersall wins praise of crowd which sees game," was the way the comment ran.

And again: "Eckersall and his assistants did their part of the work well. Take it all in all, there probably never was a game so well officiated in Southern California, and the Tournament officials are to be congratulated on their enterprise in bringing a 'big man' out from the East to hold down the job."

Quiet, unostentatious, Eckie was without a doubt the leading football critic of the country after Camp's death.

His All-American teams were hailed as real All-Americans because he had the proper gauge of a player's ability. He had been through the mill himself.

FIRST WESTERN STAR

IN 1905, after Camp for the second year had been forced to turn his eyes west from Princeton, Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth and one or two other eastern universities for his All-American quarter, he paid Eckie the following homage:

"Eckersall, the star quarterback of the West, added to his reputation in every respect this year.

"His runs from fake kicks were strong. In one case he undoubtedly saved Chicago by his nerve in this respect, for she had been forced back until he stood with the ball inside his own 5-yard line, a third down, and about to kick against the wind.

"If he attempted a run, and Michigan stopped him, she was perfectly sure to score. If he punted against the wind, the chances were very strong indeed that if the ball went out into the field it would be heeled and Michigan would kick a place-kick goal. If he endeavored to kick it out of bounds on either side, the angle would be such that it would still leave Michigan within scoring distance.

"It was a hard proposition, but he faced it and did the bold thing by running after pretending he was going to kick, and he succeeded in getting around Michigan's left end for a gain of over twenty yards.

"He had but one opportunity for a drop kick in his big game, and that was a pretty poor chance. He won the Wisconsin game himself by a drop kick, and that was a very important contest for Chicago, a game played in a sea of mud; and in one of his minor games he kicked no less than five drop kicks during the game.

"He is a first-class punter, getting from fifty to sixty yards, and his punt against the wind across Michigan's goal line was the kick that eventually resulted in a safety, defeating Michigan.

"As a tackler there is no better man on the gridiron today. Furthermore, when playing in the backfield on the defense, when a fake kick is attempted and the runner is going around the end, Eckersall starts so quickly from his position, after he sees that no kick is coming, that even though the runner gets by the end, he meets Eckersall almost at once. In the Michigan game, what apparently looked like a sure thing for Garrels after he circled Chicago's end, turned out to be only a three-yard gain, because Eckersall had come up so rapidly and tackled him so cleanly that he barely got around the end.

"In fact, it almost seems a pity that with this speed and quality Eckersall could not be used more on the end in defensive work.

"He is one of the most accurate passers, if not the most accurate, in the country today, and Chicago's game requires a number of intricate passes which must be unusually well done."

THE IMMORTAL

IT WAS as a football player that Eckie became immortalized, and so it seems proper to elaborate on the exploits of this little man—a 145-pounder in the days of the 200-pound line and mass plays.

His career in the newspaper world is too well known to need comment.

It was as a gridiron hero, "whose yesterdays look backward with a smile," that I love to picture him.

He was a boyhood idol, and I have this old clipping written by E. C. Patterson in Collier's Weekly after the 1905 season:

"Eckersall stands alone as a star quarterback and is practically in a class by himself. His drop kicking and punting have never been excelled, at least not on a western gridiron."

Patterson also describes the famous Chicago 2-0 victory over Michigan:

"Eckersall made an unusual punt past the Michigan goal line, and Clark, believing he could run the ball out successfully, made the attempt. He just managed to cross the goal when Badenoch (now vice-principal at Inglewood High School) tackled him. He struggled forward a step, and Catlin, the Chicago captain and end, joined his comrade, and with a mighty effort, swung Clark back over the goal line, forcing him to a safety and thus settling the issue."

Eckie, the immortal of the gridiron—"Not dead, but gone before."

FOOTBALL RULES TO BE ENFORCED

The resolution further "suggests that if such head protectors are worn, the solid color be broken by at least two cross-strips of a markedly contrasting color at least two inches in width, and that the solid color of such jerseys or attachments be definitely broken by stripes or numbers of markedly contrasting colors."

In addition, the newly recodified rules, with the number of separate provisions reduced from twenty-eight to thirteen, received its sixth and final revision at the hands of the members of the rules committee of the National Collegiate A.A. in their annual session last week-end at Absecon, N. J.

Representatives of all sections of the country and of the National Football Coaches' Association strongly recommended no material change in the content of the rules from those of last year and the work of the committee consisted of revising the new code and making the rules more proof against the instances of sharp practice noted.

Those present included E. K. Hall, Dartmouth, chairman; W. S. Langford, Trinity, secretary; W. O. Hunter, Southern California, representing the Pacific Coast; H. W. Hughes, Colorado Aggies, Rocky Mountain States; Glenn Warner, Stanford; Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh, and Bob Zuppke, Illinois, representing the advisory committee of coaches.

STATUS OF SOCCER PLAYERS ON SCALES

Whether or not Barber and Southerland, Magyar soccer stars, will be eligible to compete against the Scots in Sunday's Los Angeles cup tie game at Loyola Field will be decided in a league meeting tonight at the L.A.A.C. Since the Magyars and Scots played a 3-to-3 draw game both stars have been reinstated, but they were not eligible for the first game and present rules say they cannot play against the same team in a replay game.

Belmont Bows to Roosevelt

In a meet featured by the two-time victories of Sentell Willis in the sprints and Ramona in the hurdles, Coach Bud Nash's Roosevelt Rough Riders defeated the Belmont Hilltoppers by the score of 64 1-3 to 39 2-3 yesterday afternoon on the Roosevelt oval. Willis, who hasn't lost a race this year, won the century in 10 3-5s. and the furlong in 24s. Ramona took the high sticks in 16 1-5s. and the lows in 26 4-5s.

The summary:

SHELL OILERS MEET ARROWHEAD PUCKS

When the Shell Oilers and Arrowhead Valley Clubbers skate on the ice at the Palais de Glace tomorrow night for another game in their wild ice hockey series, local fans will see two teams in action that will be retained intact for next year. Both Ernie Miller, manager of the Shells, and Dave Patrick, skipper of the Arrowheads, have announced that they will keep the same line-ups to compete under their respective banners next season.

The titular hockey series now stands at two games apiece as a result of the victory of the Arrowheads over the Oilers Monday night by a 2-to-0 count. The first sextet to garner four tilts in a row will win the title.

Club Mermen Journey East

Harold "Dutch" Smith and John Riley, L.A.A.C. diving stars, leave at 6 o'clock this evening for Chicago where they compete in the national men's indoor championships at the Lake Shore Athletic Club, April 2-5. Crabbe will compete unattached in this meet although he will represent the Mercury Club in the outdoor championships at Long Beach in July. Mickey Riley, present indoor champion on both the three and ten-foot boards, is already in the East with his coach, Fred Cady.

Broad jump: King, (P.;) Inman, (P.;) Hall, (O.)

Pole vault: Jensen, (O.;) Ingram, (P.;) Rozelle, (O.)

Relay: Occidental.

Which makes a score of 78½ to 58½ without the relay. It will be noted that Pomona has been awarded two first places and a tie for another. There is some possibility that Bear, who has been ill, might beat Howard in the 220, but Pipal may run Appleton in the 100 and he would probably win third place over Gray of Pomona. In fact, Howard and Appleton may run one, two, in the century unless Bear has improved considerably of late.

MIGHT COLLECT

Cunliffe might take Crawford in the two-mile. He did in the cross-country run last winter, but Crawford ran under 10m. last week and will be hard to beat.

Pomona has virtually no chance of winning the 440, half, mile or either hurdle race, although Hunt might sneak through in the lows.

On the field Pomona has an even chance. Smith and Webb will take eight points in the shot, and Raney of Pomona may have trouble grabbing the third point. Webb has not been up to snuff in the discus, so Pomona gets second and third here.

As for the javelin, Bishop might trim Carrey. He did last year, but Carrey has the best marks so far this season and will be throwing on his home field.

Pomona may take all nine points in the hammer if Strong and Nelson can nose out Smith. The high jump looks like a neven break, although Bishop might go slightly higher than Hall.

In the broad jump Pomona has a chance to clean up nine points, but not if the athletes perform as they did at San Diego. From Oxy's standpoint Hall is liable to get a 22ft. leap any time he jumps.

In the pole vault Jensen is the best, although Ingram may come in for a tie.

ALL OFF FORM

The Pomona team is considerably farther behind in its training program than Occidental. Where the Tigers have had four pretty stiff meets Pomona has encountered only San Diego. In addition Strehle was handicapped by the illness of Baer and Stromsen and the absence of Cobb.

There is no better developer of raw material in Southern California than Joe Pipal. In fact, at times this writer feels that he is the peer of them all. And after Joe gets 'em developed he knows how to place his men in various events. He misses no opportunity to pick up a stray point or two, in which he is much like that well-known Stanford mentor, Mr. Robert Lyman (Dink) Templeton.

DOMAN ANXIOUS TO FACE CARNERA IN BOUT HERE

Vigo Doman is after the chance to fight Primo Carnera if the Italian giant comes to Los Angeles. Doman expects to kayoe Les Kennedy at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium and his manager, Tom O'Grady, claims Doman will be ready for Carnera or anyone else.

"It would give Doman international publicity, and that's what Doman needs," says O'Grady. Doman would level on the Italian and the public would feel as though Doman was trying to win and not going to take any flop.

Sentiment is fairly evenly divided about who is going to win the Doman-Kennedy fight. The guy with the kayo wallop is Doman, and he will always be dangerous. Kennedy is the better and smarter boxer, and if he can outgallop Doman he should win. Kennedy has punch enough to flatten Doman should he connect. The Doman camp is very confident its fighter will score a knockout.

The best of the preliminaries is expected to be the fight featuring Ernie Hood and Leonard Rahming. They are in the semi-wind-up. Hood is a main-eventer at Pasadena. Rahming scored a surprisingly quick knockout over Sammy Rothstein at Hollywood a few weeks ago. Guy Solerno, Mexican light-heavyweight, is favorite over Jimmy Lyall in the special.

The game was played on the Loyola diamond. Each team collected eight safe hits apiece. Busich of the Loyola nine pitched a good game, fanning three Tigers. Lincoln was represented in the box by two rookies, Vianny and Capushey.

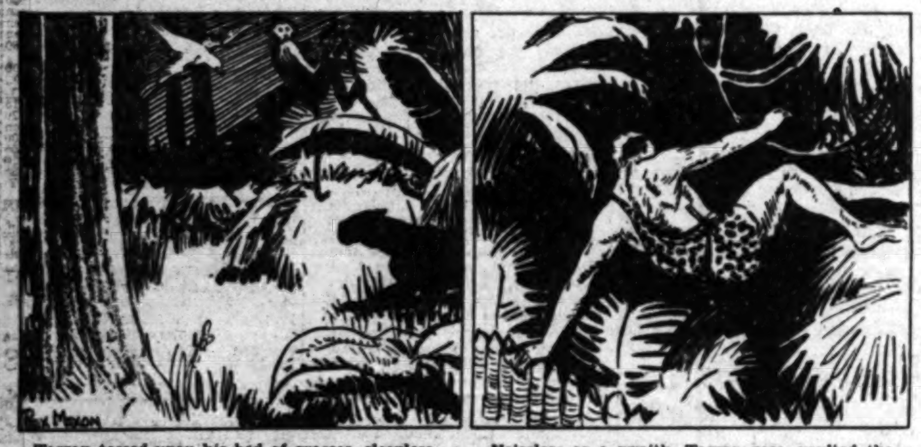
A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Tarzan tossed upon his bed of grasses, sleepless, for an hour. The moans and coughings of the big cats, the myriad noises of the lesser forest animals, mysterious jungle murmurs another man's ears could never hear, all were magic music to the ape-man. They fanned the savage flame in the breast of this savage English lord until at last he could resist the urgings within him no longer.

Noiseless as a wraith, Tarzan rose, vaulted the boma wall, swung silently into a great tree and was gone. For a time in sheer exuberance of animal spirit he raced swiftly along, swinging perilously across wide spans from one jungle tree to another. Goro, the moon, shone down on him as he risked death in each frail branch high up amid the upper terrace where he swayed.

Then he went on more slowly and with greater stealth and caution, for now Tarzan of the Apes was seeking to kill. Down to the ground he came stopping from time to time to put his nose close to the earth. He sought and found a wide game trail and at last his nostrils were rewarded by the scent of fresh meat. Tarzan's mouth watered and a low grown escaped his lips.

Up wind he followed the elusive spoor until he came upon Bara the deer, standing alert at the edge of a moon-bathed clearing. Noiselessly, Tarzan crept through the trees until he was directly over the animal. In the ape-man's right hand he clutched his hunting knife. Just for an instant he poised above the still unsuspecting Bara and then he launched himself downward upon the sleek back.

REINDEER MOSS

Reindeer moss, the crisp and curly lichen that is the chief dependence of reindeer in the Far North, is an enemy of forest growth farther south, reports Anne E. Allen of Cincinnati in the scientific journal, Ecology. This lichen is by no means confined to the lands where reindeer pasture, but grows over great areas, especially as a ground cover under trees, as far south as Florida and Mexico. It forms dense mats like fine shavings, and the seeds of trees and other plants, caught on top, are held away from the moist earth where they might sprout and grow. They hang there in the air until they die of drought. Even if they do work their way down to the earth and sprout, their troubles are not necessarily over. The reindeer moss heaves and moves about restlessly as it is alternately wetted and dried, and in doing so frequently breaks or uproots seedlings that have pushed their way through its meshes.

North Carolina produced 8,207,000 pounds of copper last year.

BOY BURNED WHEN TWO POWER CABLES DANGLE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, March 25. (Exclusive)—Sounding like a thunderclap, two high tension power cables short-circuited this evening in Eaton Canyon, Lamanda Park, parting and dropping on a boy who was shocked and probably fatally burned. Police investigated the possibility that a kite had fallen across the two cables, causing the disastrous short. The boy, Natalio Martinez, 15 years of age, of 351 Avocado street, Pasadena, was unconscious when taken to Pasadena Hospital. There was no witness of the accident.

The boy's clothes were burned and dangling above him when found were two of the three cables which carry power from the north, over the mountains, part of the Southern California Edison Company's equipment. The men who had been drawn by the sound used a blanket to draw Martinez from the danger zone.

Hospital doctors predicted that he would die during the night. Some lights on Foothill Boulevard were off tonight as a result of the cable break.

GRAND DUKE GUEST HERE OF M'ADOOS

Noted Russian Will Give Public Lecture Today at Bovard Auditorium

Scheduled to deliver an address at the University of Southern California this morning, the Grand Duke Alexander of Russia, brother-in-law of the late Czar Nicholas, was entertained last evening by Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo at their Berkeley Square home, when covers were laid for fifteen at a formal dinner.

Duke Alexander arrived yesterday afternoon from Riverside and is registered at the Ambassador. He was accompanied by his secretary. Among the guests at the McAdoo home were Will Rogers, Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and others.

At 11:15 a.m. today the noted Russian will deliver a public lecture at the Bovard Auditorium. Students specializing in political science and international relations will attend as a class assignment. The public is also invited. A luncheon, with invited guests only attending, will follow the lecture. The affair will be held in the Student Union Building. Dr. Frank C. Touton and Warren B. Bovard, vice-president of the university, will act as hosts in the absence of President Von KleinSmid.

The Duke has been the guest of Frank Miller at the Mission Inn, Riverside, since Saturday. That he would be in Los Angeles but a short time was the statement of his secretary last night who was unable to state just when he would leave or where he would go.

When Rev. Frank Dyer was called on to speak he asserted he was overwhelmed with the tribute that had been paid him by Archbishop Lloyd. He also spoke of Junipero Serra and accepted the responsibility of the new parish.

Frederic Warde, author and actor, and Rev. Campbell Shields of San Diego also were called on for addresses. L. E. Behymer served as toastmaster.

Retired Railway Man Succumbs

C. E. Stone, retired railway man, 71 years of age, and living at 341 South Hoover street, died at a local hospital yesterday following a short illness. He was stricken with acute appendicitis last Saturday.

He formerly was a resident of St. Paul, Minn. He was in railway service from 1881 until his retirement in 1920 when he came here. He was a Thirty-third-degree Mason. Mr. Stone leaves his wife.

RIVERSIDE SCENE OF REPUBLICAN CONFAB

RIVERSIDE, March 25.—Republicans from ten counties of Southern California will banquet here at the Mission Inn Saturday evening following an all-day conference on political matters. According to announcement today of Joseph Seymour, chairman of the local committee in charge of arrangements, the principal speakers at the dinner are to be John R. Quinn, past national commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. C. F. Vandewater, president of the Republican Women's Federation of Southern California.

The address of welcome is to be delivered by Seymour. Responses will be made by T. B. Talbert, chairman of the Ten Southern Counties Republican Central Committee; by Senator Nelson T. Edwards of Orange and by Col. Eric Fowler, chairman of the Los Angeles County Central Committee. The addresses are to be interspersed with musical numbers.

Republicans and their ladies to the number of nearly 500 from all ten counties are expected to be present at the dinner, Seymour said. The evening will be brought to a close with dancing in the cloister music room.

MICHIGAN PICNIC SATURDAY

The annual Michigan picnic will be held Saturday at Sycamore Grove Park. All visiting Wolverines are invited. Dr. M. R. Parmelee, president of the society, will preside.

Police Ask for Motorcycles

A request for an appropriation for fifty more motorcycles to double the number of motorcycle officers on traffic duty in the police department, in view of the large increase of deaths and accidents from autos, was made to the City Council yesterday by the Police Commission.

At the suggestion of Attorney Paul Taylor, former motorcycle officer, who recalled that twenty-one motorcycle officers were taken to hospitals in one week some years ago because they were provided with motorcycles of a type with which they were not familiar, the motorcycle officers will be polled to ascertain the type of machine they find safest.

SANTA BARBARA, March 25.—Funeral services for Robert Main, well-known Goleta rancher, who died last evening, will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Dr. Clarence A. Spaulding, pastor of the church, will conduct the services. Interment will be in the Goleta Cemetery in charge of the L. E. Gagnier funeral chapel.

The rancher died shortly after noon yesterday in his home in Goleta. He was 65 years of age. For nearly half a century he lived in the vicinity of Goleta.

COMEDIAN ARRIVES FOR TALKIE DEBUT

Eddie Cantor on Arrival

Eddie Cantor, the five little Cantors and Mrs. Cantor descended on Hollywood last night to join the local talking motion-picture colony for which the Ziegfeld Follies star retired from the stage. Cantor was given a rousing welcome by Samuel Goldwyn and members of George Olsen's band from the Roosevelt Hotel. They arrived on the Chief.

The comedian and recent star of Florenz Ziegfeld's "Whoopee," which ran on Broadway for eighteen months, is in Hollywood to make a talking picture version of the same play for Goldwyn productions at United Artists.

Cantor last night reiterated he has retired from the stage, and that if his new talkie is successful he will remain in Hollywood. Otherwise he may go back into vaudeville, but not the Follies, he said. Cantor is president of the National Vaudeville Association.

Ziegfeld, to whom Cantor is under contract and through whose arrangement Goldwyn will produce the play, is due in Hollywood on April 10 for a short visit. Rehearsals of the Cantor troupe will commence April 6.

This is Cantor's first visit to Hollywood since four years ago, when he made a silent motion picture.

OFFICERS PUZZLED BY DEATH

Inquest Called Today Over Body of Teacher Struck by Bicycle

By the death of Miss Frances Jacobson yesterday at General Hospital, the police homicide squad is confronted by a quandry which will be submitted today to a Coroner's jury. Miss Jacobson, who was 40 years of age, a school-teacher living at 460 Grandview avenue, died as a result of a skull fracture received on the 17th inst.

She was crossing behind a street car at Broadway and Seventh street when she was knocked down by a bicycle ridden by Jack Richardson, 18, of 3331 Arroyo Seco Drive, police state. They add that probably this fall did not fracture her skull, but that subsequent handling did. Two well-meaning witnesses were declared to have carried her to the curb and laid her down in such a manner that her head struck the concrete. When she was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, her skull was found to be fractured. Surgeons were unwilling to say if the original fall or the later impact, when she was laid on the sidewalk, caused the fracture. Detective Lieutenant Ryan said he is trying to locate the two men who carried Miss Jacobson to the curb.

CAMPAIGN ON TO CURB DECEPTION

Produce Interests Seek Definition of Standards on Simplified Basis

Recognizing the prevention of deception as the prime function of the fruit, nut and vegetable standardization laws, agricultural officials of Southern California have joined in a move with plant-industry representatives and growers to arrive at an understandable definition of the word deception as it applies to the law.

Following a program recently adopted by the commissioners of the southern counties, each county agricultural head is contacting producers and handlers in their respective counties in an effort to place the enforcement of the laws on a basis understandable to all.

The matter is expected to be brought before the next State-wide meeting of county commissioners to be held at Redding in May, according to County Agricultural Commissioner Ryan.

Immature products, or products with defects not readily apparent to the ordinary purchaser, amount to deception, Ryan said. It is deception, also, when produce is placed in a container or displayed so as to misrepresent its true condition as well as when it is not marked or labeled in accordance with the law, he added.

ISN'T it worth the price of a few smokes to have lifetime shaving comfort?

Men tell us they'd pay many times one dollar rather than give up their New Gillette Blade and Razor. This new shaving tool won't "pull," can't "pull"—even if you abuse it, drop it on the basin, roll it on the floor.

Here's why:—

Gillette engineers found that "razor pull" is caused by dropping a razor and denting the corners. In a precision instrument such as the Gillette Razor, a slight nick may throw the blade out of alignment.

To meet this trouble, the entire razor and blade was redesigned at many points. The corners of the razor cap are reinforced with heavy metal lugs. Even if you should manage to dent this extra thickness of metal, you still won't throw the blade out of alignment. Why? Because all four corners of the new blade are cut out. The blade is under no pressure at the corners when cap and guard clamp together.

Now when you're through shaving, all you do is shift guard at right angles, re-tighten, and rinse under hot running water. No more taking the razor apart to wipe it. The blade is processed to resist rust. Just shake thoroughly and place on shelf. No more cut towels. No more wasted time.

The position posts too—which accidentally nicked more than one good blade edge—these are gone. Please note, too, how the guard teeth are rounded back farther to meet the skin more smoothly, and that the ends of the blade are squared off for safer handling with wet fingers and for closer shaving in the difficult corners of mouth, nose and ears.

Visit your Gillette dealer tomorrow. We are making every effort to fill the heavy demands for the new razor, but if you cannot get one at once, you can use the new blade in your old Gillette until the new model is available at your dealer's.
